Refused to Allow Sale of Chickens

NEW YORK, May 22.—The public saved $40,000 over the weekend because inspectors of the health department refused to allow the sale of chickens whose crops were filled with sand and gravel. Ole Salthe, director of the food and drugs bureau of the department declared today one of the crops weighed one and one-half pounds.

Charges Against Bank Head Dismissed

MONTREAL, May 22.—Charges that D. C. Macarow, general manager of the defunct Merchants Bank, wilfully made false and deceptive statements on the bank's condition in a return filed with the government for October, 1921, were dismissed by Judge Cusson today. An official of the treasury department filed the charges following the bank's failure. The government is expected to appeal.

Three Boy Scouts Drowned

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 22.—The body of one youth, Frank Bezonson, was recovered from Lake Brandegee at Waterford this morning, after search for three youths, reported missing, had been instituted. The boys went to the lake yesterday to fish. Their overturned boat was found today. The other two, believed to be drowned, are John Green and Joseph Bezonson. All were Boy Scouts.

THE SALVATION ARMY FUND CAMPAIGN

With only $5000 asked for, and a host of friends upon whom to call, it seems as if the Salvation Army's drive, which started Saturday afternoon, will go over the top with a bang. The work of this organization needs little explanation. Previous to the war, this band of welfare workers struggled along as best it could, doing its noble work with little of the world's notice. Then came the war with all its horror and its need for organizations to comfort the sick and wounded. It was at this time that the Salvation Army proved its real worth. This organization was the first to follow the fire, and was never discouraged, no matter how hard the way or how difficult the task. With the termination of the great conflict, this organization returned to this land of peace and took up the work right where it had left off. It had done its work well and this realization had been brought home to all with whom it had been thrown in contact. Now the Army needs money to carry on the work of peace. To comfort the sick, to give aid to the poor and unfortunate, to rescue those souls that have strayed from the path of righteousness.

With a population of over 100,000 to call on the Salvation Army asks only about a dime from each inhabitant. This small sum of money which is many times carelessly wasted would mean a lot to some poor person if it were contributed to the Salvation Army fund.

In the past the people of Lowell have heeded the call of the Army. Its appeals have not gone unanswered. With ever so many things to sap the funds in its home town well liked treasury, the Salvation Army is asking for $5000.

Saturday's drive started out in an impressive manner. A band and parade opened the drive. A number of contributions were received before the drive was one hour old. But it will take a lot more to put the drive over the top. A small gift to the Army will help as it never helped before.

With only eight days left the people are asked to get in their contributions early so that the army may know the people are backing its movement.

BOY SCOUT MEETING THIS EVENING

Boy Scout enthusiasts from Lowell and vicinity will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms tonight to discuss the future of the work in the Lowell district. The steering committee, composed of C. D. A. Grasse, president; Frank D. Proctor, secretary; Charles F. Langley, James H. Casey, John M. O'Connell, William V. Goodell, W. A. Whelan, Xavier Doliste, Royce P. White, John J. Walsh, Benjamin S. Penzner, Dr. John H. Lambert and Mayor George H. Brown met last Friday evening and drew up some findings to be presented to the general assembly.

Everyone interested in pushing the Boy Scout movement in Lowell is invited to attend the meeting to be held tonight, and take part in the discussion. The marked growth of the scout movement throughout the country during the past few years is the best testimonial of its worth that could be obtained. There are now over 400,000 scouts enrolled, studying citizenship, service and co-operation. President Grasse asks that if possible everyone come before 8 o'clock, so all may become acquainted and insure a prompt start.

CITY AUDITOR WILL ATTEND MEETING

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin has been advised of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Auditors and Comptrollers association, to be held at the Boston City Club on Thursday of this week at 1 p. m. The Lowell auditor will attend as a member of the association and is particularly interested in the discussion of matters relating to the rates of the current year, that promises to be much higher throughout the state. Corporation taxes also will be discussed in forum assembly. Theodore S. Wadell, director of accounts, is president of the association.

Belfast Death Toll Set at 14

dated Press)—The most disquieting feature of Sunday's disaster in Belfast, was the shifting of the center of trouble to Ballymacarett, the east section where there is a large artisan population and a small compact Sinn Féin community living in an area called the Short Strand.

Two men were killed in the violent rioting there, and Thomas McShane, who was wounded Saturday, died, bringing the total of deaths over the weekend to 14.

During last night's shooting, gunfire opened fire on the city electric station, but the return fire from police and troops caused the assailants to withdraw.

The firing column responsible for Saturday's raid in Loughlin, Antrim and Down, vanished as quickly as it came, but a renewal of its operations is anticipated.

The Ulster cabinet has given no sign of what measures it contemplates to suppress the disorder, but it is assumed nothing will be done before tomorrow's meeting of the Northern parliament, when Premier Sir James Craig will outline his plans. These, if they fulfill the expectations in many quarters, are likely to involve a rupture with the Dublin government.

Bombs Hurled Into Buildings

Continued
Belfast, May 22.—(By Associated Press)—This has been one of the worst week ends in the experience of the city. Shootings, incendiarism, bombings and outrages generally have been exceptionally numerous. The fire brigade responded to seven calls between early Saturday night and Sunday morning. In some cases bombs were thrown into buildings.

Ballantine Shot Dead

MUST LOOK OUT FOR THE MILK

A warning for increased vigilance on the part of milk inspectors with the advent of warm weather, is contained in a communication just received by the Lowell board of health from the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture.

The communication states that with the coming of warm weather, increased activity by milk inspectors is absolutely necessary in the matter of transportation of milk from country towns to cities, embracing proper covering for the shipments, proper feeding, rapid delivery and adequate protection from contamination.

98 Missing and 242 Saved

Continued

According to the latest official figures. Among those missing are two American women, Mrs. M. L. Sibby and Miss V. M. Boyer, whose home addresses are unknown here. It is possible that some of the missing may have been picked up by the steamship Cap Iracou in addition to those brought here by the Seine. The Cap Iracou was nine miles from the scene and replied to the distress signals with the assurance that she was speeding to the spot.

According to the Egypt's purser, the ship floated only about 20 minutes after her plates were crushed in by the Seine. The Egypt, he declares, was not moving at the time of the accident, lying on account of the dense fog and sounding her siren continuously.

Terrible Confusion

Suddenly there came the warning shriek of the Seine's siren, and the vessel loomed up out of the fog and darkness, and struck the Egypt amidships. With the crash, there came terrible confusion on the stricken vessel. Four or five boats were all that could be lowered, because of list of the vessel, and many persons jumped overboard fearing to be drawn down with the Egypt. No one was on board when the vessel took her final plunge, he believed.

Some of the survivors charge that the Indian sailors on board the Egypt took to the lifeboats immediately the vessel crashed, so that a large number of the passengers and crew had to shift for themselves.

Those who jumped into the sea and who could swim scrambled about for bits of wreckage to which they might cling.

Many of these were rescued. They floated about in the fog, after the Egypt went down, calling for help.

The sound of their voices directed members of the crew of the Seine in small boats who were patrolling the sea, picking up both living and dead.

In some instances the rescue crews came upon persons clinging to bits of debris who let go and sank just as aid for them was at hand. The small boats on numerous occasions sought vainly in the fog to locate persons lifting cries of distress through the fog.

Among the known missing are the doctor and chief engineer of the Egypt.

The Egypt was a vessel of 8000 tons.

The Seine was bound for Havre when the disaster occurred.

Mrs. Baptiste Felt Like She Would Smother and Nerves Were All to Pieces—Tanlac Ends Trouble

"I don't know what I would have done had it not been for Tanlac," said Mrs. Catherine Baptiste, 74 Sterling street, Boston Mass. "Just before I got Tanlac my stomach was so badly upset that everything I ate soured and gave me such a stuffed up feeling I thought I would suffocate. I actually vomited and I was so nervous I couldn't sleep well, either, and got so nervous I could hardly do my work. "Finally I tried Tanlac and almost at once there was a great change in my condition. The stomach trouble soon disappeared, my nerves were steady, I sleep well, and do my work with ease. I am always praising Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agent)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Harry and Emma Sharrock who will give their diverting skit "Behind the Grand Stand" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, have been universally successful with their combination of good comedy and technicality, whatever you may choose to call it. The Sharrocks do not dignify it with any particular name, but mixed into their comedy work, it goes like lightning. Harry Sharrock is downright funny all of the time, and yet he isn't any sure of touching an audience with his work than is Emma. Usually one of a pair is used as a "feeder" for the other. This assuredly is not the case with the Sharrocks.

Another standard act will visit us for the week, the team consisting of Leona Stephens and Len D. Hollister, who turn over light comedy in a delicious manner. "Back in Beverly Hills" is the name of their offering, and not only is it handsomely mounted but it holds singing and specially artistic dancing. Miss Stephens is a blonde-haired miss who has always been a very pronounced favorite in Lowell.

Listed high in the week's acts are Eddie Donahue and John Ball, both local musicians, who have, on several occasions, appeared here in vaudeville, and who have acquitted themselves splendidly. They are now full of performers. Donahue is an excellent singer, and Ball can play the piano in wonderful manner.

Quite the fastest moving feet in the world are said to belong to Dotson, a maker of his own steps, and who also makes up his comedy the while he is doing his feet. He is a little short of a wonder when it comes to dancing. Officer Volos and Dan, the detective duo, will surely give audiences their fill of amusement. Dan has only recently come back from a visit to continental Europe, where he has amazed the lovers of animal acts with his long repertoire of unusual tricks. The Recktors who will be on this bill are society entertainers of note and Paul & Nolan Co. will give a bit of several things in their work. Nolan is known as "The Jesting Swede."

CROWN THEATRE

"The Last Trail," one of Zane Grey's celebrated novels, has been adapted for the screen by William Fox as one of his special productions for this year, and will be here on Tuesday at the Crown theatre. The name of Zane Grey is in itself a tall order for either readers of fiction or followers of motion pictures, and the superb manner in which Fox has adapted his novel to the screen promises an entertainment well worth while in "The Last Trail." In addition, the direction of this picture was in the hands of Samuel J. Flynn, whose notable work on "A Connecticut Yankee" and "Shame"—both big Fox specials—has placed his name in the very front rank of screen directors.

The leading roles in "The Last Trail" are enacted by Maurice Flynn, George Nook and Beatrice Tabor. A spectacular masterpiece is said to be the breaking of a huge dam and the resultant flooding and destruction of a village in the valley below.

THE STRAND

Pauline Lord in "Two Kinds of Women" and Doris May in her latest film vehicle, "Eden and Return," are to be shown for the first time locally at The Strand, beginning today and continuing tomorrow and Wednesday. Both are excellent photoplays and will give genuine satisfaction. Don't miss them and the other contributions to the program. Attention is called to the fact that the bicycle contest for the boys of the city and suburbs. A coupon is given to the purchaser of a ticket at the box office and the name of one's favorite contestant may be put on it and placed in the box. The boy receiving the largest number of votes by July 10 next will be given a $100 bicycle. See it on display in the lobby. It's a dandy.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Bought and Paid For," George Broadhurst's famous stage success, is the feature film attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre for today, Tuesday and Wednesday. With Jack Holt, Agnes Ayres and many other players of note in the leading roles, the production by Paramount surpasses even the dramatic excellence of the original stage play. "The Beat Shop" with Raymond Hitchcock and a galaxy of musical comedy stars, is the other big feature. Coming Thursday, Eugene O'Brien in "Channing of the North-west."

FOX HOME IN

DRACUT BURNED

Because of the lack of water facilities, the home of Stanley Fox on Marsh Hill, Dracut, was burned to the ground last evening at about 9:30 o'clock. As soon as the fire was discovered an alarm was sent in and companies from the Centre, Navy Yard and Kenwood responded, but although the fire fighters were on the premises shortly after the alarm was given, they were unable to cope with the flames because of the lack of water.

WAS DROWNED IN

SHAWSHOEN RIVER

Frank O'Brien, aged 20 and residing at Somerville, was drowned while bathing in the Shawshoen river in Bedford, just over the Billerica line Saturday. The young man, who with a number of companions, was on his way to a camp at Nutting's lake, went in for a dip at Bedford. He dove into the water, but failed to come to the surface. His companions made every effort to locate him, but were unsuccessful and they notified the Bedford police. The body was recovered later by a man named Martin. The remains were sent to Somerville.

LABOR WRECKERS ATTACK OFFICER

Chicago Policeman Hurler
From Third Story Window
—Ankle Fractured

More Indictments by County
Grand Jury Expected
Today

CHICAGO, May 22.—An attack on a policeman who was hurled from a third-story window of a building, was the principal development in the labor war. Additional indictments were expected to be returned by the county grand jury.

James Mullin, 45, was the patrolman thrown from the building, which was being erected under the Landis wage award. Three men believed by police to be "labor wreckers" attacked the officer. He suffered a fractured ankle, spinal and possibly internal injuries.

The policeman saw three men enter the building. He followed them to the third floor, where all three attacked him. The assailants escaped.

Police said today they had obtained further evidence which is said to link "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader and "Con" Shea, with the slaying of the two policemen May 9.

Harry Jensen, president of the Carpenter's district council, announced that the building trades branch of the American Federation of Labor would be asked to reorganize the Chicago council, of which Mader is president.

DIVORCES ARE GRANTED
Spring Term of Superior Court Without Juries
Opened Here Today

The spring term of the superior court without juries opened this morning at the courthouse in Gorham street with Justice Franklin T. Hammond on the bench. The entire day was taken up with divorce cases and it was announced that motions and law cases will be heard tomorrow. The court's sitting in this city will last two weeks.

At the opening of the court Clerk Putnam called out the various cases on the court calendar and during the forenoon sessions dozens of suits were granted in the following uncontested cases:

Emma L. Beane, Billerica, vs. Oscar J. Beane, Lincoln, Me., cruel and abusive treatment.

Margaret Murphy, Lowell, vs. Thomas F. Murphy, whereabouts unknown, desertion.

Maria Zdanoski, Lowell, vs. Antoni Zdanoski, Lublin, Poland, desertion. Custody of minor child to defendant.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON

Big Crowd Hears World-Renowned Reformer at Local Church

A monster meeting in the interests of world-wide prohibition, with William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson as the central figure, was held at the First Congregational church last evening. Every seat in the auditorium and balcony was occupied and at least 200 men and women stood in the rear of the church to enjoy a most unusual and interesting program.

Evidently physically tired as the result of continuous campaigning, bearing the scars of battle, but still mentally active and as keen for his work as ever, "Pussyfoot" was the magnet that brought to the First Church one of its largest gatherings.

It was not a meeting, however, that was given over wholly to Mr. Johnson, for, in fact, he spoke but a comparatively brief length of time. It took on the aspect and appearance of a rally in the cause of temperance, not alone in Lowell, or in Massachusetts, or in the United States, but world-wide, and the goal being sought now by leaders of the prohibition movement, with America as the inspirational leader.

With Mr. Johnson was Rev. Dr. Morrill of Detroit, who specializes in arousing interest in the financial side of the movement and he does it well. A little bit on the order of Rev. Billie Sunday, he is an earnest, convincing speaker and his efforts last night doubtless resulted in several hundred pledges of substantial aid to the cause.

The meeting had as its presiding officer, Samuel H. Thompson, head of the local branch of the anti-saloon league and for years actively identified with the fight to secure prohibition in this country. He spoke at length upon the fight that was necessary before the Volstead act became the 18th constitutional amendment and said that prohibition now here, is here to stay.

If the big audience expected to hear Mr. Johnson roar out a challenge to the forces of evil and launch a two-front attack upon the opponents of world-wide prohibition, it was disappointed, for he confined himself entirely to a story of his recent campaign in India and barely touched upon his London experiences, during which he suffered the loss of his left eye in a fracas that made him an international figure.

His tale of the great country of India, with its teeming millions of people—one-fifth of the entire population of the world—was intensely interesting, but hardly dynamic. He said that the goal surely will be reached if men and women everywhere rally to the standard set by the organizations that are heart and soul in the fight and he etched a mental picture of the day's dawning when the sun will shine down upon a drinkless world.

The meeting was enhanced by a splendid program of music given by the augmented church choir, under the leadership of Harry Hopkins, with Miss Ella L. Gale at the organ.

THE REINSTATEMENT OF REDMOND WELCH

The city council Saturday night voted that the charges preferred against Redmond Welch by Mayor George H. Brown when he removed him from office on Jan. 8 were insufficient and subsequently reinstated him to the office of superintendent of police.

The discussions, deliberations and legal entanglements of more than four months were settled in less than seven minutes and left no doubt as to the feeling of the council in the matter of Welch's removal and the temporary inactivity of W. C. MacBrayne.

The council took two votes. The first was on the question: "Does the council deem the reasons given by the mayor in his removal of Redmond Welch sufficient?" and the roll call showed 13 councilors being recorded as voting "no" and three as voting "yes." Voting "yes" the mayor's charges should be sustained were Councilors Chadwick, Genest and McMeniman.

Albert S. Howard, counsel for Mr. Welch, then suggested that the council take a vote on the matter of reinstatement. This was done and the vote was unanimous, even Councilors Chadwick, Genest and McMeniman falling into line.

The city clerk was instructed to notify the mayor, Welch and MacBrayne immediately of the council's action.

ment the men of the department are to furnish their own trousers and pay one-half of the cost of the blouse.

Policies to Be Continued

Commenting upon the conference, Mayor Brown said it was "most favorable and congenial" and added that "everything is all right."

"The policy of the department as carried out during the past four months will be continued by Chief Welch," stated the mayor, "and I know he will prosecute any infractions of the liquor law to the limit."

The conference continued for about three-quarters of an hour and at its close, the present and past superintendent stepped out together, with a "Come on, chief," from Mr. MacBrayne and a "All right, Win," from Mr. Welch.

When questioned as to whether or not Supt. Welch is back in the department to stay, the mayor said that as far as he knew, he was back on the job and that everything would proceed smoothly.

Albert S. Howard, counsel for Mr. Welch, was asked as to whether the chief would seek any compensation for the time lost in the office and also whether there was any truth in the rumor that the superintendent would apply for a retirement on pension.

Mr. Howard's reply was to the effect that he knew nothing whatsoever about either matter and now that Mr. Welch was back in office, his, Mr. Howard's work was over.

Question of Salary

One thing definitely has been settled, according to City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, which is, that the city will not take the initiative in paying Supt. Welch any back salary and that his name will not appear on the June salary payroll except for an amount equal to his service, dating from May 22, today.

It was said today in one or two quarters that Supt. Welch might appear to the city council to vote that he should be paid for time lost in the office, but it was brought out that the mayor would not approve any payroll which carried such an entry.

Glad to Be Back

"It feels fine to be back here and I'm very much pleased," was Supt. of Police Redmond Welch's reply to the many queries he received from friends this morning. This is the first day he has officially been at his desk since Jan. 3, when he was ousted on an order of Mayor Brown, who preferred charges against him.

The superintendent doesn't contemplate any changes in the present running of the department. He said that he would allow things to go on as they have been in the past and that he would make changes only when he deemed them necessary.

After the day shift lined up for roll-call this morning, the chief came before the men and made a short address. He complimented the force upon their good work in the past and said that the department had always given a good account of itself. He expressed the hope that the department would continue to function in the same old way and that the men would be loyal to their duty. He also asked the co-operation of every man on the force to aid him in maintaining law and order in this city. He cited one or two examples of the fine work done in the past by the force and brought out the incident of the capture, several years ago, of a band of New York "gangsters" which visited Lowell.

AERIAL DEMONSTRATION AT MERRIMACK PARK

With the greatest aerial ever used in this section, and a set of unusual power, the most interesting radio demonstration of the season will be given at Merrimack park tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

The instrument to be used has been set up previously in a different location, where it was in nightly communication with Pittsburgh and Chicago, the latter station being far too distant for the average set to listen in. As set up at the park tomorrow evening, the instrument will have the added advantage of enormous aerials, strung from the top of the roller coaster to the roof of the dance pavilion. The great hope of the trained operator in charge of the set is that weather conditions will permit the concert by Chicago's most famous orchestra, Frank Westphal's Rainbow Garden aggregation, to be heard. The concert is to be sent out by the Chicago broadcasting station. The legion set is equipped with a half dozen head sets, for the edification of the fans, as well as the largest tone amplifier or reproducing horn obtainable. This horn is 24 inches in diameter.

RADIO PRIMER

Plate—A wire or metal plate in a radio vacuum tube which receives the rectified current coming through the grid and passes it on to the telephone head receivers. A battery of about 25½ volts charges the plate with positive electricity so as to attract the negative electrons from the filament.

CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET

Meeting of Catholic Women's League—Mrs. Donehue Re-elected President

Chief among the matters of business accomplished at the meeting of the League of Catholic Women yesterday afternoon in Associate hall was the re-election of Mrs. J. T. Donehue as president. Many of her faithful co-officers for the past year were also chosen for another term in office. Great progress in the affairs of the league was manifested in the reports submitted. Opening with the singing of May hymns and selections by the league orchestra, announcement was made of the deaths since the last meeting of three members, Mrs. Bridget Crane, Mrs. James Shea, and Miss Rose Castles. The customary observance of respect for the dead followed. Proceeding to the balloting for officers, the ballots were passed around the hall by the nominating committee. Miss Elizabeth O'Connor, chairman. Mrs. Donehue called for reports of officers and committees while the balloting was under way. Mrs. John J. Sullivan, chairman of the educational committee, gave an interesting report. She told in detail the progress of the classes under the committee's supervision; classes in millinery, dressmaking, music, appraelation, arts and crafts, elementary English and others. The recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders, read her report for the year, covering the season's activities in a most thorough manner. Mrs. David Mahoney, chairman of the membership committee, gave an illuminating report on the increase made during the year. She stated that 781 new members had been admitted, 38 had left town, nine have taken religious vows and 19 have died, leaving a net increase to the local membership of 693; a good-sized organization in itself. Miss Mary Lane of the civics committee submitted a very satisfactory and encouraging report, and Miss Mary Lang, treasurer, reported a very substantial increase in the league's funds. The result of the balloting was then announced, with the following elected to office: President, Mrs. John T. Donehue; first vice-president, Dr. Emma Young Slaughter; second vice-president, Mrs. James McKenna; recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara L. Farthington; treasurer, Miss Mary D. Lang; directors for three years, Mrs. Martin Maher, Miss Jennie Cronin, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey, Miss Rose McVey, Mrs. Andrew Barrett, Miss Julia Reardon, Miss Alice Reagan; nominating committee, Miss Cora McGauvran, Mrs. Joseph Crawford, Miss Louise McOsker, Miss Anna McElough, Miss Carmen Reddick.

After the results had been announced Mrs. Donehue accepted the presidency in most gracious vein, extending thanks to officers and committees for their share in the work which had made the league season so successful. She was followed by Rev. Joseph A. Cavlin, spiritual director, who directed the bulk of his address at the mothers and guardians of young Catholic girls and women, reminding them of the mode of dress affected at the present time. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of a Te Deum by the assembly.

COLDBLOODED MURDER

Boy Slain and Mother Fatally Attacked—Murderer Found Asleep After Crime

BOSTON, May 22.—One of the most brutal and cold-blooded murders that has come to the attention of the police for some time was committed early yesterday morning, in Cambridge, when George Hosteen, 49, colored, a lodger at 133 Erie street, crushed in the skull of Albert Bernby, 18, also colored, with a hatchet while the boy was sleeping in bed, and then, with an axe, battered the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Bernby, 40, so badly that little hope is held for her recovery. After his awful crime, Hosteen, who the police say has made a complete confession, went to bed. He was sleeping soundly when the police arrived at the house at 6.30 a.m. and placed him under arrest.

Report on Unemployment

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Reports from representative establishments in 12 manufacturing industries show a decrease in the number of employed in eight industries and an increase of four in April, as compared with the preceding month, according to figures announced today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. The four industries showing an increase were iron and steel, 6.8 per cent; automobiles 6.3 per cent; car building and repairing, 0.1 per cent; hosiery and underwear 0.1 per cent. Those showing the heaviest decreases were cotton finishing, 15 per cent, and men's clothing 10 per cent.

Picketing Heavier Today in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Picketing was heavier than usual today near the Andia, Upper Pacific and Monomac mills but there were no disturbances, the crowds being orderly. The ninth week of the local textile strike opened this morning. With the exception of a special meeting of the employees of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills, called for today, no conferences which might tend to bring the mill men and employees together, have been arranged as far as known. The purpose of the Patchogue-Plymouth mill employees' meeting has not been made public.

Hall Leads Gov. Olcott by 208 Votes

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—On the basis of complete returns from 16 counties and incomplete returns from 20 counties, Charles Hall early today led Gov. Olcott by 208 votes for the republican nomination for governor. The official count probably will be necessary to determine the winner. The vote so far compiled stands: Hall 41,892; Olcott 41,684. Widespread interest was aroused in the result of this contest because of the Ku Klux Klan issue. Gov. Olcott rigorously assailed the clan.

GUILBAULT PIANOFORTE ACADEMY CONCERT

About 500 people attended the annual concert of the Guilbault Pianoforte Academy, which was held in the Guilbault hall, Middle street, last evening. The affair was given under the personal direction of Prof. L. N. Guilbault, who was assisted by Miss Alice Renaud, Miss Bertha Brodeur and Eugene Guilbault, assistant teachers at the academy.

Assisting the pupils of the academy were Mrs. Henri A. Archambault, who rendered several pleasing vocal selections and Mr. Bernard Knapp, whose violin numbers added materially to the enjoyment of the program. At the close of the concert there were brief addresses by Prof. Guilbault, Bishop Henri de Silva and Mayor Brown. Andre Savard was awarded the first prize for progress, a gold medal, while several other pupils also received valuable prizes, the distribution being made by Bishop de Silva.

Those who took part in the program were Emma Lambert, Gerard Landry, Loretta Williamson, Cecile Dion, Jeannette Drouin, Yvonne Dubois, Annette Millette, Alice Lefebvre, Jeannette Langlois, Beatrice St. Jean, Alice Nole, Anna Gagnon, Victor Lambert, Arthur Beaumier, Cecile Desrochers, Alice Jambon, Laurent Boucher, Stephanie Urbanek, Pamela York, Joseph Gagne, Alice Lemire, Louis Matte, Bertha Desmarais, Andre Savard, Eva Lefebvre, Victor Hanel, Blanche Masson, Victor Gagnon, Real Houdou, Laurier Sanscartier, Irene Guerin, Gilbert Dallaire, Annette Lapointe, Gerard Pelletier, Marie Ange Trotter, Albert Vincent, Juliette Nadeau, Roland Blodreau, Marion Mullen, Margaret Ashe, Flora Isabelle, Annette Chiquet, Juliette Vandenbulcke, Juliette Goulet, Laura Drouin, Leona Rivet, Florida Marchand and Frank Redding.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

General orders No. 1 issued by the post are as follows:

The post will assemble at its headquarters Tuesday morning, May 30, at 8 o'clock and proceed by auto to the Lowell cemetery and at the close of the exercises will go direct to Tewksbury, Mass., to town in its memorial services. After the services at cemetery, post will march to town hall, where appropriate services will be held, after which a dinner will be served by the ladies of the church. After dinner comrades will return to headquarters by automobile. Officer of guard A. J. Bixby will assist Capt. Derby in assigning comrades to their automobiles.

The post will assemble at 2.30 p. m. at headquarters and on arrival of posts 42 and 120, "fall in" with them, reporting to the chief marshal on the South common. At the close of the parade and reviews when dismissed will return to the First Universalist church, Hard street, where we are to be guests of the Sons of Veterans.

Comrades unable to march are urged to ride, if their health will permit on Memorial Day afternoon. Notify the adjutant, if you will go on or before the 26th instant, so he may know how many carriages to order. We must have many to order by that date. Carriages with veterans leave these headquarters at 12.30 to assist the Sons of Veterans at the Hillside cemetery.

As far as possible wear full uniform upon all occasions—blouse, hat, belt and gloves; the officers their side arms for parade only. Every veteran should consider it his duty to attend as many of these exercises as his health will permit, whether in uniform or not. We need you. The uniform is of secondary importance. A few uniforms can be furnished to comrades at headquarters.

All war veterans are invited to join with us in these services under the same conditions as members of the post.

Let the few of us that the day finds able turn out and make this day memorable. The detail of comrades is as follows: Captain, George L. Cady, in command of company; bugler, George E. Bryant; officer of the day, C. M. Bixby; officer of guard, A. J. Bixby; color sergeant, J. K. Knowlton; color guard, E. Y. Morrill, C. E. Chase, Reuben Salls, L. van Steinberg.

General orders No. 1 issued by the post are as follows:

The post will assemble at its headquarters Tuesday morning, May 30, at 8 o'clock and proceed by auto to the Lowell cemetery and at the close of the exercises will go direct to Tewksbury, Mass., to town in its memorial services. After the services at cemetery, post will march to town hall, where appropriate services will be held, after which a dinner will be served by the ladies of the church. After dinner comrades will return to headquarters by automobile. Officer of guard A. J. Bixby will assist Capt. Derby in assigning comrades to their automobiles.

The post will assemble at 2.30 p. m. at headquarters and on arrival of posts 42 and 120, "fall in" with them, reporting to the chief marshal on the South common. At the close of the parade and reviews when dismissed will return to the First Universalist church, Hard street, where we are to be guests of the Sons of Veterans.

SHALL WE ASSIST?

There may be diverse views in regard to what has been accomplished by the Genoa conference; but a reading of Lloyd George's closing address, will indicate that the coming together of so many nations for the purpose of considering their mutual welfare and planning for a policy of peace must result in a vast step forward toward the economic restoration of Europe and an overpowering prejudice against war.

The conference adopted a peace pact that will undoubtedly preserve Europe from any military outbreak during the time specified. It will be observed that a great many subjects were discussed at length without reaching any final conclusion. That is why an adjournment has been made to the Hague where the conference will be resumed on June 15.

The chief stumbling block in reaching general conclusions, was the attitude of Russia in persistently injecting her socialist policies and claiming recognition on terms of equality with other nations. She has been informed on various occasions and in very precise terms, that the soviet principles of the present regime cannot be reconciled with the present system of European civilization.

In his speech Lloyd George spoke some very plain words for the benefit of Russia: so that they may be duly digested before the time for the Hague meeting. The first point he emphasized was that if you sell goods to a man you expect to be paid for them; second, that if you lend money to a man and he promises to repay you, you expect that if you keep his word; third, that if you go to a man who has already lent you money and ask for another loan, he will naturally inquire whether you propose to pay what you already owe; and if you cannot expect that he will grant your request. These principles are all directed at the attitude of Russia in regard to the reputation of her debts and the general feeling that her promise to pay is unreliable. Russia must prove that her word is reliable, that she will pay her debts and she must do this before she can receive any extended credit or assistance from the other powers.

It is reasonably certain that but for the attitude of Russia and the secret treaty between her and Germany, the Genoa conference would have accomplished practically all it had planned for the benefit of Europe. In order that some of the greater difficulties may yet be overcome, the conference has appealed to the United States to participate in the work of the commission to investigate what can be done in regard to Russia. There is little reason to believe that the United States would suffer any loss of prestige or become dangerously entangled by assisting in this particular work of dealing with the problem relating to Russia.

The appeal to the United States has been made with such great earnestness that it is quite likely that the invitation will be accepted and that we shall assist in settling the difficulties that seemed insuperable to the Genoa conference.

THE TWELVE-HOUR DAY

President Harding, the other day, had several of the steel magnates of the country dine with him at the White House and it is understood that his aim in bringing them there was to induce them to drop the twelve-hour day.

To most people in these parts, it will appear strange that any craft should have to work twelve hours a day. The steel industry especially is one of the most severe in the country, owing to the intense heat, the heavy lifting and the general working conditions. If the nature of the industry makes it necessary to have certain operations maintained continuously, then there should be three daily shifts instead of two. It is understood that a number of the steel companies have already made this arrangement; but the United States Steel company still persists in working its employees in two shifts for the twenty-four hours. Twelve hours a day in a steel factory under a temperature in which the men can wear very little clothing, must be an extremely wearing ordeal. It is actually cruel to ask men to undergo such a severe strain upon their endurance and their vitality.

Yet thousands of them are doing that today and have done for years. Nevertheless, great unhappiness is expressed by any labor trouble arises in the works of the United States Steel corporation, where, in addition to long hours the pay is below the average for such workmen.

It is time the twelve-hour day were abolished, time that no working day in any industry requiring vigorous physical or mental exertion, should be more than nine hours and the present tendency is toward the eight-hour day for all industries.

The great trouble is, that there is no uniformity in hours of labor in the various states, some limiting the working day to eight hours and others legalizing the ten or eleven-hour day. The state that permits a twelve-hour day is a rare exception and must have little regard for the welfare of the working classes. It is in Pennsylvania that this abuse of the working people exists; and the United States Steel Corporation, one of the most powerful in the world, is the chief offender.

Various critics may say that President Harding is catering to the labor vote in doing this. It matters not what his motive is, and we do not attribute any such world motive, his action is humane and commendable. If he succeeds in abolishing the twelve-hour day, he will have accomplished something that some of the greatest labor sympathizers in the country had overlooked for years and he will have earned the gratitude of labor hosts throughout the land.

A SIGN OF SUMMER

Word comes from the Hub in a little news dispatch tucked away in a corner of a metropolitan newspaper, to the effect that the Boston floating hospital, which has been in winter quarters between the Charlestown bridges, has been moved to the Atlantic works in East Boston, where she has been hauled out on the marine railway for underwater scraping and painting. Upon the completion of this work she will go to her regular berth at the North End park, there to be outfitted and prepared for commission. Next month the vessel will begin regular trips, taking sick babies and their mothers on trips down the harbor.

Givers of funds to this worthy cause—and they are many—will be glad to know that "Cap'n" Bill Gove will continue in command of this vessel of mercy. "Cap'n" Gove knows the "North Enders" and the children love him. The floating hospital trips are supported entirely by the charities, and special "days" are set aside and named for those who contribute liberally toward the expenses. It is a splendid cause, one that has saved many babies' lives, and will, of course, be as generously supported this year as in years past.

It is pleasing to record also that more than one Lowell business man and matron have contributed to this method of saving of children's lives. Would that the old Merrimack were navigable, so that similar health excursions could leave here daily or on week-ends bearing to the sweetening heat of the city the little children and their mothers on a delightful outing from Lowell to the sea. Time was when we had a steamer on the upper Merrimack plying between the falls near Tyngs Island; but even these good old days are gone and Captain Prouty and his "May Queen" are seen no more. But the time will come when the Merrimack will be developed as a waterway for pleasure, trade and commerce, despite the adverse reports of the engineers.

THE PRESIDENT'S WORD

President Harding, during the past few days, has been trying to do some things that would prove highly beneficial to the entire country. Speaking before the chamber of commerce of the United States, he tried to reassure the people of this nation by declaring that at this very moment the country is at the threshold of a new era of business activity and general prosperity.

There is little doubt that this is the fact and the acceptance of the president's assurance on this point by those who are inclined to doubt, and hesitate will do much to hasten the realization of that prediction. America is the most favored land in all the world although it suffers to a great extent from the impoverished condition of the European countries, but despite every obstacle, conditions here are immeasurably better than in Europe; and we are assured that the indications are unmistakable that as President Harding says, we are on the eve of a new era of industrial prosperity. Let the pessimists take notice and prepare to put on a pleasant smile at the dawn of the new day in which every factory and every workshop will resume active work with all hands employed, all strikes settled and nobody who wants work found walking the streets.

GETTING RESULTS

Controversies over city street contracts arise from many causes. The lowest bidder does not always secure the job. Competent engineers who perform their work faithfully and honestly, however, know what ought to be done in the construction of new highways.

If contracts are let to responsible parties, the price being agreed upon as fair, there is no necessity of squabbling over the work if it is done according to specifications. In the cities of Worcester, Springfield and Hartford, for instance, after road contracts are let and work started, the construction is daily under the supervision of expert inspectors who are always "on the job."

We believe that when a highway contract is awarded after a satisfactory price has been agreed upon, the construction work should be constantly inspected by men who know what the contract calls for. In no other way will the city receive what it pays for when it lets contracts for street work. Engineer Kearney, however, will see that the specifications are followed to the letter.

SUPT. WELCH'S RETURN

According to the court decision, the mayor proceeded legally in removing Supt. Welch; but according to the city council, the causes thus legally adduced for suspension or removal of the superintendent were insufficient. Therefore, the removal was invalid.

During the interim between removal and reinstatement, the superintendent was not in the employ of the city and hence, according to some legal authorities, he has no claim for salary for that period. It would be well to have an understanding on this point so that the city will not at any time have to pay two officials for filling the same office.

IRELAND

The report that an agreement has been reached between the Irish factions relative to the elections will be gratifying to those who have wanted peace. Recently the republicans have expressed themselves as opposed to any election on the treaty. Persistent in civil war, a form of which is at ready in progress. The continued slaughter of Catholics in Belfast is simply deplorable and there seems to be no government authority to interfere. It is to be hoped the elections will be held as announced on June 11, so as to let the people decide whether they want the treaty as offered.

Now that the mandamus case has been disposed of, it is in order to start a quo warranto suit so as to keep the city before the courts most of the time. Some of our officials seem to think that such notoriety is beneficial.

The main thing Lowell needs is a settlement of her labor troubles. That statement from Secretary Davis published in Saturday's Sun should be heeded by manufacturers.

Judge Enright's new ruling, indicates that in order to secure a conviction in a liquor case, traffic must be proved. No man should be convicted on suspicion.

The local mill strikers are scattering to other cities, being unable to await the settlement of the local trouble. Thus the skilled operatives are leaving Lowell.

Dr. Steinmetz insists that the radio-phones will never adequately take the place of the telephone, but he cannot take the joy out of the wireless fans' lives by saying that.

The Springfield man who gave swindlers $2500 to "hold" for him until they returned, must still have his eye teeth.

Boston is to have an airplane landing-airport. So shall we by and by.

Time to start that garden weeding all over again—and keep at it.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is probable that the fellow employees of George Cummings on the B. & M. shifter which operates in the vicinity of Dutton street, will apply to the Carnegie hero, who came to Boston for a medal for the young man, who at the risk of his own life a few days ago saved the life of Theodore Radzik, a five-year-old boy residing at 121 Suffolk street. Cummings, who is a brakeman on the shifter, heard the shouts of the lad, who was struggling for his life in the waters of the canal in Dutton street. Without even taking time to cast off his coat he dove into the canal and swam to the boy's rescue. The current at that particular point is very swift, as it carries the water on a rapid race to the falls in the yard of the Saco-Lowell shops, and when Cummings' companions saw him dive into the water, they feared that he would be unable to swim back upstream. Some of the brakemen rushed to the banks of the canal to lend a helping hand, but must have been disappointed when they saw George grab the lad under one arm and swim across the stream, using the other hand as oar. The railroad boys are unanimous in saying that Cummings should be rewarded for his heroic deed and it is said they will bring the matter to the attention of the Carnegie commission.

I have been informed that another attempt will soon be made to have Aiken street widened at its junction with Hill street, one of the most dangerous corners in the city. The abolition of that dangerous corner has been the topic of discussion for years, but so far the talk has accomplished nothing. Numerous petitions have been filed with the city council on various occasions, and as a rule the filing of the petition was followed by a visit to the premises by the city fathers. Then a public hearing was held and the matter was taken up by some other interested party. From the district comes the information that Councilman Christen is soon to bring the matter to the attention of the council and he will do his utmost to have something done.

It matters not whether the wooden shingle roof on your home is still in good condition, it will have to disappear not later than Aug. 1, 1923, to be replaced by a fireproof roof and covered by the fire underwriters. This in substance is an amendment to the building law, which was approved May 7, 1915. When the amendment was approved it was argued that wooden shingles were a menace and often-times were the cause of disastrous fires, and it was after the matter had been thoroughly discussed by the city fathers that the new law was placed.

Since the amendment was approved no permit for the construction of a new wooden shingle roof has been given out by the superintendent of public buildings, although in some cases permits for repairs have been issued. In 1927 the inspector of public buildings will notify the owners of buildings having wooden shingle roofs to remove or cover the shingles or replace them with a fireproof covering. The amendment reads in part as follows:

On or before August 1, 1923, every existing roof within the city limits not having a covering strictly in accordance with roof ordinances No. 1 and No. 2, section 56 A shall, without regard to its physical condition, be directly covered with new material as required by said roof ordinances and the building inspector shall notify all parties who have not complied with said roof ordinances at least one year before the said time shall expire.

The first long-distance delivery of farm products by airplane takes place in the east. Half a ton of freshparagus is carried to the Boston market from New Jersey farms. This little item will mean more important a generation from now when historians begin tracing the development of the enormous airplane traffic in freight and express, which is coming just as surely as death and taxes.

In Cincinnati, six robbers blew two safes and got $25,000. Police think robbery was the motive.

SEEN AND HEARD

June brides are quitting their office jobs, because they are otherwise engaged.

Maybe Burbank could cross mosquitoes with fish and make them anxious to bite.

The skinny have a slender chance of keeping cool; but the plump—they have a fat chance.

With malaria starting, this is the time for all good lemons to come to the aid of their country.

Thought for Today

If the question were raised, is man made for toil or for rest? the answer would be a mixed and qualified one. He is appointed to toil; he is destined to rest; one is his condition; the other is his end. If man is made in God's image, he is made to share God's condition.—T. T. Munger.

A Word a Day

Today's word is insidious. It is pronounced in-sid-i-us with accent on the second syllable. It means—characterized by treachery and deceit, full of plots, intended to entrap. It comes from—Latin "insidiosus," an ambush. It's used like this—"The federal supreme court, while expressing sympathy with those who oppose child labor, says its suppression through unconstitutional legislation would be an insidious practice."

Unusual Folk

The Rev. J. Ralph Roberts of the Third Christian church of Memphis, Tenn., is an ardent boxing fan. Between the art of self-defense and religion there's nothing conflicting, he says. He organized the Glad Hand club, which has about 40 members and a boxing instructor. He promoted a boxing match recently. He refereed them, too. He pulled them off in the Third Christian church basement. They were for the benefit of an orphanage. The church has founded "there ought to be" boxing, with a national boxing commission, with a man like Judge Landis at the head of it."

Orders From Headquarters

"Shall we take a little bungalow by the sea for this summer like we had last year?" asked the South Brooklyn husband. "No, we shall not," said the wife. "I'm going to cook three meals a day, pump water, sweep sand out of the rooms, open cans of corned beef, and wash handkerchiefs in a tin pail just for the privilege of looking on an old ocean and sniffling at old damp that takes all the fun out of it." "No, sir! This year you are going to take me some place where someone else prepares the eat; where I can rest on the piazza, all dressed up, and can go motoring; then I can go home rested and not looking like a red Indian with rheumatism." And he said was, "Very well, dear."—Brooklyn Standard.

An Unusual Guest

Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, at a dinner on his yacht Romola, told a war story. "What was true of the Civil war will be true of the World war," he began. "In a hotel room back in the 90s a number of veterans got into a dispute over a certain battle. The veterans—all men of high rank—argued very turbulently. But a quiet man spoke up and said: 'Gentlemen, I have noticed that this is the engagement, and I think I can settle the point at issue.' And settle it he did. The hotel proprietor, much impressed, said to him when he got through: 'My dear sir, what may have been your rank in the army?' 'I was a private,' he calmly replied. 'A short time afterward the full private asked for his bill as he was about to depart, but the proprietor said to him: 'Not a penny, sir! Not a penny! You owe me nothing.' 'Why, how is that?' the old demagogue in bewilderment, 'I couldn't dream of charging you, sir,' said the proprietor warmly. 'You are the first private I have ever met.'"

To the Fellow Who Will Take My Place

Here is a toast that I want to give To a fellow I'll never know; To the fellow who's going to take my place. When it's time for me to go, I've wondered what kind of a chap he'll be, And I've wished I could take his hand, Just to whisper, "I wish you well, old man," In a way that he'd understand.

I'd like to give him the cheering word That I've dropped at times to hear; I'd like to give him the warm handshake When never a friend seemed near. What the chances of this world has been by hard work, And I wish I could pass it on To the fellow who'll come to take my place Some day when I am gone.

Will he see all the sad mistakes I've made? And note all the battles lost? Will he ever guess the tears they caused? Or the heartaches which they cost? Will he gaze through the failures and fruitless toil, Of the plans that I've worked on, And catch a glimpse of the real intent And the heart of the man who's gone?

I dare to hope he may pause some day, As he tells as I have wrought, And gain some strength for his weary task.

From the battles I have fought, But I've only the task left to leave, With the cross for him to face, And never a cheering word may speak To the fellow who'll take my place.

So here's to your health and hopes, Old chap, I drink as a bridegroom to his bride; I'll leave an unfinished task for you, But God knows how I've tried, I've dreamed my dreams as all men do.

Although only a few came true, And my prayer today is that all my dreams May be realized in you.

And we'll meet some day in the great unknown, Far out in the realms of space; You'll throw my glass as I take your hand.

And gaze into your face, Then perhaps all our failures will be made.

In the light of the new-found dawn, So, here's to the fellow who'll take my place.

In the world when I am gone.—WILLIAM THORLON HAYS.

BOY INJURED

BY AUTOMOBILE

Harry Downing, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Downing, of 440 Stevens street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Parker and Stevens streets yesterday morning, and sustained bruises and a sprained ankle. George G. Carr was the operator of the machine, which skidded as he was passing an electric car, from which the boy and his mother had alighted. Dr. M. P. Mahoney was called, but stated that the boy's injuries were not serious.

WILL ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL IN MAINE

Four local ex-service men, Royal K. Hayes, Joseph French, Archie MacIntyre and John L. Sullivan, leave this city May 30 for Ellsworth, Me., to attend the summer school of Boston university, under the auspices of the Veterans' bureau. The four men have been attending the College of Business Administration of B. U. for some time past. Mr. Hayes is prominent in the affairs of the University Debating club and is an officer of the school Masonic club. Mr. French is vice-president of the University Advertising club, and a member of the summer school cabinet, the student government body. Mr. MacIntyre is also prominent in school affairs and a member of the summer school baseball nine. Mr. Sullivan has just begun his studies at the university. The school sessions will last from June 1 to Sept. 1. Professor Charles B. Reilly, head of the department of advertising at B. U., is director of the school.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

A delightful entertainment, in the form of a recital, was given in St. Peter's school hall yesterday afternoon by the pupils of the school, under the auspices of the Sisters of Charity. A large crowd of parents and invited guests were in attendance and greatly enjoyed the performance of the young people. After an address of welcome by Miss Mildred Sheehan, the following program was successfully carried out: Japanese love song, the Misses A. Mullin, A. Conroy, D. Cronin, D. Savage, D. Hanrahan; reading, Helena Connors; piano solo, Dorothy Cronin; Japanese scene, Misses A. Conroy, D. Hanrahan, S. Maloney; duet, Anna and Dorothy Mullin; reading, Helen McGraw; reading, Louise Scallion; dance, Margaret Ward; reading, Mildred Sheehan; piano solo, Catherine Carney; pantomime, "Hells," reading, Dorothy Mullin; trio, G. Carney, G. and E. Mulligan; reading, Mary O'Grady; dance, Helena Connors; piano solo, Alice Botti; finale, The Star Spangled Banner.

MOTHERS' NIGHT

Mother's night to be held by the Lowell Junior and Junior J.W.H.A.s is to take place Monday night, May 22, at 8 o'clock, at the Junior hall, 22 Central street. Mrs. J. Schumann, a prominent Boston attorney who recently been appointed to an important public office, will address the guests on a subject interesting to all. An enjoyable program has been arranged wherein the Junior members will entertain.

HORSE KILLED

As a result of sustaining a broken leg when it ran away near the corner of Franklin and Willie streets, a horse valued at $300, the property of Thomas Carville of 523 Broadway, had to be shot last evening. Mr. Carville, who was driving, escaped unhurt. Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society was called and put an end to the animal's sufferings.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

The Flapper Parade

Each one wears a round little hat,
With a bit of tilt to the brim,
Low oxfords with heels that are flat,
A scarf with much colorful vim;
They're garbed in identical style—
You'll meet them parading the pike,
For mile after mile after mile,
And all exactly alike.

The same kind of bob to their hair,
The same kind of rouge on their lips,
The same semi-negligent air
Of standing with hands on their hips;
They walk with the same sort of a walk
(A cross 'twist a lope and a hike),
They chatter the same sort of talk,
They all act exactly alike!

They all show the same brand of pep
And use the same species of slang,
They dance with a similar step,
And run with a similar gang;
They're snappy and laughing and dapper,
But there is no doubt we must start
To number each up-to-date flapper
In order to tell 'em apart!

Adventures of the Twins

THE FAIRY COUNCIL

THE FAIRY QUEEN WAS WAITING FOR THE TWINS

Nancy and Nick are twins. One time the fairy queen gave them a pair of green shoes, which were magical. These shoes could take the twins anywhere on the earth or off of it, indeed, for that matter. They could go anywhere in the sky or in fairyland by just wishing.

They had many wonderful adventures and proved a great help to the fairy folk who looked after the fairy queen's nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms from helping Mr. Rubadub to spring-lean the birds and animals to assisting Mr. Sprinkle-Blow in making the weather up in the sky.

Their last adventure was to settle a dispute between the Diddyevers and the Korknotts in fairyland, where a wicked sorcerer, called Twelve Toes, had caused trouble. Now they had returned home over the Seven mountains and the Seven valleys and are greeted by the fairy queen in her palace where they relate their adventures.

Their next adventure is to be "A Trip to the Moon."

The fairy queen was waiting for the twins when they arrived at her palace after a quick trip over the Seven mountains. They just wished themselves back and whizz—they were there!

Everybody crowded around to hear the news, first of all their old friend, the magical mushroom, who had gone with the children on so many of their travels. Next there was Mr. Rubadub, and Mr. Tuganling, and (Mr. M. Scribble-Scratch, and funny Mr. Flip-flop-Flop, and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, and

"Then we'll go," answered Nick. "won't we, Nancy?"

Refused to Allow Sale of Chickens

NEW YORK, May 22.—The public saved $40,000 over the week-end because inspectors of the health department refused to allow the sale of chickens whose crops were filled with sand and gravel. Ole Salthe, director of the food and drugs bureau of the department declared today one of the crops weighed one and one-half pounds.

Charges Against Bank Head Dismissed

MONTREAL, May 22.—Charges that D. C. McEwen, general manager of the defunct Merchants Bank, wilfully made false and deceptive statements on the bank's condition in a return filed with the government for October, 1921, were dismissed by Judge Gussion today. An official of the treasury department filed the charges following the bank's failure. The government is expected to appeal.

Three Boy Scouts Drowned

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 22.—The body of one youth, Frank Bezanon, was recovered from Lake Brandegee at Waterford this morning, after search for three youths, reported missing, had been instituted. The boys went to the lake yesterday to fish. Their overturned boat was found today. The other two, believed to be drowned, are John Green and Joseph Bezanon. All were Boy Scouts.

THE SALVATION ARMY FUND CAMPAIGN

With only $5000 asked for, and a host of friends upon whom to call, it seems as if the Salvation Army's drive, which started Saturday afternoon, will go over the top with a bang. The work of this organization needs little explanation. Previous to the war, this band of welfare workers struggled along as best it could, doing its noble work with little of the world's wealth.

Then came the war with all its horror and its need for organizations to comfort the sick and wounded. It was at this time that the Salvation Army proved its real worth. This organization was the first to follow the colors, was always at the front under fire, and was never discouraged, no matter how hard the way or how difficult the task.

With the termination of the great conflict this organization returned to this land of peace and took up the work right where it had left off. It had done its work well and this realization had been brought home to all with whom it had been thrown in contact.

Now the Army needs money to carry on the work of peace. To the sick, to give aid to the poor and unfortunate, to rescue those souls that have strayed from the path of righteousness.

With a population of over 100,000 to call on the Salvation Army needs only about a dime from each inhabitant. That small sum of money which in many times carelessly wasted would mean a lot to some poor person if it were contributed to the Salvation Army fund.

In the past the people of Lowell have heeded the call of the Army. Its appeals have not gone unanswered. With ever so many things to sap the funds in its home too well filled treasury the Salvation Army is asking for $5000.

Saturday's drive started out in an impressive manner. A band and parade opened the drive. A number of contributions were received before the drive was one hour old. But it will take a lot more than the drive of the top. A small gift to the Army now will help as it never helped before.

With only eight days left the people are asked to get in their contributions early so that the Army may know the people are backing its movement.

BOY SCOUT MEETING THIS EVENING

Boy Scout enthusiasts from Lowell and vicinity will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms tonight to discuss the future of the work in the Lowell district. The steering committee, composed of C. D. A. Grasse, president; Frank D. Proctor, secretary; Charles P. Lantry, James B. Casey, John M. O'Donoghue, William N. Goodell, T. A. Whelan, Xavier Delisle, Royal P. White, John J. Walsh, Benjamin S. Bouzner, Dr. John H. Lambert and Mayor George H. Brown met last Friday evening, and drew up some findings to be presented to the general committee tonight.

Everyone interested in pushing the Boy Scout movement in Lowell is invited to attend the meeting to be held tonight, and take part in the discussion. The proposed growth of the movement throughout the country during the past few years is the best testimonial of its worth that could be obtained. There are now over 400,000 scouts enrolled, studying citizenship, service and co-operation. President Grasse asks that, if possible, everyone come before 8 o'clock, as all may become acquainted and insure prompt start.

CITY AUDITOR WILL ATTEND MEETING

City Auditor Daniel P. Martin has been advised at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Auditors and Comptrollers association, to be held at the Boston City Club on Thursday of this week, at 1 p.m. The Lowell auditor will attend as a member of the association and is particularly interested in the discussion of matters relative to the rates of the current year, that promise to be much higher throughout the state. Corporation taxes also will be discussed in forum assembly. Theodore S. Waddell, director of accounts, is president of the association.

ated Press)—The most disquieting feature of Sunday's disorder in Belfast, was the shifting of the center of trouble to Ballymacarrett, the east section where there is a large artisan population and a small compact Sinn Féin community living in an area called the Short Strand.

Two men were killed in the violent rioting there, and Thomas McShane, who was wounded Saturday, died, bringing the total of deaths over the week-end to 14.

During last night's shooting, gunmen opened fire on the city electric station, but the return fire from police and troops caused the assailants to withdraw.

Gunmen lying in wait for Saturday's riot in County Antrim and Down, vanished as quickly as it came, but a renewal of its operations is anticipated.

The Ulster cabinet has given no sign of what measures it contemplates to suppress the disorders, but it is assumed nothing will be done before tomorrow's meeting of the Northern parliament, when Premier Sir James Craig will outline his plans. These, if they fulfill the expectations in many quarters, are likely to involve a rupture with the Dublin government.

Bombs Hurlled Into Buildings

BELFAST, May 22.—(By Associated Press)—This has been one of the worst week ends in the experience of the city. Shooting, incendiarism, bombing and outrages generally have been exceptionally numerous. The fire brigade responded to seven calls, between early Saturday night and Sunday morning. In some cases bombs were thrown into buildings.

according to the latest official figures. Among those missing are two American women, Mrs. M. L. Sibby and Miss V. M. Boyer, whose home addresses are unknown here. It is possible that some of the missing may have been picked up by the steamship Cap Iacon in addition to those brought here by the Seine. The Cap Iacon was nine miles from the scene and replied to the distress signals with the assurance that she was speeding to the spot.

According to the Egypt's purser, the ship floated only about 20 minutes after her plates were crushed in by the Seine. The Egypt, as declared was not moving at the time of the accident, lying to on account of the dense fog and sounding her siren continuously.

Terrible Confusion

Suddenly there came the warning shriek of the Seine's siren, and the vessel loomed up out of the fog and darkness, and struck the Egypt amidships. With the crash, there came terrible confusion on the stricken vessel. Four or five boats were all that could be lowered, because of list of the vessel, and many persons jumped overboard fearing to be drawn down with the Egypt. No one was on board when the vessel took her final plunge, he believed.

Some of the survivors charge that the Indian sailors on board the Egypt took to the lifeboats immediately the vessel crashed, so that a large number of the passengers and crew had to shift for themselves. Those who jumped into the sea and who could swim scrambled about for bits of wreckage to which they might cling. Many of these were rescued. They floated about in the fog after the Egypt went down, calling for help. The sound of their voices directed members of the crew of the Seine in small boats who were patrolling the sea, picking up both living and dead. In some instances the rescue crews came upon persons clinging to bits of debris who let go and sank just as aid for them was at hand. The small boats on numerous occasions sought vainly in the fog to locate persons in lifting crisis of distress through the fog. Among the known missing are the doctor and chief engineer of the Egypt.

The Egypt was a vessel of 8000 tons.

The Seine was bound for Havre when the disaster occurred.

BOSTON, May 22.—Mrs. M. L. Sibby and Miss V. M. Boyer, the American missionaries bound for India who are missing from the British steamship Egypt, had been in this city recently. Mrs. Sibby, a member of the staff of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, has relatives in Toledo, Ohio. Miss Boyer formerly made her home at Aspinwall, Pa. She was going out as a teacher in a school for children in South India. Mrs. Sibby, a widow, was returning to her station in the city of Way. Miss Boyer, with no parents or relatives alive, was taking up work in the mission field for the first time.

MOTHER!

Clean Baby's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! A half-teaspoonful of genuine California Fig Syrup will make your cross, fretful baby comfortable. It cleanses the little bowels of all the wind and gases, the bile, souring food and stomach poison which is causing baby's distress.

Millions of mothers depend upon this gentle laxative to keep baby's stomach and bowels clean, and thus correct diarrhoea, colic, biliousness, coated tongue, sour stomach, feverish breath and constipation. It never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Babies love the taste of genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has full directions for infants in arms and children of all ages plainly printed on bottle. Say "California" to the druggist and accept no imitation fig syrup—A.D.

WAS AFRAID TO EAT, DREADING AFTER EFFECTS

Mrs. Baptiste Felt Like She Would Smother and Nerves Were All in Pieces—Tanlac Ends Trouble.

"I don't know what I would have done had it not been for Tanlac," said Mrs. Catherine Baptiste, 74, Sterling street, Boston Mass.

"Just before I got Tanlac my stomach was so badly upset that everything I ate brought up and gave me such a stuffed up feeling I thought I would suffocate. I actually ate my meals under dread and fear of the after effects. I couldn't sleep well, either, and got so nervous I could hardly do my work.

"Finally I tried Tanlac and almost at once there was a great change in my condition. The stomach trouble soon disappeared, my nerves are steady, I sleep well, and do my work with ease. I am always praising Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agent)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Harry and Emma Sharrock who will give their diverting skit, "Behind the Grand Stand" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, have been universally successful with their combination of good comedy and telepathy, or what ever you may choose to call it. The Sharrocks do not dignify it with any particular name, but mixed into their comedy work, it goes like lightning. Harry Sharrock is downright funny all of the time, and yet he isn't any surer of touching an audience with his work than is Emma. Usually one of a pair is used as a "feeder" for the other. This assuredly is not the case with the Sharrocks.

Another standard act will visit us for the week, the team consisting of Leona Stephens and Len J. Hollister, who turn over light comedy in a delicious manner. "Back in Beverly Hills" is the name of their skit, and not only is it handsomely mounted, but it holds singing and specially artistic dancing. Miss Stephens is a blonde-haired miss who has always been a very pronounced favorite in Lowell.

Listed high in the week's acts are Eddie Dunham and John Ball, local musicians, who have, on several occasions, appeared here in vaudeville, and who have acquitted themselves splendidly. They are now full fledged performers. Dunham is an excellent singer, and Ball can play the piano in wonderful manner.

Quite the fastest moving feet in the world are said to belong to Dolson, a maker of his own steps, and who also takes up his comedy the while he is tapping his feet. He is little short of a wonder when it comes to dancing. Officer Vokes and Don, the globe-trotting dog, will surely give audiences their fill of amusement. Don has only recently come back from a visit to continental Europe, where he has amused lovers of animal acts with his long repertoire of unusual tricks. The Recktors who will be on this bill are society entertainers of note and Paul & Nolan Co. will give a bit of several things in their work. Nolan is known as "The Jesting Swede."

CROWN THEATRE

"The Last Trail," one of Zane Grey's celebrated novels, has been adapted for the screen by William Fox as one of his special productions for this year, and will be here on Tuesday at the Crown theatre. The name of Zane Grey is in itself a tallman for either readers of fiction or followers of motion pictures, and the superb manner in which Fox hitherto has filmed novels by Grey promises an entertainment well worth while in "The Last Trail." In addition, the director of the picture was in the hands of Emmett J. Flynn, whose notable work on "A Connecticut Yankee" and "Phantom"—both big Fox specialties—has given him a name in the very front rank of screen directors.

The leading roles in "The Last Trail" are enacted by Maurice Flynn, Eva Novak and Henry B. Waltham. A spectacular masterpiece is said to be the breaking of a huge dam and the resultant flooding and destruction of a village in the valley below.

THE STRAND

Pauline Frederick in "Two Kinds of Women" and Doris May in her newest film vehicle, "Eden and Return," are to be shown for the first time locally at The Strand beginning today, and continuing tomorrow and Wednesday. Both are excellent photoplays and will give genuine satisfaction. Don't miss the picture and the other good things in the program. Attention is again directed to the bicycle contest for the boys of the city and suburbs. A coupon is given to the purchaser of a ticket at the box office and the name of one's favorite contestant may be put on it and placed in the box. The boy receiving the largest number of votes by July 10 next will be given a $100 bicycle. See it on display in the lobby. It's a dandy.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Bought and Paid For, George Broadhurst's famous stage success, is the feature film attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre for today, Tuesday and Wednesday. With Jack Holt, Agnes Ayres and many other players of note in the leading roles, the production by Paramount surpasses even the dramatic excellence of the original stage play. "The Bought and Paid For" is a musical comedy stars, is the other big feature. Coming Thursday, Eugene O'Brien in "Channing of the Northwest."

FOX HOME IN DRACUT BURNED

Because of the lack of water facilities, the home of Stanley Fox on Marsh Hill, Dracut, was burned to the ground last evening at about 9:30 o'clock. A roof as the fire was discovered an alarm was sent in and companies from the Centre, Navy Yard and Kenwood responded, but although the fire fighters were on the premises, they were unable to cope with the flames because of the lack of water.

WAS DROWNED IN SHAWSHOEN RIVER

Frank O'Brien, aged 20 and residing at Somerville, was drowned while bathing in the Shawshoan river, Bedford, just over the Billerica line Saturday. The young man, who with a number of companions, was on his way to a camp at Nutting's lake, went in for a dip at Bedford. He dived into the water, but failed to come to the surface. His companions made every effort to locate him, but were unsuccessful and they notified the Bedford police. The body was recovered later by a man named Martin. The remains were sent to Somerville.

LABOR WRECKERS ATTACK OFFICER

Chicago Policeman Hurlled
From Third Story Window
—Ankle Fractured

More Indictments by County
Grand Jury Expected
Today

CHICAGO, May 22.—An attack on a policeman who was hurled from a third-story window of a building, was the principal development in the labor war. Additional indictments were expected to be returned by the county grand jury.

James Mullen, 45, was the patrolman thrown from the building, which was being erected under the Landis wage award. Three men believed by police to be "labor wreckers" attacked the officer. He suffered a fractured ankle, spinal and possibly internal injuries.

DIVORCES ARE GRANTED

Spring Term of Superior
Court Without Juries
Opened Here Today

The spring term of the superior court without juries opened this morning at the courthouse in Gorham street with Justice Franklin T. Hammond on the bench. The entire day was taken up with divorce cases and it was announced that motions and law cases will be heard tomorrow. The court's sitting in this city will last two weeks.

At the opening of the court Clerk Putnam called out the various cases on the court calendar and during the forenoon session dozens of cases were granted in the following uncontested cases:

Emma J. Reaney, Billerica, vs. Oscar J. Reaney, Lincoln, Me., cruel and abusive treatment.

Margaret Murphy, Lowell, vs. Thomas F. Murphy, whereabouts unknown, desertion.

Maria Zdanoski, Lowell, vs. Antoni Zdanoski, Lublin, Poland, desertion.

Custody of minor child to libellant, Walter S. Brewster, Lowell, vs. Ida R. Brewster, Lawrence, desertion.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON

Big Crowd Hears World-
Renowned Reformer at
Local Church

A monster meeting in the interests of world-wide prohibition, with William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson as the central figure, was held at the First Congregational church last evening. Every seat in the auditorium and balcony was occupied and at least 200 men and women stood in the rear of the church to enjoy a most unusual and interesting program. Evidently physically tired as the result of continuous campaigning, bearing the scars of battle, but still mentally active and as keen for his work as ever, "Pussyfoot" was the magnet that brought to the First Church one of its largest gatherings. It was not a meeting, however, that was given over wholly to Mr. Johnson, for, in fact, he spoke but a comparatively brief length of time. It took on the aspect and appearance of a rally in the cause of temperance, not only in Lowell, or in Massachusetts, or in the United States, but world-wide in scope, the goal being sought now by leaders of the prohibition movement, with America as the inspirational leader.

With Mr. Johnson was Rev. Dr. Morrill of Detroit, who specializes in growing interest in the financial side of the movement and he does it well. A little bit on the order of Rev. Billie Sunday, he is an earnest, convincing speaker and his efforts last night doubtless resulted in several hundred pledges of substantial aid to the cause.

The meeting had as its presiding officer, Samuel H. Thompson, head of the local branch of the anti-saloon league and for years actively identified with the fight to secure prohibition in this country. He spoke at length upon the fight that was necessary before the Volstead act became the 18th constitutional amendment and said that prohibition now here, is here to stay.

If the big audience expected to hear Mr. Johnson roar out a challenge to the forces of evil and launch a two-front attack upon the opponents of world-wide prohibition, it was disappointed, for he confined himself entirely to a story of his recent campaign in India and barely touched upon his London experiences, during which he suffered the loss of his left eye in a fracas that made him an international figure.

His tale of the great country of India, with its teeming millions of people—one-fifth of the entire population of the world—was intensely interesting, but hardly dynamic. He said that the goal surely will be reached if men and women everywhere rally to the standard set by the organizations that are heart and soul in the fight and he etched a mental picture of the day's dawning when the sun will shine down upon a drinkless world.

The meeting was enhanced by a splendid program of music given by the augmented church choir, under the leadership of Harry Hopkins, with Miss Ella L. Gale at the organ.

THE REINSTATEMENT OF REDMOND WELCH

The city council Saturday night voted that the charges preferred against Redmond Welch by Mayor George H. Brown when he removed him from office on Jan. 3 were insufficient and subsequently reinstated him to the office of superintendent of police.

The discussions, deliberations and legal entanglements of more than four months were settled in less than seven minutes and left no doubt as to the feeling of the council in the matter of Welch's removal and the temporary incumbency of W. C. MacBrayne.

The council took two votes. The first was on the question: "Does the council deem the reasons given by the mayor in his removal of Redmond Welch sufficient?" and the roll call showed 12 councilors being recorded as voting "no" and three as voting "yes."

Voting that the mayor's charges should be sustained were Councilors Chadwick, Genest and McMeniman. Albert S. Howard, counsel for Mr. Welch, then suggested that the council take a vote on the matter of reinstatement. This was done and the vote was unanimous, even Councilors Chadwick, Genest and McMeniman falling into line.

The city clerk was instructed to notify the mayor, Welch and MacBrayne immediately of the council's action.

Welch Approves Uniforms

Continued
ment, the men of the department are to furnish their own trousers and pay one-half of the cost of the blouse.

Policies to Be Continued
Commenting upon the conference, Mayor Brown said it was "most favorable and congenial," and added that "everything is all right."

"The policy of the department as carried out during the past four months will be continued," Chief Welch, stated the mayor, "and I know he will prosecute any infractions of the liquor law to the limit."

The conference continued for about three-quarters of an hour and at its close, the present and past superintendents stepped out together, with "Come on, chief," from Mr. MacBrayne and a "All right, Wm." from Mr. Welch.

When questioned as to whether or not Supt. Welch is back in the department to stay, the mayor said that as far as he knew, he was back on the job and that everything would proceed smoothly.

Albert S. Howard, counsel for Mr. Welch, was asked as to whether the chief would seek any compensation for the time lost in the office and also whether there was any truth in the rumor that the superintendent would apply for a retirement pension.

Mr. Howard's reply was to the effect that he knew nothing whatever about either matter and now that Mr. Welch was back in office, his Mr. Howard's work was over.

Question of Salary
One thing definitely has been settled according to City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney, which is, that the city will not take the initiative in paying Supt. Welch any back salary and that his name will not appear on the June salary payroll except for an amount equal to his service, dating from May 22, today.

It was said today in one or two quarters that Supt. Welch might appeal to the city council to vote that he should be paid for time lost in the office, but it was brought out that the mayor would not approve any payroll which carried such an entry.

Glad to Be Back

"It feels fine to be back here and I'm very much pleased," was Supt. of Police Redmond Welch's reply to the many queries he received from friends this morning. This is the first day he has officially been at his desk since Jan. 3, when he was ousted on an order of Mayor Brown, who preferred charges against him.

The superintendent doesn't contemplate any changes in the present running of the department. He said that he would allow things to go on as they have been in the past, and that he would make changes only when he deemed them necessary.

After the day shift lined up for roll-call this morning, the chief came before the men and made a short address. He complimented the force upon its good work in the past and said that the department had always given a good account of itself. He expressed the hope that the department would continue to function in the same old way and that the men would be loyal to their duty. He also asked the co-operation of every man on duty to aid him in maintaining law and order in this city. He cited one or two examples of the fine work done in the past by the force and brought out the incident of the capture, several years ago, of a band of New York "gangsters" which visited Lowell.

Aerial Demonstration

With the greatest aerial ever used in this section, and a set of unusual power, the most interesting radio demonstration of the season will be given at Merrimack park tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

The instrument to be used has been set up previously in a different location, where it was in nightly communication with Pittsburgh and Chicago, the latter station being far too distant for the average set to listen in. As set up at the park tomorrow evening, the instrument will have the added advantage of enormous aerials, strong from the top of the roller coaster to the roof of the dance pavilion. The great hope of the trained operator in charge of the set is that weather conditions will permit the concert by Chicago's most famous orchestra, Frank Westphal's Rainbow Garden aggregation, to be heard.

This concert is to be sent out by the Chicago broadcasting station. The legion set is equipped with a half dozen head sets, for the edification of the fans, as well as the largest tone amplifier or reproducing horn obtainable. This horn is 24 inches in diameter.

RADIO PRIMER
Plate—A wire or metal plate in a radio vacuum tube which receives the rectified current coming through the grid and passes it on to the telephone head receivers. A battery of about 22½ volts charges the plate with positive electricity so as to attract the negative electrons from the filament.

CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET

Meeting of Catholic Women's League—Mrs. Donehue Re-elected President

Chief among the matters of business accomplished at the meeting of the League of Catholic Women yesterday afternoon in Associate hall was the re-election of Mrs. J. T. Donehue as president. Many of her faithful co-officers for the past year were also chosen for another term in office. Great progress in the affairs of the league was manifested in the reports submitted. Opening with the singing of May hymns and selections by the league orchestra, announcement was made of the death since the last meeting of three members, Mrs. Bridget Crane, Mrs. James Shea, and Miss Rose Castles. The customary observance of respect for the dead followed. Proceeding to the balloting for officers, the ballots were passed around the hall by the nominating committee, Miss Elizabeth O'Connor, chairman. Mrs. Donehue called for reports of officers and committees while the balloting was under way. Mrs. John J. Sullivan, chairman of the educational committee, gave an interesting report. She told in detail the progress of the classes under the committee's supervision; classes in millinery, dressmaking, music appreciation, arts and crafts, elementary English and others. The recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders, read her report for the year, covering the season's activities in a most thorough manner. Mrs. David Mahoney, chairman of the membership committee, gave an illuminating report on the increase made during the year. She stated that 784 new members had been admitted, 33 had left town, nine have taken religious vows and 19 have died, leaving a net increase to the local membership of 622; a good-sized organization in itself. Miss Mary Lane of the civics committee submitted a very satisfactory and encouraging report, and Miss Mary Lane, treasurer, reported a very substantial increase in the league's funds. The result of the balloting was then announced, with the following elected to office: President, Mrs. John T. Donehue; first vice-president, Dr. Emma Young Slaughter; second vice-president, Mrs. James McKenna; recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara I. Farrington; treasurer, Miss Mary D. Long; directors for three years, Mrs. Martin Maher, Miss Jennie Cronin, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey, Miss Rose McVoy, Mrs. Andrew Barrett, Miss Julia Reardon, Miss Alice Reagan; nominating committee, Miss Cora McGauvran, Mrs. Joseph Crawford, Miss Louise McOsker, Miss Anna McHugh, Miss Carmen Rediker. After the results had been announced Mrs. Donehue accepted the presidency in most gracious vein, extending thanks to officers and committees for their share in the work which had made the league season so successful. She was followed by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, at the mothers and guardians of young Catholic girls and women, reminding them of the mode of dress affected at the present time. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of a Te Deum by the assembly.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER

Boy Slain and Mother Fatally Attacked—Murderer Found Asleep After Crime

BOSTON, May 22.—One of the most brutal and cold-blooded murders that has come to the attention of the police for some time was committed early yesterday morning, in Cambridge, when George Hosteen, 49, colored, a lodger, at 133 Erie street, crushed in the skull of Albert Hambray, 15, also colored, with a hatchet while the boy was sleeping in bed, and then, with an axe, battered the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Bemby, 40, so badly that little hope is held for her recovery.

After his awful crime, Hosteen, who the police say has made a complete confession, went to bed. He was sleeping soundly when the police arrived at the house at 6:30 a.m. and placed him under arrest.

Report on Unemployment

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Reports from representative establishments in 12 manufacturing industries show a decrease in the number of employed in eight industries and an increase of four in April, as compared with the preceding month, according to figures announced today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. The four industries showing an increase were iron and steel, 6.8 per cent; automobiles 6.3 per cent; car building and repairing, 0.1 per cent; hosiery and underwear, 0.1 per cent. Those showing the heaviest decreases were cotton finishing, 15 per cent, and men's clothing 10 per cent.

Picketing Heavier Today in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Picketing was heavier than usual today near the Acadia, Upper Pacific and Monomac mills but there were no disturbances, the crowds being orderly. The ninth week of the local textile strike opened this morning. With the exception of a special meeting of the employees of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills, called for today, no conferences which might tend to bring the mill men and employees together, have been arranged as far as known. The purpose of the Patchogue-Plymouth mill employees' meeting has not been made public.

Hall Leads Gov. Olcott by 208 Votes

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—On the basis of complete returns from 16 counties and incomplete returns from 20 counties, Charles Hall early today led Gov. Olcott by 208 votes for the republican nomination for governor. The official count probably will be necessary to determine the winner. The vote so far compiled stands: Hall 41,692; Olcott 41,664. Widespread interest was aroused in the result of this contest because of the Ku Klux Klan issue. Gov. Olcott vigorously assailed the clan.

THE TROUBLE WITH ADVERTISEMENTS

Is that the Exploiter, whether he is advertising worthless Oil or Mining Stocks, or worthless Furniture or good Furniture at exorbitant prices, or misrepresenting anything, can

Advertise Not Only as Well, But Far More Cleverly Than the Legitimate Dealer

Because whatever he advertises is all profit or such a large part of the sale price is profit that he can employ professional illustrators and ad writers at big salaries, takes large space in newspapers. He is not bound by any ethic of the trade, to deceive the public is his game, he knows Barnum was right and he cashes in on it.

The Legitimate Dealer Is Handicapped

In meeting such competition. He does business under his own name, he has a certain dignity to uphold. He can not come down to the ethics of the faker. He is proud of his city and his store, proud of his methods, proud of the fact that a child can come to his store and buy a whole outfit of a home as cheap, and he as well served as the parents, he would not do an unfair or inconsiderate thing under any condition.

He does not make anything and everything serve as an excuse for a "Sale" and advertise that he is selling at less than cost right along (and getting rich at it). His system of credit is based on a desire to be of service, and not on an opportunity to exploit. He is in no hurry to get rich. He counts on the volume of his business to grow larger and larger till it becomes profitable. Knowing that the old maxim that "He profits most who serves best" is true. It has taken 33 years to build this business up to where it is. But it is built solid.

Once a customer, always a customer. We will give you no reason to change. No one else can give you better reason to change in the quality or in the price of goods, or in the service we give you.

PRESENTS BILL FOR AUDITORIUM WORK

William Drapau has presented his bill for work on the Memorial Auditorium, amounting to just $50,000. The bill carries the approval of Architect C. H. Blackall and the signatures of all members of the auditorium commission, including the mayor, as member ex-officio. The statement of the bill shows that on the contract and not extra to date, $789,857.55 worth of obligations have been incurred, but $18,351.52 is being reserved for the completion of the building, leaving a total of $771,506.03. Previous payments to Contractor Drapau total $721,185.55, leaving $50,000, the amount of the bill now at hand. The bill now goes to the budget and audit commission for approval.

MAYOR TALKS ON PAVING WORK

Mayor George H. Brown this noon intimated that there would not be any sheet asphalt or asphaltic concrete paving done this year, despite the elaborate plans laid out by City Engineer Stephen Kearney and approved by the board of public service.

When inquiry was made of the mayor as to whether or not anything definite had been decided relative to the award of a contract for sheet asphalt, he replied that he had asked the paving agent and the city collector for recommendations, but had not received any as yet.

"I do not know what will be done," said the mayor, "but as things stand now I am not sure that the contract will go to any company. I think that we will not do any asphalt road work this summer, but instead concentrate upon other types of paving."

Last week the board of public service, after a number of conferences with representatives of the East Engineering company, recommended the mayor that the contract be awarded to the Thomas & Murphy Co., second lowest bidder both times proposals were opened.

The city engineer is all ready to begin the excavating of Westford street, between Loring and Winter streets, but unless something definite is decided shortly, it will be too late to attempt to do asphaltic work this year.

GENERAL ORDERS

Program For Memorial Day Observance Outlined by Commander of Post 185, G.A.R.

Members of Land and Whitney Post, 185, G.A.R., found the 10 o'clock services at the Calvary Baptist Church next Sunday. In the afternoon they will meet at their headquarters at 300 Essex street, preparatory to attending the joint service at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational church.

General orders No. 1 issued by the post are as follows:

The post will assemble at its headquarters Tuesday morning, May 30, at 8 o'clock and proceed to the Lowell cemetery and at the close of the exercises will go direct to Tewksbury, assisting that town in its memorial services. After the services at cemetery, post will march to town hall, where appropriate services will be held, after which a dinner will be served by the ladies of the church. After dinner comrades will return to headquarters by automobile. Officer of Guard A. J. Blahy will assist Capt. Garby in assigning comrades to their automobiles.

The post will assemble at 2.30 p. m. at headquarters and at 3 o'clock, 42 and 120, "fall in" with them, reporting to the chief marshal on the South common. At the close of the parade and reviews when comrades will return to the First Universalist church, Hurd street, where we are to be guests of the Sons of Veterans.

Comrades eligible to march are urged to ride, if their health will permit on Memorial Day afternoon. Notify the adjutant, if you will go on or before the 20th instant as he may know how many carriages to order. We must know how many to order by that date. Carriages with veterans' license these headquarters at 12.30 to assist the Sons of Veterans at the Hildreth cemetery.

As far as possible wear full uniform upon all occasions—blouse, hat, belt and gloves; the officers their side arms for parade only. Every veteran should consider his duty to attend as many of these exercises as his health will permit, whether in uniform or not. We need you. The uniform is of secondary importance. A few uniforms can be furnished to comrades at headquarters.

All war veterans are invited to join with us in these services under the same conditions as members of the post.

Let the few of us that the day finds able turn out and make this day memorable.

The detail of comrades is as follows: Captain, George C. Galt, in command of company; Bugler, George E. Bryant; officer of the day, C. M. Blahy; officer of guard, A. J. Blahy; color sergeant, J. J. Keenan; color guard, E. N. Morrill, C. E. Chase, Reuben Salts, L. van Steinberg.

Every scout who's going to march
On Decoration Day
Knows that he must have good shoes,
That are right in every way.
So when you get your "boy scout" shoes,
Be sure of perfect fit;
You can have tired feet, and keep right on,
But blisters will make you quit.

GUILBAULT PIANOFORTE ACADEMY CONCERT

About 500 people attended the annual concert of the Guilbault Pianoforte Academy, which was held in Colonial hall, Middle street, last evening. The affair was given under the personal direction of Prof. L. N. Guilbault, who was assisted by Miss Alice Renaud, Miss Bertha Brodeur and Eugene Guilbault, assistant teachers at the academy.

Assisting the pupils of the academy were Mrs. Henri A. Archambault, who rendered several pleasing vocal selections and Mr. Bernard Knopf, whose violin numbers added materially to the enjoyment of the program. At the close of the concert there were brief addresses by Prof. Guilbault, Bishop Henri da Silva and Mayor Brown. Andre Savard was awarded the first prize for progress, a gold medal, while several other pupils also received valuable prizes, the distribution being made by Bishop da Silva.

Those who took part in the program were Emma Lambert, Gerard Landry, Loretta Williamson, Cecile Dion, Jeanette Drouin, Yvonne Dubois, Annette Millette, Alice Lefebvre, Jeanette Langlois, Beatrice St. Jean, Alice Nolet, Anna Caynaugh, Victor Lambert, Arthur Beaumier, Corinne Desrochers, Alice Lamontagne, Laurent Boucher, Stephanie Urbanek, Pamela York, Joseph Gagne, Alce, Lemire, Louis Stette, Bertha Desmarais, Andre Savard, Eva Lefebvre, Victor Hamel, Blanche Massicotte, Laura Arvisais, Real Bolduc, Laurier Sanscartier, Irene Guerin, Gilbert Dallaire, Annette Lapointe, Gerard Pelletier, Marie Ange Trolier, Albert Vincent, Juliette Nadeau, Roland Blodreau, Marion Muller, Margaret Ash, Flora Isabelle, Annette Chaput, Juliette Vandenbergue, Juliette Goulet, Laura Drouin, Leona Rivet, Florida Marchand and Frank Redding.

HOME OF COLUMBUS, GA., MAYOR BOMBED

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 22.—Commissioners of Muscogee county today placed the entire resources of the county at the disposal of Columbus authorities in an effort to arrest those responsible for bombing the home of Mayor J. Homer Dinon. The bomb wrecked a portion of the mayor's home yesterday, but without injury to any member of the family. The attempt on the life of the mayor was attributed by city officials to persons who recently have addressed threatening letters to him and to H. Gordon Hinkle, city manager. These letters contained strong objections to the commission form of government and declared that unless Mayor Dinon discharging the city manager, both would be killed. Hinkle was attacked on the street near his home, several weeks ago.

New Basis of Pay for Army and Navy

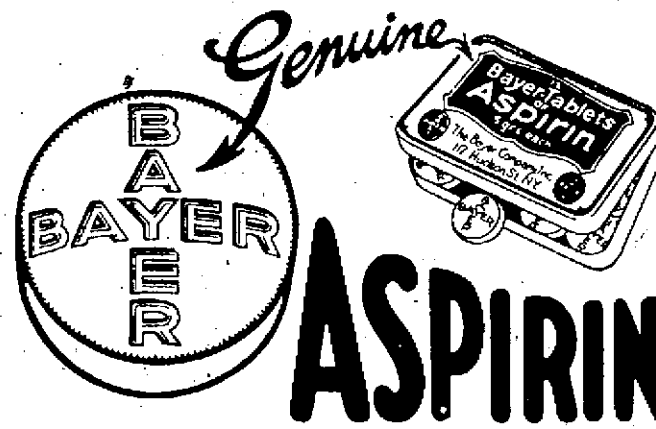

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The senate today passed after only brief debate the house bill fixing a new basis of pay for officers and enlisted personnel of the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard, coast and geodetic survey, and the public health service. Two amendments were added and the measure now goes to conference with the house for adjustment of the differences.

Italian Troops Launch Big Offensive

MALTA, May 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Reports were received here today from Tripoli that Italian troops were carrying out a great offensive against the rebel Arabs in Tripolitania, where revolutionary activities broke out in March. The Italians, according to report reaching here, are using a considerable number of bombing airplanes and have inflicted heavy losses upon the enemy.

Mrs. Valentino Reaches New York

NEW YORK, May 22.—Mrs. Rudolph Valentino arrived last night. She left her train at Newark, N. SHALL WE ASSIST?

There may be diverse views in regard to what has been accomplished by the Genoa conference; but a reading of Lloyd George's closing address, will indicate that the coming together of so many nations for the purpose of considering their mutual welfare and planning for a policy of peace must result in a vast step forward toward the economic restoration of Europe and an overpowering prejudice against war.

The conference adopted a peace pact that will undoubtedly preserve Europe from any military outbreak during the time specified. It will be observed that a great many subjects were discussed at length without reaching any final conclusion. That is why an adjournment has been made to The Hague where the conference will be resumed on June 15.

The chief stumbling block in reaching general conclusions, was the attitude of Russia in persistently injecting her socialistic policies and claiming recognition on terms of equality with other nations. She has been informed on various occasions and in very precise terms, that the soviet principles of the present regime cannot be reconciled with the present system of European civilization. In his speech Lloyd George spoke some very plain words for the benefit of Russia; so that they may be duly digested before the time for The Hague meeting. The first point he emphasized was that if you sell goods to a man you expect to be paid for them; the second, that if you lend money to a man and he promises to repay you, you expect that he will keep his word; the third, that if you go to a man who has already lent you money and ask for another loan, he will naturally inquire whether you propose to pay what you already owe; and if you answer in the negative, you cannot expect that he will grant your request. These points were all directed at the attitude of Russia in regard to the repudiation of her debts and the general feeling that Russia promise to pay is unreliable. Russia must prove that her word is reliable, that she will pay her debts and she must do this before she can receive any extended credit or assistance from the other powers.

It is reasonably certain that but for the attitude of Russia and Germany, the Genoa conference would have accomplished practically all it had planned for the benefit of Europe. In order that some of the greater difficulties may yet be overcome, the conference has appealed to the United States to participate in the work of the commission to investigate what can be done in regard to Russia. There is little reason to believe that the United States would suffer any loss of prestige or become dangerously entangled by assisting in this particular work of dealing with the problem relating to Russia.

The appeal to the United States has been made with such great earnestness that it is quite likely that the invitation will be accepted and that we shall assist in settling the difficulties that seemed insuperable to the Genoa conference.

THE 12-HOUR DAY

President Harding, the other day, had several of the steel magnates of the country dine with him at the White House and it is understood that his aim in bringing them there was to induce them to drop the twelve-hour day.

To most people in these parts, it will appear strange that any craft should have to work twelve hours a day. The steel industry especially is one of the most severe in the country, owing to the intense heat, the heavy lifting and the general working conditions. If the nature of the industry makes it necessary to have certain operations maintained continuously, then there should be three daily shifts instead of two. It is understood that a number of the steel companies have already made this arrangement; but the United States Steel company still persists in working its employees in two shifts for the twenty-four hours. Twelve hours a day in a steel factory under a temperature in which the men can wear very little clothing, must be an extremely wearing ordeal. It is actually cruel to ask men to undergo such a severe strain upon their endurance and their vitality.

Yet thousands of them are doing that today and have done for years. Nevertheless, great surprise is expressed when any labor trouble arises in the works of the United States Steel corporation, where, in addition to long hours the pay is below the average for such workmen.

It is time the twelve-hour day were abolished, time that no working day in any industry requiring vigorous physical or mental exertion, should be more than nine hours and the present tendency is toward the eight-hour day for all industries.

The great trouble is, that there is no uniformity in hours of labor in the various states, some limiting the working day to eight hours and others legalizing the ten or eleven-hour day. The state that permits a twelve-hour day is a rare exception and must have little regard for the welfare of the working classes. It is in Pennsylvania that this abuse of the working people exists; and the United States Steel Corporation, one of the most powerful in the world, is the chief offender.

country had overlooked for years and he will have earned the gratitude of labor hosts throughout the land.

A SIGN OF SUMMER

Word comes from the Hub in a little news dispatch tucked away in a corner of a metropolitan newspaper, to the effect that the Boston floating hospital, which has been in winter quarters between the Charlestown bridges, has been moved to the Atlantic works in East Boston, where she has been hauled out on the marine railway for underwater scraping and painting. Upon the completion of this work she will go to her regular berth at the North End park, there to be outfitted and prepared for commission. Next month the vessel will begin regular trips, taking sick babies and their mothers on trips down the harbor.

Givers of funds to this worthy cause—and they are many—will be glad to know that "Cap'n" Bill Gove will continue in command of this vessel of mercy. "Cap'n" Gove knows the "North Enders" and the children love him. The floating hospital trips are supported entirely by the charitable inclined, and special "days" are set aside and named for those who contribute liberally toward the expenses. It is a splendid cause, one that has saved many babies' lives, and will, of course, be as generously supported this year as in years past.

It is pleasing to record also that more than one Lowell business man and matron have contributed to this method of saving of children's lives. Would that the old Merrimack were navigable, so that similar health excursions could leave here daily or on week-end boating from the sweltering heat of the city the little children and their mothers on a delightful outing from Lowell to the sea. Time was when we had a steamer on the upper Merrimack plying between the falls and Tyngs Island; but even those good old days are gone and Captain Prentiss and his "May Queen" are seen no more. But the time will come when the Merrimack will be developed as a waterway for pleasure, trade and commerce, despite the adverse reports of the engineers.

THE PRESIDENT'S WORD

President Harding, during the past few days, has been trying to do some things that would prove highly beneficial to the entire country. Speaking before the chamber of commerce of the United States, he tried to reassure the people of this nation by declaring that at this very moment the country is on the threshold of a new era of business activity and general prosperity.

There is little doubt that this is the fact and the acceptance of the president's assurance on this point by those who are inclined to doubt and hesitate will do much to hasten the realization of that prediction.

America is the most favored land in all the world although it suffers to a great extent from the impoverished condition of the European countries, but despite every obstacle, conditions here are immeasurably better than in Europe; and we are assured that the indications are unmistakable that as President Harding says, we are on the eve of a new era of industrial prosperity. Let the pessimists take notice and prepare to put on a pleasant smile at the dawn of the new day in which every factory and every workshop will require active work with all hands employed, all strikes settled and nobody who wants work found walking the streets.

GETTING RESULTS

Controversies over city street contracts arise from many causes. The lowest bidder does not always secure the job. Competent engineers who perform their work faithfully and honestly, however, know what ought to be done in the construction of new highways.

If contracts are let to responsible parties, the price being agreed upon in advance, there is no necessity of squabbling over the work if it is done according to specifications.

In the cities of Worcester, Springfield and Hartford, for instance, after road contracts are let and work started, the construction is daily under the supervision of expert inspectors who are always "on the job."

We believe that when a highway contract is awarded after a satisfactory price has been agreed upon, the construction work should be constantly inspected by men who know what the city demands and what the contract calls for. In no other way will the city receive what it pays for when it lets contracts for street work. Engineer Kearney, however, will see that the specifications are followed to the letter.

SUPT. WELCH'S RETURN

According to the court decision, the mayor proceeded legally in removing Supt. Welch; but according to the city council, the council thus legally ordered for suspension or removal of the superintendent were insufficient. Therefore, the removal was invalid. During the interim between removal and reinstatement, the superintendent was not in the employ of the city and hence, according to some legal authorities, he has no claim for salary for that period. It would be well to have an understanding on this point so that the city will not at any time have to pay two officials for filling the same office.

ready in progress. The continued slaughter of Catholics in Belfast is simply deplorable and there seems to be no government authority to interfere. It is to be hoped the elections will be held as announced on June 11, so as to let the people decide whether they want the treaty as offered.

Now that the mandamus case has been disposed of, it is in order to start a quo warranto suit so as to keep the city before the courts most of the time. Some of our officials seem to think that such notoriety is beneficial.

The main thing Lowell needs is a settlement of her labor troubles. That statement from Secretary Davis published in Saturday's Sun should be heeded by manufacturers.

Judge Enright's new ruling indicates that in order to secure a conviction in a liquor case, traffic must be proved. No man should be convicted on suspicion.

The local mill strikers are scattering to other cities, being unable to await the settlement of the local trouble. Thus the skilled operatives are leaving Lowell.

Dr. Steinhilber insists that the radio-telephone will never adequately take the place of the telephone, but he cannot take the joy out of the wireless fan's lives by saying that.

The Springfield man who gave swindlers $2500 to "hold" for him until they returned, must still have his eye teeth.

Boston is to have an airplane landing—no airport. So shall we by and by.

Time to start that garden weeding all over again—and keep at it.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is probable that the fellow employees of George Cummings on the B. & M. shifter which operates in the vicinity of Dutton street, will apply to the Carnegie hero medal commission for a medal for the young man, who at the risk of his own life a few days ago saved the life of Theodore Radzki, a five-year-old boy residing at 121 Suffolk street. Cummings, who is a brakeman on the shifter, heard the shouts of the lad, who was struggling for his life in the waters of the canal in Dutton street. Without hesitating a moment he cast off his coat and dived into the canal and swam to the boy's rescue. The current at that particular point is very swift, as it carries the water on a rapid pace to the falls in the yard of the Saco-Lowell shops, and the young Cummings' companions saw him dive into the water. They feared that he would be unable to swim back up stream. Some of the brakemen rushed to the banks of the canal to lend a helping hand, but much to their astonishment they saw George grab the lad under one arm and swim across the stream, leaving the other hand as free as a bird. The railroad boys are unanimous in saying that Cummings should be rewarded for his heroic deed and it is said they will bring the matter to the attention of the Carnegie commission.

I have been informed that another attempt will be made to have the shifter widened at its junction with Hall street, one of the most dangerous corners in the city. The abolition of that dangerous corner has been the topic of discussion for years, but so far the talk has accomplished nothing. Numerous petitions have been filed with the city council on various occasions, and as a rule the filing of the petition was followed by a visit to the premises by the city fathers. Then the petition was pigeon-holed and that was the end of it until the matter was again taken up by some other interested party. The information that Councilman Chatham is soon to bring the matter to the attention of the council and he will do his utmost to have something done.

It matters not whether the wooden shingle roof on your home is still in good condition, it will have to disappear not later than Aug. 1, 1923, to be replaced by a fireproof roof approved by the fire underwriters. This in substance is an amendment to the building law, which was approved May 7, 1923. With the amendment was approved it was argued that wooden shingles were a menace and often-times were the cause of disastrous fires, and it was after the matter had been thoroughly discussed by the city fathers that the new law was placed. Since the amendment was approved, it permits the construction of a new wooden shingle roof to be given out by the superintendent of public buildings, although in some cases permits for repairs have been issued. In 1922 the inspector of public buildings will notify the owners of buildings having wooden shingle roofs to remove or cover the shingles or replace them with a fireproof covering. The amendment reads in part as follows:

On or before August 1, 1923, every existing roof within the city limits not having a covering strictly in accordance with roof ordinances No. 1 and No. 2, section 4 of a shall, without regard to its physical condition, be entirely recovered with new material as required by said roof ordinances and the building inspector shall notify the parties who have not complied with said roof ordinances at least one year before the said time shall expire.

The first long-distance delivery of fresh farm products by airplane takes place in the east. Half a ton of fresh asparagus is carried to the Boston market from New Jersey farms. This little item will seem more important a generation from now when historians begin tracing the development of the enormous airplane traffic in freight and express, which is coming just as surely as death and taxes.

SEEN AND HEARD

Thought for Today

If the question were raised, is man made for toil or for rest? the answer would be a mixed and qualified one. He is appointed to toil; he is destined to rest; one is his condition; the other is his end. If man is made in God's image, he is made to share God's condition.—T. T. Munger.

A Word a Day

Today's word is insidious. It is pronounced in-sid-i-us with accent on the second syllable. It means characterized by treachery and deceit. Full of plots intended to entrap. It comes from Latin "insidiosus," an ambush. It's used like this—"The federal supreme court, while expressing sympathy with those who oppose child labor, says its suppression through unconstitutional legislation would be an insidious practice."

Unusual Folk

The Rev. J. Ralph Roberts of the Third Christian church of Memphis, Tenn., is an ardent fan of baseball. He is a self-defense and religion there's nothing conflicting, he says. He organized the Glad Hand club, which has about 40 members and a boxing instructor. He promoted a series of sparring matches recently. He refused to take money, pulled them off the Third Christian church basement. They were for the benefit of an orphanage the church has founded. "There ought," he says, "to be a national boxing commission, with a man like Judge Landis at the head of it."

Orders From Headquarters

"Shall we take a little bungalow by the sea for this summer like we had last year?" asked the South Brooklyn husband. "No, we shan't," snipped his wife. "I'm not going to cook three meals a day, pump water, wash, and wash and wash handkerchiefs in a tin pail just for the privilege of looking on an old ocean and sniffing salt air so damp that it takes all the bobs out of my hair. No, sir! This year you are going to make me some place where someone else prepares the cats; where I can rest on the piazza, all dressed up, and can go motoring. Then I can go home rested and not looking like a red Indian with rheumatism." And all he said was, "Very well, dear."—Brooklyn Standard.

An Unusual Guest

Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, at a dinner on his yacht Remola, told a story. "What was true of the Civil war will be true of the World war some day," he began. "In a hotel smoking room back in the day, a number of veterans got into a dispute over their main battle. The veterans—all men of high rank—argued very turbulently. But a quiet man spoke up and said: 'Gentlemen, I happened to be there at that engagement, and I think I can settle the point at issue.' And he settled it. He asked to him when he got through: 'My dear sir, what may have been your rank in the army?' 'I was a private, sir, a full private, sir,' was the calm reply. A short time afterward the full private asked for his bill and the proprietor said to him: 'Not a penny, sir! Not a penny! You owe me nothing.' 'Why, how is that?' the other demanded in bewilderment. 'You couldn't dream of charging you, sir,' said the proprietor warmly. 'You are the first private I have ever met!'

To the Fellow Who Will Take My Place

Here is a toast that I want to give to a fellow who'll never know: Go to the fellow who's going to take my place. When it's time for me to go, I've wondered what kind of a chap I'll be. And I've wished I could take his hand, Just to whisper, "I wish you well, old man." In a way that he'd understand.

I'd like to give him the cheering word. That I've longed at times to hear; I'd like to give him the warm hand-clasp. When I've never a friend seemed near. What I've learned of this world has been by his work. And I've wished I could pass it on. To the fellow who'll come to take my place. Some day, when I am gone.

Will he see all the sad mistakes I've made? And note all the battles lost? Will he ever guess the tears they caused, Or the heartaches which they cost? Will he hear through the failures and fruitless toil Of the plans that I've worked on. And catch a glimpse of the real intent And the heart of the man who's gone?

I dare to hope he may pause some day, As he toils as I have wrought, And gain some strength for his weary task. From the battles I have fought. But I've only the task left to leave. With the cares for him to face. And never a cheering word may speak To the fellow who'll take my place.

So here's to your health and hopes, Old chap. I drink a bridegroom to his bride; I'll leave an unfinished task for you. But God knows how I've tried, I've dreamed my dreams as all men.

Although only a few came true, And my prayer today is that all my dreams be realized in you. And we'll meet some day in the great Far out in the realms of space; You'll know my clasp as I take your hand. And I'll be into your face. Then perhaps all our failures will be success. In the light of the new-found dawn. So, here's to the fellow who'll take my place. In the world when I am gone. —WILLIAM THORNDEN HAYS.

BOY INJURED

BY AUTOMOBILE
Harry Downing, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Downing, of 440 Stevens street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Park and Stevens streets yesterday morning, and sustained bruises and a sprained ankle. George G. Carr was the operator of the machine, which skidded as he was passing an electric car, from behind the boy and his mother had alighted. Dr. M. P. Mahoney was called, but stated that the boy's injuries were not serious.

WILL ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL IN MAINE

Four local ex-service men, Royal K. Hayes, Joseph French, Archie MacIntyre and John L. Sullivan, leave this city May 30 for Ellsworth, Me., to attend the summer school of Boston university, under the auspices of the Veterans' bureau. The four men have been attending the College of Business Administration of B. U. for some time past. Mr. Hayes is prominent in the affairs of the University Debating club and is an officer of the school Masonic club. Mr. French is vice-president of the University Advancing club, and a member of the summer school cabinet, the student government body. Mr. MacIntyre is also prominent in school affairs and a member of the summer school baseball nine. Mr. Sullivan has just begun his studies at the university. The school sessions will last from June 1 to Sept. 1. Professor Charles E. Beatty, head of the department of advertising at B. U., is director of the school.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

A delightful entertainment, in the form of a recital, was given in St. Peter's school hall yesterday afternoon by the pupils of the school, under the auspices of the Sisters of Charity. A large crowd of parents and invited guests were in attendance and greatly enjoyed the performance of the young people. After an address of welcome by Miss Mildred Sheehan, the following program was successfully carried out: Japanese love song, Misses A. Mullin, A. Conroy, D. Cronin, D. Savage, D. Hanrahan; reading, Helina Connors; piano solo, Dorothy Cronin; Japanese scene, Misses A. Conroy, D. Hanrahan, S. Maloney; duet, Anna and Dorothy Mullin; reading, Helen McGee; reading, Louise Conroy; dance, Margaret Ward; reading, Mildred Sheehan; piano solo, Catherine Carney; pantomime, "Bells of Shandon"; piano solo, Anna Quinn; reading, Dorothy Mullin; recitation, Misses A. Mullin, A. Conroy, D. Cronin, D. Savage, Helina Connors; piano solo, Alice Botti; finale, The Star Spangled Banner.

MOTHERS' NIGHT

Mother's night to be held by the Lowell Senior and Junior Y.W.H.A. is to take place Monday night, May 22, instead of Tuesday, May 23, as originally planned. Mrs. S. Schuman, a prominent Borton attorney, who has recently been appointed to an important public office, will address the guests on a subject interesting to all. An enjoyable program has been arranged wherein the junior members will entertain.

HORSE KILLED

As a result of sustaining a broken leg when it ran away near the corner of Franklin and Willie streets, a horse valued at $300, the property of Thomas Carville, of 633 Broadway, had to be put to rest yesterday. Mr. Carville, who was driving, escaped uninjured, although thrown from the wagon. Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society was called and put an end to the animal's sufferings.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

The Flapper Parade

Each one wears a round little hat,
With a bit of tilt to the brim,
Low oxfords with heels that are flat,
A scarf with much colorful vim;
They're garbed in identical style—
You'll meet them then parading the pike,
For mile after mile after mile,
And all exactly alike.

The same kind of bob to their hair,
The same kind of rouge on their lips,
The same semi-negligent air
Of standing with hands on their hips;
They walk with the same sort of a walk
(A cross 'twist a lops and a hike),
They chatter the same sort of talk,
They all act exactly alike!

They all show the same brand of pep
And use the same species of slang,
They dance with a similar step;
And run with a similar gang;
They're snappy and laughing and dapper,
But there is no doubt we must start
To number each up-to-date flapper
In order to tell 'em apart!

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

The Boyle-Gardner bout of the other night was supposed to settle the claims of pugilistic superiority. Like the world war, it seems to have caused more confusion and has caused more confusion and has caused more confusion.

Jack Leahy, representing Boyle, decided that Boyle was the better man. He decided that Boyle was the better man. He decided that Boyle was the better man. He decided that Boyle was the better man.

When questioned relative to Boyle's left hand, Leahy said that as no bones were broken, the doctor advised him that Phiney could start training just as soon as the swelling goes down.

Jack Williams, manager of Young Nationals, who acted as his chief second, and the host of other supporters, felt that the fight was a perfect one, and to substantiate their claims, point to the fact that Boyle was the better man. Boyle was the better man. Boyle was the better man.

Particularly well pleased were the Gardner adherents, when they recalled that Friday night's fight was more than a year. He took a long rest after sustaining a defeat at the hands of Jim Sacco in Boston.

Relative to another match Williams said that Boyle was the better man. He said that Boyle was the better man. He said that Boyle was the better man.

NOVELTY BOWLING AT CRESCENT ALLEYS

Playing baseball on the alleys is an innovation introduced at the Crescent alleys today as a novelty feature. A prize will be awarded to the bowler "making the most runs" in three consecutive strings. Nine pins count one base, ten pins, two bases, a spare three bases and a strike-four bases, or a home run. Four bases will count for a run in totalling the points. Prizes will also be awarded on the other days of the week. On Tuesday for the high total on the one ball game, Wednesday, the two ball game, Thursday, the golf game, another innovation. The prize will be given to the bowler who has the highest number of holes in three rounds the prize will be awarded. BRITTON TO MEET LEONARD IN JUNE

NEW YORK, May 22.—Jack Britton, welterweight boxing champion, will be ready to defend his title with Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, recently defeated by Tex Rickard from Dan Morgan, Britton's manager. Rickard is understood to have made tentative plans as a result, to stage the contest on June 16 or 20.

Two sites were said to be under consideration. Boyle's "White" area in Jersey City, and the newly built New York Velodrome.

The only prospect for a fight in the near future, he said, was a contest with Jeanman at Michigan City, Indiana, in a short day.

Promoter Fitzsimmons talked with Dempsey while he was in Chicago yesterday and told him that Brennan had been signed for the Labor day engagement. Dempsey expressed considerable interest and said that he was ready to accept the fight. The promoter can come to terms.

If the Michigan City fight is staged, Dempsey said, he will be ready to fight with the Frenchman met last year.

Babe Ruth Puts Red Above the Green

NEW YORK, May 22.—Babe Ruth has put the red above the green. He went to bat in the first inning yesterday with a shiny green bat, a thing of real emerald beauty. He popped flies, little puny ones, in his tries in the first and third. In the fifth he walked up and the green was gone—most of it. The business end of the bludgeon had been scraped until a fine orange tinted red showed. With that he patted his first hit of the year and later helped in the making of the tying and winning runs. The green is gone forever.

DARLING HIGH SCORER YANKS LEAD IN N. E. GAMES BY 2 GAMES

Brook Darling, Amherst sophomore, and star of the Lowell high school track team for a number of seasons, was the high individual scorer in the New England intercollegiate track and field championships held Saturday on the Worcester Tech field.

BROOK DARLING

The Worcester Tech field. First place in the pole vault was his with a winning effort of 11 feet 5 1/2 inches and he just missed by the narrowest of margins in getting over 12 feet 6 inches when he tried to break Marc Wright's old record.

He took second place in the running high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 1/2 inches, while his teammate, Bob Clark, the Amherst captain was writing a new New England record, a high jump of 5 feet 10 1/2 inches. Darling's eight points comprised just half of the Amherst total of 16.

Whitaker, who was the only lead to figure in two events, he was the high individual scorer and as such was the ranking figure at the games.

Abbott worsted team victorious. In a game featured by terrific slugging the East Lynn baseball team defeated the Abbott worsted team in a 10-inning game Saturday at Ford Village by a score of 15 to 14.

At this meeting there were present Mayor Bradford, Rev. William B. Tyng, chairman of the board, and other officials of the league and representatives from each of the baseball teams in the city.

Chief of Police Goodhue said he had instructed his officers to take the names of any and all persons who sought to sell tickets or make a collection to defray the expenses of a game at all the public parks and playgrounds in this city, and that the names of those who were taken might be brought into court.

BRITTON TO MEET LEONARD IN JUNE. NEW YORK, May 22.—Jack Britton, welterweight boxing champion, will be ready to defend his title with Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, recently defeated by Tex Rickard from Dan Morgan, Britton's manager.

MILIE LENGLEN RETAINS TITLE. BRUSSELS, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.) Milie Suzanne Lenglen yesterday successfully defended her title to the International Championship, defeating Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-0.

The French girl won in rather easy fashion. M. Cochet of France, the youthful court prodigy, won the minor championship by defeating Cuban player Gomez, 6-0, 2-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Milie Lenglen and Miss Ryan won the final in the women's doubles, 6-0, 6-4, 6-0. Lenglen and Miss Ryan, both of England.

In the men's doubles Cochet and Henri, France, were victorious over William Rumeau and Dupon, France. The score was 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

5 AMERICANS COMPLETE IN BRITISH TOURNEY

PRESTWICK, England, May 22 (by the Associated Press).—Five American players were among the record field of 122 players, which began play here today for the British amateur golf championship. The weather was ideal.

The large number of entries will necessitate a whole week's play, and there were 17 matches in the first round today, the remainder being carried for tomorrow morning.

William Hunter, the present champion, is the favorite to win this year's event. Some think it likely that a dangerous contender may loom up in the person of John G. Anderson of Glasgow, who is considering a shift to have the best chance of the American entrants.

The American entrants are paired as follows by the draw: John G. Anderson, Swanton, versus Walter Weir, London; George F. Dickson, Jr., National Links, versus R. H. Fugh, Royal St. Andrews; Donald Pearson, Youngstown, O., versus Alex. Menzies, Ralston; John D. Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., versus H. B. Taylor, Mid-Surrey; G. E. Van Vleet, Jr., Pine Valley Golf club, versus A. W. S. Aldridge, Leatherhead.

LITTLE GIRL IS TAKEN FROM BROOK

Hermine Bonadini, aged 3 years and 6 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Bonadini of 41 Dunbar avenue, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Second brook, on Cambridge street, this forenoon, and it was quick action on the part of Mrs. Cyril Herbert of 62 Magnolia street, and Edmund Lamoureux of 3 Vauxhall street, that saved the little girl's life.

The little tot was playing on the banks of the brook, a short distance from the home of her parents, when she lost her footing and slipped into the water. A few minutes later, Mrs. Herbert saw the child struggling in the water and her shouts attracted the attention of the two men, who were passing at the time. The latter secured a long pole and with the assistance of Mrs. Herbert succeeded in dragging the child to shore. The child was unconscious when taken out of the water, but it was learned this afternoon that she is resting comfortably.

BURCH JURY DISCHARGED—NO VERDICT REACHED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 22.—The Burch jury was discharged today without reaching a verdict. The jury is the second to disagree on the guilt or innocence of Arthur C. Burch, in connection with the slaying of J. Nelson Kennedy, Los Angeles broker, for whose death Madeline O'Connell, sonneteer, had been tried with a jury of ladies.

Jurors said that the final ballot was 7 to 5 for acquittal. This division was unchanged since Saturday, when the jury first voted for acquittal. The case was placed on the calendar for next Saturday, to be set for a third trial.

LOWELL GAIIC TEAM VICTORIOUS

The St. Louis Gaelic football team won its second G.A.A. league game when it defeated the Kerry team of Boston at Spalding park yesterday afternoon by a score of two goals to one.

The contest was a close one and hard fought throughout. In the last part of the second half, with five minutes to play, one of the Kerry men was knocked out. He was revived soon afterwards, but he was unable to play. The game was not finished and the contest was awarded to the local team by the above mentioned score.

Fourteen players from the local team, who had been in the city for the first time, were unable to get started. Consequently the first half ended with the visitors leading by a score of 1 to 0. The local team had the wind at its back in the second half and played much better football. The score was 2 to 1 in favor of the local team.

Irish Leaders Are Summoned to 10 battalions. He said further reinforcements would be sent to any portion of Ulster that the northern government might consider necessary and that he was in consultation with the minister of the British government concerning the further issuance of arms and equipment to the police force which the northern government was organizing.

"While every endeavor will be made," he added, "to avoid measures such as the suspension of the constitution, the intention of the British government to support the government of Northern Ireland in every way necessary."

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

BOSTON, May 22.—The annual tournament for the New England intercollegiate singles and doubles tennis championships began on the courts of the Longwood Croquet club today. Dartmouth was defending the titles, both of which its players won last year. Cary Williams, Dartmouth, and M. L. Brown, Dartmouth, were the defending champions.

W. E. Howe, Jr., of Dartmouth, was elected president of the association for the year; George F. Phipps of Amherst, vice president; and W. E. Howe, Jr., of Dartmouth, secretary-treasurer, and P. T. Phipps of Amherst, new member of the executive committee.

GOLF COURSES TAXED TO LIMIT

Lowell golfers were out in large numbers on the weekend and the courses were taxed to the limit. At Vesper the first round of qualifying play for the president's cup was held. Warren Mansur and "Bill" Reilly in the lead. The former had the best net score, with the latter's 81 being the low score.

Mr. Mansur also held the first qualifying round for the president's cup competition. Agostino E. Howard shot an 81, and George F. Phipps, of Rye, with a limit handicap of 36, topped the low net score.

The best selected 12 out of 18 holes were the tournament play at Longwood. There were 32 entries and the competition was close. W. E. Howe had the best net score, closely pressed by W. D. Hagley and J. J. Ward.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY. NEW YORK, May 22.—The Women's Metropolitan Golf championship tournament started today at the New Croquet (New Jersey) Golf club. Miss Alex Stirling, former national champion, was one of the entrants. Miss Marion Hollins, present national champion, has been prevented by illness from entering, and Mrs. W. A. Gavlin, winner of the championship last year, is abroad.

BASEBALL AT GROTON. The baseball game between the Chelmsford A.A. and the Groton A.A. was played at Groton Saturday afternoon. The score was 10 to 0 in favor of the Chelmsford players.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 22.—Domestic and foreign markets were characterized by a decided lack of activity. The stock market, although the trend of prices was higher, within the first 15 minutes, gains of 1 to 3 points were scored by several of the independent stocks, notably Midvale and Republic Iron and Steel common and preferred. Italic also moved upward under lead of Atchafalpa, Chicago and Northwestern, Great Northern, Kansas City Southern, and Missouri Pacific preferred. Tobacco stocks were strongest of the specialties, United Cigar rising four points. Domestic oils were better by fractions, to one point, but the European group, including Royal Dutch, ended, Wall Street, however, was not very active. Trade reports, Montgomery Ward rising one point.

Call money's rise to 5 per cent in the final hour had little effect on the market, however, as the call money market was not very active. The closing was irregular.

LESS DRINKING BY STUDENTS

Investigators Report Big Decrease Since Enactment of 18th Amendment.

Dr. Cole Declares Character a Cure-All for the World's Troubles

BOSTON, May 22.—An investigation of drinking among college students conducted by President F. C. Southworth of the Middlebury Theological school shows that there has been a material diminution since the 18th amendment was enacted, and that in a majority of colleges canvassed drinking has practically disappeared.

Dr. Cole, who is a member of the Middlebury Theological school, made this report today to a public meeting of the Unitarian temperance society. To a questionnaire which President Southworth sent to the heads of 154 American colleges, he said he received replies from 108. "The accusation is frequent that prohibition has increased drinking among college students," President Southworth said in his letter, but the tenor of the replies he said, was overwhelmingly to the effect that there had been a marked decrease during the past three years.

Character as a cure-all for the world's troubles—political, economical, social, educational, religious—was advanced by Rev. Dr. Samuel F. Cole, president of Wheaton college in an address today at the Massachusetts Congregational Ministers' conference, one of the several meetings held as part of the Unitarian anniversary week exercises. "Character is what the home, the church and the college are solemnly called to emphasize far more than they do today if we are to be saved from our troubles," he said.

"The time has arrived for the transference of emphasis from the tools to the workman, from the symbols of power to the sources of power from the wheels to the living creature. We have institutions that cease to function, customs that cannot be enforced, laws that are blind, and a world in its blindness, lawlessness that when it supplies itself with the right tools and enough of them the right result will follow. It looks for the salvation of society in more machinery, more organization, more rules and regulations, more of what is externally favorable."

"The state cries out: 'Give me more amendments to the constitution; more laws on the state books, more officers and red tape, and I will make good citizens of you in the twinkling of an eye.' The college cries out: 'Give me more bricks and timber; more courses of study; more cartloads of books, more academic degrees and silk gowns, and I will make Christians of you in spite of yourselves.' The church cries out: 'Give me more societies and committees; more conferences and councils and conventions; more long papers on what ought to be done, and I will make Christians of you in spite of yourselves.' But the voice of wisdom is forever crying: 'Give me the likeness of a man, and after that I care very little what you give or withhold; the workman will find his tools and the work will be done.'"

"It is not the kind of tool but the kind of workman that counts; not the outward form but the animating spirit. Man was not made for institutions nor by institutions, but institutions were made for man. The individual man comes first in both importance and time."

The man who degrades his family and the drug peddler are two types of persons who will be pursued relentlessly, District Attorney Thomas C. Gillett told the Unitarian Temperance society.

Justice will be tempered with mercy, he said, but men who fall with thereby for their families in Massachusetts will feel the law.

MOSCOW PROMULGATES NEW DECREES

MOSCOW, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—New decrees which government leaders say are designed to encourage the independent capitalist reconstruction of Russia on Russian terms, have been promulgated coincidentally with the close of the Genoa conference.

The council of commissars has announced removal of the state monopoly on trade in agricultural implements and seeds, permitting private persons to buy abroad through the commissariat of foreign trade. Meanwhile the central executive committee which is now in session, passing bills legalizing private property to a certain degree, has also decided to permit inheritance by husbands or wives and direct descendants of a maximum of 5000 gold rubles. The council also is debating a project permitting ground leases up to 50 years, instead of the 36-year maximum originally intended.

The municipality of Petrograd has decided to hand over to the owners of life possessions all the smaller houses, the maximum being seven apartments. The Ukraine is turning back four mills of small capacity to the owners.

DEDICATE BELL IN HONOR OF AMERICAN

LANDRICOURT, France, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Impressive ceremonies marked the dedication here yesterday of the new church bell given to this war-torn village in honor of the American soldiers who died in the war. The bell was dedicated by the American committee for devastated France.

The ceremonies concluded with the town's 200 inhabitants passing by the bell, each tapping it with the clapper. The bell is one of 20 similar tokens given to many villages by the American committee to replace those taken by the Germans, all in memory of prominent soldiers who fell near the villages so honored.

ing, and all faced charges of drunkenness. The women, who gave the names of Alice Riley and Mary Daniels, pleaded not guilty to the charges.

While the men, who gave Charles Forget and John Leblanc as their names, pleaded guilty. The four were arrested in a house, where, according to the police, they were making a disturbance.

The women testified that Forget came into the house in a drunken condition shortly after 11 o'clock, and refused to leave. No explanation was given for Leblanc's presence. Forget admitted that he might have refused to leave, but he claimed he did not know what he was doing. He also insisted that the women each had taken two drinks. Forget was fined $10 and given three weeks to pay same. Leblanc was fined a like amount and given two weeks to pay the money. He was also told to stay in North Chelmsford, where he belonged.

Each of the women was under a five months' suspended sentence to the house of correction and was on probation. They were found guilty by the court who ordered the probation sentences revoked and ordered them committed. The cases brought against them today were filed.

John J. Fogarty, who said he lived in Waterford, pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was fined $10. He was allowed two weeks to pay the fine. He admitted being drunk in an auto here yesterday, although he said that he was only riding in the machine and not operating it.

Arman L. Menard pleaded guilty to a charge of being a common drunkard. His wife testified that she wanted a separation from Menard as he had been drunk almost continuously since the first of the year. He was held over until next Saturday in $300 for sentence.

Antonio Oesha, charged with illegal keeping, had his case continued for a week. A similar charge against William P. Reardon was continued to June 7.

LYNN MAYOR APPEALS TO STATE BOARD

LYNN, May 22.—The state board of arbitration has been asked by Mayor Harlan A. McPherson to come to this city and investigate the failure of the Lynn shoe manufacturers' association and the Allied Shoe Workers' council to come to an agreement by which the local shoe shops could resume business pending final settlement of the wage controversy.

The manufacturers want a 5 1/2-day week, with a 20 per cent reduction in wages.

The United Shoe Workers of America have agreed to place the matter before the arbitration board and to accept 15 per cent wage cut pending today, pending the final agreement, but the allied shoe workers insist on a five-day week with double time for overtime, including Saturday.

Ten of the 136 shoe factories in the city are working at the present time.

HARDING FAVORS STATE PARK MOVEMENT

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Endorsement of the state park movement is given by President Harding in a letter to John Burton Payne, as chairman of the conference committee of the second national conference on state parks, to be held at the opening sessions of the conference today, at Bear Mountain Inn, Fallades Interstate park, New York.

"The desirability, from many points of view, of establishing state parks is so obvious that there hardly need be argument on the subject," the president wrote.

"Every year of delay in creating such parks is certain to increase the expense and the difficulty of securing the most desirable kind of property; therefore, it is particularly in the public interest to have the movement urged as widely and as persistently as possible."

TO RESURFACE CENTRAL BRIDGE

The Engineering Service and Construction Co., contractors for the reconstruction of the Central bridge, have agreed to present a reasonable figure to the city engineer and the board of public services for the resurfacing of the bridge with granite. The matter finally will be decided at a meeting of the board to be held tomorrow noon at 12.30 o'clock. As now planned the resurfacing will be done through the Trinity-Dewey Co. of Allentown, Pa.

THREE BODIES RECOVERED

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 22.—The bodies of three youths were recovered from Lake Branford at Waterford today after a search that had been in progress since Sunday afternoon when the boys were fishing in a boat. The bodies are those of Frank and Joseph Heaton and John Green.

PAWBUCKETT, R. I., May 22.—The 18th week of the textile workers' strike in the Blackstone Valley opened quietly today. Four alleged strikers who picketed near the Slater Yarn Co.'s mill were driven away by the police after their names had been taken. Chief Hill says they may be charged with violating the court's restraining order against picketing.

NO CHANGE IN R. I. STRIKE SITUATION

PAWBUCKETT, R. I., May 22.—The 18th week of the textile workers' strike in the Blackstone Valley opened quietly today. Four alleged strikers who picketed near the Slater Yarn Co.'s mill were driven away by the police after their names had been taken. Chief Hill says they may be charged with violating the court's restraining order against picketing.

Organizer Thomas of the United Textile Workers says the situation is practically unchanged. He says that most of the strikers at the Ashton and Pawtucket mills have obtained employment from a local contractor and says that about 600 women strikers have obtained work in mills in the city not affected by the strike.

Mill officials, while claiming gains, decline to give figures.

SELECT JURY FOR MURDER TRIAL

BOSTON, May 22.—A jury to try J. Thomas Gattigan of Revere for the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Cook, by poison, was selected in the superior court today. Testimony was begun immediately.

Gattigan also faces an indictment charging conspiracy to poison his uncle, Clinton M. Richardson of Revere. The alleged motive of both cases was the inheritance of $200,000.

The members of the jury had been selected by Judge Hugo Dubuque, that they would be allowed to go home each night.

BOSTON, May 22.—A superior court jury today found Edward C. Mullen guilty of manslaughter for the death of Joseph Blodgett last December. Mullen, operating a switching engine on the Boston & Albany railroad, passed a passenger train which had just stopped at the South station, killing Blodgett as he alighted from the rear car.

The jury recommended "maximum leniency" for Mullen.

R. R. Executives in Conference

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Seven railroad executives, representing the group of 19 which participated in the White House dinner conference Saturday night at which President Harding asked voluntary action by the railroads in certain rate reductions, today held a two-hour session with the members of the interstate commerce commission. Although the formal announcement of the conference was made by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, one of the conferees, merely said the meeting was "for the purpose of discussing the rate situation" the session generally was regarded as the first step by the railroads toward possible compliance with the president's request and toward carrying out the agreement made at the White House conference.

Cripple Halts Runaway

BERKELEY, Cal., May 22.—Charles Arkinstall, 14 years old, a cripple from birth, limped into the path of a runaway horse, seized the bridle and clung to it until the frightened animal stopped, after running a block. The woman and two children in the buggy were uninjured. Arkinstall's ankle was broken.

Pickets Report Many Enter Arlington Mill

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Officials of the One Big Union said today that pickets on duty at the Arlington mill gates this morning had reported that a number went into the gates, but whether they were going to work in the Arlington or the Acadia mill which adjoins, they could not say. The O. B. U. declared a strike against the Arlington mill on Saturday because, officials said, it was allowing Acadia mill workers to use its gates. The Arlington mill was shut down eight weeks ago, without announcing any wage cut. Officials of the mill say it is entirely shut down and that it will remain so indefinitely.

New Islands Discovered in South Pacific

HONOLULU, T. H., May 22.—Word of the discovery of islands in the South Pacific hitherto unknown and now claimed in the name of the United States, was received here today. The islands were reported claimed by Lorin A. Thurston, a Honolulu publisher, who was cruising in the power boat Palmyra. He said he found the islands on May 10 in the vicinity of Kingman's Reef. Their location was described as latitude 6.23 north; longitude 162.18 west. The publisher told of an excellent harbor, which in his opinion, provided a natural landing suitable for a fuel station.

MILLION SHARES CHANGE HANDS IN TWO HOURS

NEW YORK, May 22.—More than one million shares of stocks mainly at gains of 1 to 3 points, changed hands in the first three hours of today's lively session of the New York stock exchange.

The movement embraced a wide number of issues, but was made up largely of steels, equipments, motors, oils and the cheaper pills, together with a number of miscellaneous issues. These included several of the mail order companies, such as Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. Cheap money rates again prevailed, regardless of last week's drain upon real clearing house resources, which brought the loan account of that institution up to the highest total of the year.

RESCUED CAT AND EARNED $5

Youthful Thomas Coulter of Race street, earned himself $5 and the highest praise of the local humane society as the result of his act yesterday, when he rescued a cat from one of the highest trees in Lowell.

Shortly before dark last night, the humane society received a call from a woman in Race street, that her cat had climbed to the top of a high tree and was unable to get down.

The local agent responded and upon examination of the tree, discovered it would be impossible to reach the cat without the aid of a long ladder. He got in touch with the superintendent of the moth department, but that department did not furnish a ladder.

While the agent was scouring the neighborhood for a ladder, young Coulter chanced along and noted the predicament of the cat. Without a moment's hesitation he started up the tree. Reaching the top-most bough, it was necessary for him to climb out on it about 15 feet. The limb appeared to be less than six inches in diameter. Undaunted, the lad climbed out on the limb and rescued the animal. The woman was so pleased that she gave the boy a $5 bill.

MEETING ON SO. COMMON

Textile Strike Leaders Well
Pleased With Result of
Yesterday's Meeting

General dissatisfaction over the wages paid out at the mill was responsible for a great many of the operators of the Hamilton Mill, not reporting for work this morning, according to reports at strike headquarters this noon. It was also stated that yesterday afternoon's mass meeting of the South common, when employees of the mill were urged to keep away from the plant if they wanted to win their battle against a 20 per cent. reduction in wages, had the desired effect.

Yesterday's meeting, which was held mostly for the benefit of the Fortu- guese-speaking people of this city, a great number of whom are employed at the Hamilton, was addressed by John Campos of Fall River, a labor organizer, who urged the Portuguese people in their own language to re- main away from the mill in the course of a strong organization in win- ning a strike. He urged his listeners to be faithful to their principles and warned them not to pay any attention to the overtures and second hand- ling of the mill, where he reported to be en- tirely at their homes in an endeavor to induce them to return to work. To those who have already gone back he made it plain that they were helping the mill officials to win the struggle which has been going on for over three months.

There is nothing for them to gain but much to lose by going to work before the strike is settled. The other speak- ers were John Hanley, who presided; Charles E. Anderson, president of the Trades and Labor council and Thomas J. Heagan, organizer for the U.T.W. of A.

In commenting upon the result of the meeting today Frank Stimpson, secretary of the strike committee, said that the pickets who were on duty at the mill this morning reported that a great many people gathered about the mill gates but refused to go in and among them were many who were employed in the plant all last week. He further stated that many oper- atives were dissatisfied with the small pay envelope they received Saturday forenoon.

The weavers, particularly, are dis- satisfied with the wages paid them, he said, for on top of the 20 per cent. reduction they are handicapped by the condition of the looms which are in poor shape owing to the fact that very few loommen are employed in the mill. He said he has received re- ports to the effect that when a loom breaks down it is several hours and sometimes a half-day and even a whole day before the loom can be set at it and inasmuch as the weavers are paid on a piece-work system, when their looms are stopped, they are not earning anything. Mr. Stimp- son is of the opinion that within a short time the Hamilton will be forced to again close its doors.

Lowell delegates representing the various unions affiliated with the Lowell Textile council attended the meeting of the New England confer- ence board of the United Textile Workers of America, which was held at the Labor hall yesterday afternoon with President Frank Johnson of Maynard in the chair. In attendance also were representatives of labor organizations from Lawrence, Haver- hill, Manchester, New Bedford and other cities in New England where the strikes in the various textile centres of New England were dis- cussed at length and ways and means to raise funds for the benefit of the strikers were taken up. After consid- erable discussion it was finally voted to set aside June 2 as "Dollar day" and on that day an appeal will be made to all classes of labor and friends of labor to contribute one dollar each to the strike relief fund.

In conjunction with "Dollar day" it was voted to form a charity board among members of the organization, the mission of the committee to be to devise ways and means of col- lecting funds every week for the strikers and to see that the worthy strikers are looked after in a satisfactory manner. The Lowell people on the charity board are as follows: John Hanley, Mrs. Anne Reagan and Al- fred Angier. Routine business was transacted and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Lawrence Sun- day, June 15.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY OF

FRANK E. DUNBAR

Delegations from the numerous busi- ness and social organizations with which he was connected, attended the funeral of Frank E. Dunbar, which took place yesterday afternoon. Ser- vices were conducted at the home of deceased, 885 Andover street, at 2 o'clock by Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, Jr., pastor of All Souls' church, and appropriate selections were sung by the church quartet composed of Albert Edmundson, Mrs. Harriet C. Spaulding, James B. Fegel, and Mrs. Susan S. Foster. The organization represented at the funeral were the Locks and Canals Co., Boot mill, Appleton Co., Shaw Hosiery Co., New market Mfg. Co., Middlesex Co. Traders and Mechanics Insurance Co., Union National Bank, Five Cent Savings bank, Lowell Bar association, Middlesex Bar association, Vesper Country club, York club, Long- meadow Golf club and Lowell Lodge of Elks. The bearers were Harry A. Dunbar of Pittsfield, Rutland and Ralph Dunbar of Boston, Frederick A. Flat- ther, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Dr. Sidney H. Carney of New York, Ed- ward B. Carney, John Rogers Flat- ther, Frederick Flatther and Arthur P. Atwood. There were numerous floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Aus- tin K. Chadwick, while the casket was under the direction of Undertaker George W. Hanley.

Resolutions Adopted

At a recent meeting of the trustees of the Lowell Five Cent Savings bank the following resolutions were adopted on the death of Frank E. Dunbar, a trustee of the bank:

Died May 15, 1922, Frank E. Dunbar, since 1897 a trustee of this bank, since 1902 a member of its board of invest- ment and its agent.

Possessed of sound judgment and gifted with an unusually fine mind, any problem either financial or legal, that came before him for his consideration was instantly grasped, quickly ana- lyzed, and his conclusions clearly stated. Added to this, his constant nature, endeared him to those asso- ciated with him in the every day con- duct of business life.

For more than 35 years, by his qual- ities of head and heart, Mr. Dunbar has been contributing to the success of the bank and earning more and more in our friendly esteem, and he leaves in our midst a gap hard to fill. From this community has been a citizen, a worker, and from this board a valued associate and loyal friend.

TO HOLD EXAMINATION FOR ELECTRICIANS

State civil service authorities have announced that an examination of el- ectricians for the position of electrician in the Lowell city hall will be con- ducted in this city on June 8. The place where the examination will be held will be announced later.

The salary that goes with the position is $2000 a year. The duties of the position will be to install, repair and repair of common bell systems, electric clocks, program clocks, bells and gongs connected therewith, and general wiring for lights, etc., also, special work in fire alarm systems in the school buildings as well as the various systems connected with the city system that are used by the school department.

All applicants must be licensed electricians under the state board of electricians.

The examination will consist of the filling of a statement of training and experience, which will be marked and combined with the mark given the applicant by the state board of elec- tricians at the time he received his license.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination. Ser- vice men will be given the preference as usual. Any other information re- quired may be secured at the commis- sioner's office or from the commission- er's representatives at the postoffice.

ELIZABETH WELCH DEAD

Sudden Death Sunday Afternoon of Treasurer of the
B. F. Keith Theatre

Miss Elizabeth B. Welch, for the past five years treasurer of the B. F. Keith theatre in this city and known to hundreds of Lowell theatre-goers died yesterday afternoon at her home, 55 Hastings street, following a shock suffered at the theatre shortly before 2 o'clock.

While of late Miss Welch had com- plained at times of a feeling of ex- haustion, nevertheless she looked forward to the end of the present the- tre season and the rest of the sum- mer months and none of her friends or associ- ates thought of her as being unwell. She was a naturally somewhat tired out as the re- sult of a long period of work.

She went to her work as usual yester- day afternoon, but just before 2 o'clock, complained of faintness and could reach her side she collapsed and fell to the floor. Miss Welch seems to have responded to first aid treatment, but shortly after 3 o'clock she was taken to the hospital. Dr. Ralph W. Parker was called and he pronounced it a shock. She was taken to her home immedi- ately by her brother, Benjamin J. Welch. Death came at 5 o'clock this evening.

Miss Welch was born in Lowell and spent practically her entire life here. For a number of years she was in the employ of Jones, McDuffee & Stratton in Boston. She is survived only by her brother. Her age was 61 years.

OBSERVING THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Myers, An- dover, are observing the golden anni- versary of their wedding at their home, 38 Eighteenth street. It was not the intention or wish to celebrate the day other than to receive the greetings of friends during the hour of the morn- ing and therefore, the observance was limited to just that.

Many friends took the opportu- nity of extending their felicitations in person while others remembered the day with gifts of flowers and greet- ings.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers were married on May 23, 1872, by the late Re- verend John M. Greene, D.D., pastor of the Eliot Congregational church.

BELFAST DEATH TOLL SET AT 14

Carnival of Crime Over Week-End—Gunman Attacks City Electric Station.Former Head Constable of Irish Constabulary and Member of Parliament SlainCraig Declares "Just Retribution" Demanded for Murder of Member of Parliament

BELFAST, May 22. (By the Associated Press.)—The killing this morning of W. J. Twaddell, a member of the Ulster parliament, who was shot while on his way to business, caused the issuance of a manifesto by Sir James Craig, the premier, announcing a special meeting of the cabinet and the legal authorities. The premier declared "Just retribution" was demanded.

The premier in his manifesto said: "My detestation of this horrible crime fills me with such indignation that I have summoned a special meeting of the cabinet and all the authorities dealing with law and order. Such an event as this murder demands just retribution."

The manifesto says Mr. Twaddell was murdered for his loyalty to the empire and his devotion to the cause of Ulster and the welfare of the country. His colleagues, it was declared, will carry on and face the future, no matter what the future might hold for them.

"Justice and retribution rest with the higher authorities," the manifesto adds. "Let the people rally around the established government, which will see that proper measures are taken without plunging our province or our capital into a welter of crime and bloodshed."

As a tribute to Mr. Twaddell's memory, the premier said, the people of Belfast and the six counties would observe today and tonight with special reverence.

"I will deal with the whole matter when the parliament meets tomorrow. I feel satisfied that the public realizes the plans which the government has made are sufficiently comprehensive to meet any eventually that may arise."

CALL AGREEMENT A SURRENDER

LONDON, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Surprise and dissatisfaction are the dominant notes in the comment of the London morning newspapers on the agreement reached in Dublin Saturday between the leaders of the opposing political factions. Most of the editorial writers regard it as the surrender of Michael Collins to Eamon de Valera, and do not see how it will enable the Irish people to express their will respecting the Anglo-Irish treaty. Some also find a connection between the peace pact and the outbreak of Sinn Féin violence in the north.

The Times says the outrages in the north can only lead to a situation in which the last bounds of order will break. It declares that those responsible acted identically with the extremists in the south, the object in such case being to overcome the north's resistance to union by coercion and violence.

"So serious is the situation in Ulster," it adds, "that the effect of the agreement between the provisional government and de Valera upon it is of first importance. On the surface it would seem that Collins and Griffith have only found peace by surrendering their position, and that the elements will be little more than an empty form."

"We fail to see how Ireland's will respecting her future relations with England is to be ascertained. No government can be established on a permanent basis unless it conforms to the principles the treaty lays down. In view of this agreement the parliament and people of this country are entitled to prompt and definite explanation of the event that appears to be the only foundation upon which a final Anglo-Irish settlement is practicable."

The Daily Chronicle, the government newspaper, fears that the Sinn Féin activities in the north will cause indignation among the Protestants in Belfast and in the strength of the northern government's statesmanship to the utmost. It adds: "All Ireland would rejoice to learn of the agreement if it really meant that elections were free to be held and that the people were to be the arbiters of their own fate, but we cannot see that it means anything of the kind. It seems to mean nothing if not that the provisional government is prepared to buy off the hostility of its opponents, gaining nothing in return except postponement of the evil day."

The Daily News thinks the world must be growing skeptical of Irish pacifism. "None but very old men would venture to say that the new agreement would produce peace in Ireland," it adds.

Escapes From Deer Island

BOSTON, May 22.—John Coughlin serving a sentence of two and one-half years at the Deer Island house of correction, escaped by swimming a mile or more to Moon Island, it was discovered today. Coughlin apparently crawled to the mainland over mains of the city sewage system which have their outlet at Moon Island.

Hot Exchange in Senate on Postmasters

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Postmaster appointments in Georgia started a hot exchange in the senate today between Watson, democrat of that state, and Senator Phipps of Colorado, a republican member of the postoffice committee, with the result that business was disrupted for several minutes after which the two senators took their controversy into the corridor with the Georgia senator offering personal combat.

Ward Admits He Killed Peters

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 22.—Walter S. Ward of New Rochelle, today surrendered to Sheriff George Werner, and, according to the sheriff, confessed that he shot and killed Clarence Peters, last Tuesday. Peters' body was found near the Kensico reservoir, between Chappaque and Armonk.

98 MISSING AND 242 SAVED

BREST, May 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Mrs. M. L. Shiley and Miss V. M. Boyer, American missionaries on their way to India, were said today by R. F. Llevan, the only other American passenger, to have been drowned in the wreck of the British steamship 'Egypt,' which was sunk off the island of Ushant, Saturday night, by a collision with the French steamer Seine. Nearly 100 other persons lost their lives in the disaster.

Tugs and small warcraft have been searching the scene of the wreck since the collision, but no bodies in addition to those picked up soon after the disaster, had been found up to this afternoon. It was not considered possible that any more survivors could have been missed.

Hopes were still entertained, however, that some of the small ships which answered the Egypt's SOS, could have taken aboard a few others.

Carried $300,000 in Gold
The Egypt went down in 400 feet of water. She carried $300,000 in gold, besides a consignment of mail for India. So far, one mail pouch has been picked up, but nothing else except wreckage was found on the surface.

Whether the launching of only four or five of the ship's lifeboats was due to a panic among the Lascars crew or to difficulties in getting them dropped safely to the sea with the vessel listing rapidly, seems difficult to clear up. Most of the survivors do not question, however, that many of the 300 odd persons aboard were thrown into the sea or jumped from the sinking ship when they were unable to obtain places in the few lifeboats that were lowered.

Passengers said the ropes at the end of one of the lifeboats broke as it was being lowered after the collision, dumping all those in it into the sea. Then the ropes at the other end broke, the lifeboat falling on those who had counted upon it for escape.

Several of the Egypt's officers when they saw it was impossible to launch more of the boats, cut ropes of those that had not been launched in the hope that the craft would right themselves in the sea and be of some service to those struggling in the water.

BREST, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ninety-eight persons are missing and 242 saved of those who were on board the British steamship Egypt when it was sunk off the island of Ushant, Saturday night, by a collision with the French steamer Seine.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Short Monday Morning Docket—Drunken Offenders—

Although 18 persons were arrested over the week-end for drunkenness, only six of them appeared for trial in the district court session this morning with Judge Thomas J. Enright on the bench. The remainder were released to the probation officer between the time of arrest and court this morning. Six cases of drunkenness and two liquor cases, both of which were continued to later dates, comprised the business of the court, which was unusually short for a Monday.

A party of four, two men and two women, were arrested early this morning.

DEBATE TONIGHT AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Tonight in high school hall, the representatives of the Lawrence and Lowell high school debating societies will clash on the subject of Philippine Island sovereignty. The topic to be argued is, "Resolved, That the Philippine Islands Should Be Granted Immediate Freedom." Lawrence will assume the affirmative, while the Lowell boys will take the negative.

Lawrence will be represented by Harris Booras, Samuel Miller, and Walter Tomlinson, with John Lamprey as alternate. The Greenhauge society of the Lowell school will rely on the argumentative qualities of Guy Butler, Raymond Crowley and Meyer Lipschitz, Meyer Arlinski to act as alternate.

The debate is expected to be hotly contested, and if the Lawrence boys show as good form as the locals have exhibited throughout the winter and spring the judges will be in an unenviable predicament in selecting a winner.

Principal Charles H. Eames, of the Coxtile school, Wallace P. Butterfield of Tewksbury and Herbert L. Trull of Tewksbury have been secured as judges.

REVOLUTION IN NICARAGUA

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 21. (By the Associated Press.)—A revolutionary movement broke out here today against President Diego Manuel Chamorro, a band of rebels seizing Fortress Loma, commanding this city. Upon representations from the American minister, John E. Ramey, however, the revolutionists later agreed to turn over the fort to the commander of the American marines at 10 o'clock tonight, to be given back to the government.

WRITES BOOSTING SONG FOR LOWELL

"Let's Boost for Lowell" is the title of a new song written by Ed-ward J. Cooney, sales manager for the Lowell Gas Light Co., for the use of the Lowell A. C. club. As the club has asserted its intention to boost Lowell, Mr. Cooney thought it should have its own anthem, and wrote the following words, to be sung to the tune of "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Old Tucky Home":

"Let's boost for Lowell, let's boost all the time.
We're all good fellows and all good fellows, too.
Keep boosting, keep boosting, do."Lowell is a city grand,
Shout her praise to beat the band,
Make this old world understand
We are never down,
Now all together, our shoulders to the wheels.We must work for,
Shout for Lowell, the good old town."
Copies of this number will be mailed to all members in time for use Wednesday noon, when the club is to have a mass meeting and luncheon in the Girls' City club quarters in the Howe building. Members are urged to learn the words and add their harmonious voices to the beautiful volume of melody which will arise.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Had the Russian Soviet representatives at the Genoa conference, Russia would have been reduced to a situation not dissimilar to that of Haiti, Senator Joseph R. Burton, Idaho, declared today in the senate, in discussing Frank A. Vanderlip's recently published interview of events at the Genoa conference.

WILL CREATE CITY PLANNING BOARD

Following a meeting in which Mayor Brown discussed the creation of a city planning commission with President Edward Fisher and Secretary-Manuel E. F. Wells of the chamber of commerce, the directors of the chamber, in weekly session this noon, authorized the president and secretary to suggest the names of men who might serve on such a commission. This commission, it is expected, will have created the work along the lines which have been proposed for a zoning system in this city.

Messrs. Frederick P. Marble and E. A. Wilson, members of the acquaintance committee, appointed some time ago, attended the board meeting this noon, and talked over ways of increasing the committee's activities and reaching all newcomers to the city, including business men and others.

The directors next voted to back up the recommendations of the chamber of commerce traffic committee, which propose any change in the present traffic regulations. It has been recommended in some quarters that some changes should be made.

In regard to the revival of the Merrimack river improvement proposition, on which he has been granted a date not yet named, the directors held a discussion today, to decide what action, if any, the chamber should take. As a result, Messrs. Robert Madden, Percy Wilson and Secretary Wells were appointed as members of a committee of three to take the matter up with Congressman John Joseph Coyne.

The board endorsed the movement for the reorganization of the boy scouts now being conducted.

The meeting closed with the appropriation of sufficient money to be expended under the supervision of the educational committee for the maintenance of evening street playgrounds.

Clarence M. Weed, chairman of the park commission, is also chairman of this committee.

LOOKING FOR FRED GILBERT

Bridgeport relatives of Fred Gilbert, who was last heard of five months ago, working in a Lowell hotel, are attempting to locate that young man. His sister, Timida Giamperoli, is dead in Bridgeport, and the family is anxious that the young man be located so that he might attend the funeral.

Richard Gilbert, a brother of the man sought, arrived in this city today from Bridgeport and took up the hunt for his brother. He learned that Fred had roomed at 26 Suffolk street at one time, but that he hadn't been there since Christmas.

The mention of Capt. Petrie has to do with the measuring of the character for the new uniforms. Under the arrangement.

WELCH APPROVES NEW UNIFORMS

Signs Statement Ratifying
Plans Made by Temporary Superintendent

Approves Captaincy for Palmer and Will Keep Him at Head of Liquor Squad

The eternal triangle was shaped into a beautiful friendship circle today as Mayor George H. Brown, Superintendent of Police Raymond Welch and former and temporary Superintendent Winfred T. Macfarlane joined hands in the mayor's inner office at city hall and swelled the chorus, "Hail, Hail, the King's All Here!"

Almost overnight all lines of anxiety and frowning of perplexity had been smoothed away and the triumvirate, once, brothers now—stepped from the private conference room in absolute, harmonious concord.

For "Red" and "Winnie" and His Honor today decided it was all for the best and met in the mayor's office to talk over what has transpired in the department during the past four months and lay plans for the future.

The first thing accomplished was the written approval of Supt. Welch to the permanent appointment and promotion of George B. Palmer from lieutenant to captain and head of the liquor law enforcement squad—the squad which, numbering a score or more of patrolmen and superior officers, to remain intact.

The second matter of interest, to which the superintendent subscribed was ratifying to be purchased from J. Hollis & Co. of Boston and to make this approval doubly sure, Supt. Welch appended his signature to the following order that now is posted in the guard room at the police station:

"The changes in uniforms made by Temporary Superintendent W. C. Macfarlane with J. Hollis & Co., 22 Fifth Street, Boston, is hereby ratified and in full effect."

Capt. Petrie is detailed to supervise as per previous arrangement.

Approved: "REDMOND WELCH, Supt."

"GEO. H. BROWN, Mayor."

The mention of Capt. Petrie has to do with the measuring of the character for the new uniforms. Under the arrangement.

Refused to Allow Sale of Chickens

NEW YORK, May 22.—The public saved $40,000 over the week-end because inspectors of the health department refused to allow the sale of chickens whose crops were filled with sand and gravel. Ole Salthe, director of the food and drugs bureau of the department declared today one of the crops weighed one and one-half pounds.

Charges Against Bank Head Dismissed

MONTREAL, May 22.—Charges that D. C. Macnarrow, general manager of the defunct Merchants Bank, willfully made false and deceptive statements on the bank's condition in a return filed with the government for October, 1921, were dismissed by Judge Cusson today. An official of the treasury department filed the charges following the bank's failure. The government is expected to appeal.

Three Boy Scouts Drowned

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 22.—The body of one youth, Frank Bezanon, was recovered from Lake Beantree at Waterford this morning, after search for three youths, reported missing, had been instituted. The boys went to the lake yesterday to fish. Their overturned boat was found today. The other two, believed to be drowned, are John Green and Joseph Bezanon. All were Boy Scouts.

THE SALVATION ARMY FUND CAMPAIGN

With only $8000 asked for, and a host of friends even whom to call, it seems as if the Salvation Army's drive, which started Saturday afternoon, will go over the top with a bang. The work of this organization needs little explanation. Previous to the war, this band of workers were engaged in the best of the world, doing the world's work with little of the world's wealth.

Then came the war with all its horror and its need for organizations to comfort the sick and wounded. It was at this time that the Salvation Army proved its real worth. This organization was the first to follow the colors, was always at the front under fire, and was never discouraged, no matter how hard the way or how difficult the task.

With the termination of the great conflict this organization returned to this land of peace and took up the work right where it had left off. It had done its work well and this realization had been brought home to all with whom it had been thrown in contact. Now the Army needs money to carry on the work of peace. To comfort the sick, to give aid to the poor and unfortunate, to rescue those souls that have strayed from the path of righteousness.

With a population of over 100,000 to call on the Salvation Army asks only about a dime from each inhabitant. This small sum of money which is many times carelessly wasted would mean a lot to some poor person if it were contributed to the Salvation Army fund.

In the past the people of Lowell have heeded the call of the Army. Its appeals have not gone unanswered. With ever so many things to sap the funds in its name too well filled treasury, the Salvation Army is asking for $8000.

Saturday's drive started out in an impressive manner. A band and parade opened the drive. A number of contributions were received before the drive was one hour old. But it will take a lot more to put the drive over the top. A small gift to the Army now will help as it never helped before. With only eight days left the people are asked to get in their contributions early so that the army may know the people are backing its movement.

BOY SCOUT MEETING THIS EVENING

Boy Scout enthusiasts from Lowell and vicinity will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms tonight to discuss the future of the work in the Lowell district. The steering committee, composed of C. D. A. Grassie, president; Frank D. Proctor, secretary; Charles F. Langley, James H. Casey, John M. O'Donoghue, William H. Goodell, T. A. Wheeler, Xavier Delisle, Royal F. White, John J. Walsh, Benjamin S. Pouzner, Dr. John H. Lambert and Mayor George H. Brown met last Friday evening and drew up some findings to be presented to the general committee tonight.

Everyone interested in pushing the Boy Scout movement in Lowell is invited to attend the meeting to be held tonight, and take part in the discussion. The marked growth of the scout movement throughout the country during the past few years is the best testimonial of its worth that could be obtained. There are now over 400,000 scouts enrolled, studying citizenship, service and co-operation.

President Grassie asks that it possible everyone come before 8 o'clock, so all may become acquainted and insure a prompt start.

CITY AUDITOR WILL ATTEND MEETING

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin has been advised of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Municipal Auditors and Comptrollers association, to be held at the Boston City Club on Thursday of this week, at 1 p.m. The Lowell auditor will attend as a member of the association and is particularly interested in the discussion of matters relative to the rules of the current year, that promise to be much higher throughout the state. Corporation taxes also will be discussed in formal assembly. Theodore N. Waddell, director of accounts, is president of the association.

clated Press)—The most disquieting feature of Sunday's disorders in Belfast, was the shifting of the center of trouble to Ballymacarrett, the east section where there is a large northern population and a small compact Sinn Féin community living in an area called the Short Strand.

Two men were killed in the violent rioting there, and Thomas McShane, who was wounded Saturday, died, bringing the total of deaths over the week-end to 14.

During last night's shooting, gunmen opened fire on the city electric station, but the return fire from police and troops caused the assailants to withdraw.

The lying column responsible for Saturday's riots in Counties Antrim and Down, vanished as quickly as it came, but a renewal of its operations is anticipated.

The Ulster cabinet has given no sign of what success it contemplates to suppress the disorders, but it is assumed nothing will be done before tomorrow's meeting of the Northern parliament, when Premier Sir James Craig will outline his plans. There, if they fulfill the expectations in many quarters, are likely to involve a rupture with the Dublin government.

Bombes Hurled Into Buildings
Belfast, May 22.—(By Associated Press)—This has been one of the worst week ends in the experience of the city. Shooting, incendiarism, bombing and outrages generally have been exceptionally numerous. The fire brigade responded to seven calls between early Saturday night and Sunday morning. In some cases bombs were thrown into buildings.

MUST LOOK OUT FOR THE MILK

A warning for increased vigilance on the part of milk inspectors with the advent of warm weather, is contained in a communication just received by the Lowell board of health from the dairy division of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture.

The communication states that with the coming of warm weather, increased activity by milk inspectors is absolutely necessary in the matter of transportation of milk from country towns to cities, embracing proper governing for the shipments, proper labeling, rapid delivery and adequate protection from contamination.

Continued

According to the latest official figures. Among those missing are two American women, Mrs. M. L. Sibby and Miss V. M. Boyer, whose home addresses are unknown here. It is possible that some of the missing may have been picked up by the steamship Cap Itacon in addition to those brought here by the Seine. The Cap Itacon was nine miles from the scene and replied to the distress signals with the assurance that she was speeding to the spot.

According to the Egypt's purser, the ship floated only about 20 minutes after her plates were crushed in by the Seine. The Egypt, he declares, was not moving at the time of the accident, lying to on account of the dense fog and sounding her siren continuously.

Terrific Confusion
Suddenly there came the warning shriek of the Seine's siren, and the vessel boomed up out of the fog and darkness, and struck the Egypt amidships. With the crash, there came terrible confusion on the stricken vessel. Four or five boats were all that could be lowered, because of list of the vessel, and many persons jumped overboard, feeling to be drawn down with the Egypt. No one was on board when the vessel took her final plunge, he believed.

Some of the survivors charge that the Italian sailors on board the Egypt took to the lifeboats immediately the vessel crashed, so that a large number of the passengers and crew had to shift for themselves. Those who jumped into the sea and who could swim scrambled about for bits of wreckage to which they might cling. Many of these were rescued. They floated about in the fog after the Egypt went down, calling for help. The sound of their voices directed members of the crew of the Seine to small boats who were patrolling the sea, picking up both living and dead.

In some instances the rescue crews came upon persons clinging to bits of debris who let go and sunk just as aid for them was at hand. "We will look on numerous occasions tonight in the fog to locate persons lifting cries of distress through the fog. Among the known missing are the doctor and chief engineer of the Egypt."

The Egypt was a vessel of 8000 tons.

The Seine was bound for Havre when the disaster occurred.

BOSTON, May 22.—Mrs. M. L. Sibby and Miss V. M. Boyer, the American missionaries bound for India who are missing from the British steamship Egypt, had been in this city recently. Mrs. Sibby, a member of the staff of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, has relatives in Toledo, Ohio. Miss Boyer formerly made her home at Annapolis, Pa. She was going out as a first time.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
(By Theatres' Own Press Agent)

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Harry and Emma Sharrock who will give their diverting skit, "Behind the Grand Stand" at the R. F. Keith theatre, this week, have been universally successful with their combination of good comedy and telepathy, or whatever you may choose to call it. The Sharrocks do not dignify it with any particular name, but mixed into their comedy work, it goes like lightning. Harry Sharrock is downright funny all of the time, and yet he isn't any sort of touching an audience with his work than is Emma. Usually one of a pair is used as a "feeder" for the other. This assuredly is not the case with the Sharrocks.

Another standard act will visit us for the week, the team consisting of Leona Stephens and Lou D. Hollister, who turn over light comedy in a delicious manner. "Back in Beverly Hills" is the name of their offering, and not only is it handsomely mounted but it holds singing and especially artistic dancing. Miss Stephens is a blonde-haired miss who has always been a very pronounced favorite in Lowell.

Listed high in the week's acts are Eddie Donahue and John Ball, both local musicians, who have, on several occasions, appeared here in vaudeville and who have acquitted themselves splendidly. They are now full fledged performers. Donahue is an excellent singer, and Ball can play the piano in wonderful manner.

Quite the fastest moving feel in the world are said to belong to Dotson, a maker of his own size and another also makes up his comedy the while he is tapping his feet. He is little short of a wonder when it comes to dancing. Officer Vokes and Don, the scribe-trotting dog, will surely give audiences their fill of amusement. Don has only recently come back from a visit to continental Europe, where he has amazed lovers of animal acts with his long repertoire of unusual tricks. The Recktons who will be on this bill are society entertainers of note and Paul & Nolan & Co. will give a bill of several things in their work. Nolan is known as "The Jesting Swede."

CROWN THEATRE

"The Last Trail," one of Zane Grey's celebrated novels, has been adapted for the screen by William Fox as one of his special productions for this year, and will be here on Tuesday at the Crown theatre. The name of Zane Grey is in itself a guarantee for the best of action or followers of motion pictures, and the superb manner in which Fox hitherto has filmed novels by Grey promises an entertainment well worth while in "The Last Trail." In addition, the direction of this picture was in the hands of Emmett J. Flynn, whose notable work on "Conquest of Yankee" and "Shame" both big Fox specials—has placed his name in the very front rank of screen directors.

The leading roles in "The Last Trail" are enacted by Maurice Flynn, Eva Novak and Rosemary Theby. A spectacular masterpiece is said to be the breaking of a huge dam and the resultant flooding and destruction of a village in the valley below.

THE STRAND

Pauline Frederick in "Two Kinds of Women" and Doris May in her newest film vehicle, "Edna," are to be shown for the first time locally at The Strand beginning today and continuing tomorrow and Wednesday. Both are excellent photoplays and will give genuine satisfaction. Don't miss them and the other contributions to the program. Attention is again directed to the electric car for the boys of the city and suburbs. A coupon is given to the purchaser of a ticket at the box office and the name of one's favorite contestant may be put on it and placed in the box. The boy receiving the largest number of votes by July 10 next will be given a $100 bicycle. See it on display in the lobby. It's a dandy.

MERIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Bought and Paid For," George Broadhurst's famous stage success, is the feature film attraction at the Merimack Square theatre for today, Tuesday and Wednesday. With Jack Holt, Agnes Ayres and many other players of note in the leading roles, the production by Paramount is a gem. Even the dramatic excellent of the original stage play, "The Beauty Show," with Raymond Hitchcock and a galaxy of musical comedy stars, is in the bill feature. Coming Thursday, Eugene O'Brien in "Channings of the North-west."

FOX HOME IN DRACUT BURNED

Because of the lack of water facilities, the home of Stanley Fox on Marsh Hill, Dracut, was burned to the ground last evening at about 9:30 o'clock. As soon as the fire was discovered an alarm was sent in and companies from the Centre, Navy Yard and Kenwood responded, but although the fire fighters were on the premises shortly after the alarm was given, they were unable to cope with the flames because of the lack of water.

WAS DROWNED IN SHAWSHOEN RIVER

Frank O'Brien, aged 20 and residing at Somerville, was drowned while bathing in the Shawshoan river in Bedford, just over the Billerica line Saturday. The young man, who with a number of companions, was on his way to camped on a lake, went in for a dip at Bedford. He dived into the water, but failed to come to the surface. His companions made every effort to locate him, but were unsuccessful and they notified the Bedford police. The body was recovered later by a man named Martin. The remains were sent to Somerville.

Catholic Church News

Beginning at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon about 500 parishioners of St. Michael's church participated in a May procession from the church through the surrounding streets. The organizations in line were the Holy Rosary sodality, the Immaculate Conception sodality and the Children of Mary. Rev. Thomas J. Heagney was master of ceremonies. Solemn benediction was given at the close of the procession by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor.

The high mass at St. Michael's yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Francis J. Mullin. On next Thursday, the feast of the Ascension, a holy day of obligation, will be celebrated by mass at 6:15, 6:45, 7:15 and a high mass at 8 o'clock.

At St. Patrick's church yesterday the high mass was sung by Rev. Jas. A. Supple, D.D., and the sermon preached by Rev. Francis J. Keenan. The 7 o'clock mass was celebrated by Monsignor William O'Brien, P.M., assisted by Rev. Fr. Keenan. Masses will be celebrated on Thursday at 5:30, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock, the latter being a high mass. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening Wednesday and Friday. Devotions will be held on each evening throughout the week, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Tuesday evening at 7:30 there will be a business meeting of the Holy Name society of the parish in the school hall. Next Sunday the League of Catholic Women will attend the 5:30 mass in a body and receive communion.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the A.O.U. received communion in a body at St. Peter's church yesterday at the 7:30 o'clock mass with Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, P.M., the pastor, as celebrant. Dr. Keleher delivered an address to the society and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan assisted in giving communion. At the next mass, at 8:30, Rev. John M. Manion was the celebrant and the Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body, with Rev. Fr. Heffernan assisting in giving communion. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. Francis L. Shea, and Rev. Fr. Heffernan delivered a sermon. Masses will be celebrated at 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock on Thursday, the feast of the Ascension. On Wednesday afternoon and evening confessions will be heard, and on every evening during the week, except on Wednesday and Saturday, May devotions will be held at 8 o'clock the children of the parish who have prepared to make their first communion this year will receive. On Thursday evening, after the devotion, there will be a meeting of the Immaculate Conception sodality in the lower church.

Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., said the high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and Rev. Martin Norton, O.M.I., preached the sermon. Rev. Fr. Norton, O.M.I., celebrated the 8 o'clock mass, at which communion was distributed by Very Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor. On Thursday masses will be celebrated at 5:30, 6:30, 8 and 9 o'clock. With the exception of Wednesday and Saturday, May devotions will be held at 7:30 every evening this week. Preceding the vesper service next Sunday evening a May procession will be held, starting at 6:30.

At the Church of the Sacred Heart yesterday the Holy Angels' sodality received communion in a body at the 5:30 o'clock mass, celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., who was assisted in distributing communion by Rev. William P. Mahan, O.M.I. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. James McGarrin, O.M.I. Next Sunday morning the first communicants will receive communion in a body. At the 6 o'clock mass the American Legion post will attend in a body. Two additional masses will be celebrated next Sunday, necessitating a slight change in hours, and the hours for this day only will be 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock. Masses on Thursday will be celebrated at 6:15, 6 and 7 o'clock, with a high mass at 8. On Wednesday afternoon and evening confessions will be heard. Every evening except Saturday May devotions will be held, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Beginning Thursday evening, a novena in honor of the Holy Ghost will continue until next Sunday's 10 o'clock mass.

Rev. James T. Somers celebrated the parish mass at St. Columba's church yesterday, with Rev. John G. Hogan as celebrant of the mass at 7:30, when many communicants attended.

At 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of St. Columba's Guild. On Thursday masses will be celebrated at 6, 7 and 8:30. On Tuesday evening at 7:30 the ladies' sodality will also meet. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening on Wednesday. All the men of the parish will attend the 7:30 o'clock mass next Sunday, the occasion being their monthly communion day. Next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there is to be a May procession, and throughout the week May devotions will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Rev. William P. Drennan sang the high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday. The 7:30 and 9 o'clock masses were celebrated by Rev. Andrew P. O'Brien, and the celebrant of the 6 o'clock mass was the pastor, Rev. G. J. Galligan. Confessions will be heard on Wednesday afternoon and evening, and masses on Thursday will be at 5, 6, 7 and 8 o'clock.

The annual May procession for the members of the Children of Mary sodality of St. Joseph's parish took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The procession was formed in the basement of St. Jean Baptiste church and headed by the officers of the sodality and the flag bearers, the several hundred members of the sodality attired with their veils and wreaths and carrying flowers, marched through Morris street, past the rectory, and onto the grounds of the French-American orphanage, where services were held at the krotto.

The rosary was recited by Rev. Austin Graton, O.M.I., spiritual director of the sodality and he also delivered a sermon on the Blessed Virgin. The ceremony was brought to a close with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Rev. Fr. Graton, O.M.I., officiating. The procession was re-formed and the young ladies marched back to the church.

At all the masses at St. Jean Baptiste, St. Joseph's and St. Jeanne d'Arc churches yesterday it was announced that a special collection will be taken at all the masses in the three churches next Sunday for the St. Joseph branch of the St. Vincent de Paul society. The last collection, which was taken up a couple of months ago, netted about $1700.

The members of Courts St. Antoine and St. Paul, C.O.F., will receive their annual communion at the 7 o'clock mass at St. Jean Baptiste church next Sunday. The monthly communion of St. Anne's sodality will take place at St. Joseph's church at the 7 o'clock mass next Sunday.

Next Thursday, Ascension day masses will be celebrated as follows: St. Jean Baptiste church, 6, 6:45, 6:30, 7 and 8 o'clock, the latter to be a high mass. The children's mass will be celebrated at 6 o'clock in the lower church. St. Joseph's, 6:30, 7 and 8 o'clock, the latter to be a high mass. St. Jeanne d'Arc, 5, 7 and 8 o'clock. The monthly communion for the menbers of Notre Dame de Lourdes' sodality of Notre Dame de Lourdes church took place yesterday morning at the 7:30 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I. The sermon was given by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., while hymns were sung by the sodality choir under the direction of Miss Fella Lavigne, who also presided at the organ. On Thursday masses will be celebrated as follows: 6:30, 6:15, 7 and 8 o'clock, the latter to be a high mass.

A very pretty May procession, which was witnessed by hundreds of people, took place yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's church, North Billerica. The affair, which was the first of its kind ever held in that town, was organized by Rev. John N. Cunningham and proved very impressive. The procession formed at the church at 2 o'clock and then proceeded through Talbot and then back into the church. It was composed as follows:

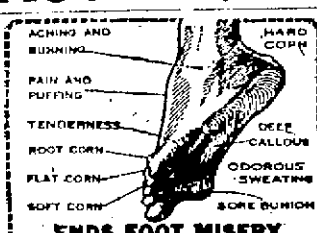

Cross bearer, John Nugent; lighted candles, Joseph Harrington; Rev. John N. Cunningham; banner of the Blessed Virgin, John Murphy; Knights of the Sacred Heart; class of boys; guardian angel, Virginia Mahoney; child, Rose Latender, followed by little girls; "Faith," Elizabeth Hayes, followed by little girls; "Hope," Edna Hannon, little girls; "Charity," Henrietta Mahon, little girls; "Wisdom," Mary McMillen, little girls; "Fortitude," Agnes Sullivan; "Counsel," Lucy Fairbrother; "Piety," Frances McElligott; "Fear of the Lord," Catherine Carroll; guard of honor, advanced class of boys; bearers of Blessed Virgin, James Murphy, William Phair, William McMillen, Charles Flanagan; flower girls; pages, Dorothy McElligott; children of Mary Sodality; altar boys, and Rev. Fr. Murphy.

At the close of the procession benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held in the church. Those who assisted in the carrying out of the plans were the following: Misses: Isabel Sullivan, Margaret Nugent, Evelyn Kearney, Helen Hayes, Helen Lyons, Mary Hanley, Helen Harrington, Mary Nugent, Esther Lusk, Elizabeth McGrath, Isabel McMillen, Katharine Gordon, Marie Lyons, Agnes Barton and Susie McElligott. Rev. Sister Florence Patricia, S.N.D., and Rev. Sister Alice, S.N.D.

French Parliament to Reconvene

PARIS, May 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The French parliament will reconvene tomorrow in an atmosphere of anxiety, due chiefly to the prospective use of military force to bring pressure on Germany, but augmented by the Russo-German treaty and other complications growing out of the Genoa conference. Expiration of the time given Germany to accept the reparation commission's conditions is only one week off, but there will be no immediate action, since Premier Poincare, although determined to go ahead alone if necessary, will try to induce the allies to join him if he can. The cabinet is regarded as sure of parliamentary support.

Burch Jury Resumes Deliberations

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—The jury in the case of Arthur C. Burch, on trial for the second time for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, was scheduled to resume its deliberations at 9 o'clock this morning. It went out at 4:50 o'clock Friday afternoon. Judge Sidney N. Reeves stated informally that if no agreement had been reached by 10 or 11 o'clock he would discharge the jury.

Chicago Pastor Defends Flapper

CHICAGO, May 22.—The modern flapper was defended by the Rev. Almer Pennewell, pastor of the Covenant church at Evanston, yesterday, in a sermon in which he approved short skirts, bobbed hair and knickerbockers. "Flapperism is not a disease but a diversion," he said. "Bobbed hair, short skirts and knickerbockers are not signs of sin but a declaration of independence. The girls are a jolly lot and they will give us the finest generation of women the world has ever known. We are passing from the man-age, a rough age, and emerging into the age of culture—the women's age."

LABOR WRECKERS ATTACK OFFICER

Chicago Policeman Hurl'd
From Third Story Window
—Ankle Fractured

More Indictments by County
Grand Jury Expected
Today

CHICAGO, May 22.—An attack on a policeman who was hurled from a third-story window of a building, was the principal development in the labor war. Additional indictments were expected to be returned by the county grand jury.

James Mullen, 45, was the patrolman thrown from the building, which was being erected under the Landis wage award. Three men believed by police to be "labor wreckers" attacked the officer. He suffered a fractured ankle, spinal and possibly internal injuries.

The policeman saw three men enter the building. He followed them to the third floor, where all three attacked him. The assailants escaped.

Police said today they had obtained further evidence which is said to link "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader and "Con" Shea, with the slaying of the two policemen May 9.

Harry Jensen, president of the Carpenter's district council, announced that the building trades branch of the American Federation of Labor would be asked to reorganize the Chicago council, of which Mader is president.

DIVORCES ARE GRANTED

Spring Term of Superior
Court Without Juries
Opened Here Today

The spring term of the superior court without juries opened this morning at the courthouse in Gosham street with Justice Franklin T. Hammond on the bench. The entire day was taken up with divorce cases and it was announced that motions and law cases will be heard tomorrow. The court's sitting in this city will last two weeks.

At the opening of the court Clerk Putnam called out the various cases on the court calendar and during the forenoon session divorces and were granted in the following uncontested cases:

Emma L. Beaney, Billerica, vs. Oscar J. Beaney, Lincoln, Me., cruel and abusive treatment.
Margaret Murphy, Lowell, vs. Thomas F. Murphy, whereabouts unknown, desertion.
Maria Zdanoski, Lowell, vs. Antoni Zdanoski, Lublin, Poland, desertion.
Custody of minor child toellant.
Walter S. Drevett, Lowell, vs. Ida R. Drevett, Lawrence, desertion.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON

Big Crowd Hears World-
Renowned Reformer at
Local Church

A monster meeting in the interests of world-wide prohibition, with William B. "Pussyfoot" Johnson as the central figure, was held at the First Congregational church last evening. Every seat in the auditorium and balcony was occupied and at least 200 men and women stood in the rear of the church to enjoy a most unusual and interesting program. Evidently physically tired as the result of continuous campaigning, bearing the scars of battle, but still mentally active and as keen for his work as ever, "Pussyfoot" was the magnet that brought to the First Church one of its largest gatherings. It was not a meeting, however, that was given over wholly to Mr. Johnson, for, in fact, he spoke but a comparatively brief length of time. It took on the aspect and appearance of a rally in the cause of temperance, not alone in Lowell, or in Massachusetts, or in the United States, but world-wide aridity. The goal being sought now by leaders of the prohibition movement, with America as the inspirational leader. With Mr. Johnson was Rev. Dr. Morrill of Detroit, who specializes in arousing interest in the financial side of the movement and he does it well. A little bit on the order of Rev. Billie Sunday, he is an earnest, convincing speaker and his efforts last night doubtless resulted in several hundred pledges of substantial aid to the cause.

The meeting had as its presiding officer, Samuel H. Thompson, head of the local branch of the anti-saloon league and for years actively identified with the fight to secure prohibition in this country. He spoke at length upon the fight that was necessary before the Volstead act became the 18th constitutional amendment and said that prohibition now here, is here to stay.

If the big audience expected to hear Mr. Johnson roar out a challenge to the forces of evil and launch a two-fronted attack upon the opponents of world-wide prohibition, it was disappointed, for he confined himself entirely to a story of his recent campaign in India and barely touched upon his London experiences, during which he suffered the loss of his left eye in a fracas that made him an international figure.

His tale of the great country of India, with its teeming millions of people—one-fifth of the entire population of the world—was intensely interesting, but hardly dynamic. He said that the goal surely will be reached if men and women everywhere rally to the standard and join organizations that are heart and soul in the fight and he etched a mental picture of the day's dawning when the sun will shine down upon a drinkless world.

The meeting was enhanced by a splendid program of music given by the augmented church choir, under the leadership of Harry Hopkins, with Miss Ella L. Gale at the organ.

Welch Approves Uniforms

Continued

ment the men of the department are to furnish their own trousers and pay one-half of the cost of the blouse.

Policies to Be Continued

Commenting upon the conference, Mayor Brown said it was "most favorable and congenial," and added that "everything is all right."

"The policy of the department as carried out during the past four months will be continued by Chief Welch," stated the mayor, "and I know he will prosecute any infractions of the liquor law to the limit."

The conference continued for about three-quarters of an hour and at its close, the present and past superintendent stepped out together, with "Come on, chief," from Mr. MacBrayne and a "All right, Win," from Mr. Welch.

When questioned as to whether or not Supt. Welch is back in the department to stay, the mayor said that as far as he knew he was back on the job and that everything would proceed smoothly.

Albert S. Howard, counsel for Mr. Welch, was asked as to whether the chief would seek any compensation for the time lost in the office and also whether there was any truth in the rumor that the superintendent would apply for a retirement pension.

Mr. Howard's reply was to the effect that he knew nothing whatsoever about either matter and now that Mr. Welch was back in office, his Mr. Howard's work was over.

Question of Salary

One thing definitely has been settled, according to City Solicitor Edward J. Florney, which is, that the city will not take the initiative in paying Supt. Welch any back salary and that his name will not appear on the June salary payroll except for an amount equal to his service, dating from May 22, today.

It was said today in one or two quarters that Supt. Welch might appeal to the city council to vote that he should be paid for time lost in the office, but it was brought out that the mayor would not approve any payroll which carried such an entry.

Glad to Be Back

"It feels fine to be back here and I'm very much pleased," was Supt. of Police Redmond Welch's reply to the many queries he received from friends this morning. This is the first day he has officially been at his desk since Jan. 3, when he was ousted on an order of Mayor Brown, who preferred charges against him.

The superintendent doesn't contemplate any changes in the present running of the department. He said that he would allow things to go on as they have been in the past and that he would make changes only when he deemed them necessary.

After the day shift lined up for roll-call this morning, the chief came before the men and made a short address. He complimented the force upon its good work in the past and said that the department had "always given a good account of itself. He also asked the co-operation of every man on the force to aid him in maintaining law and order in this city. He cited one or two examples of the fine work done in the past and the force and brought out the incident of the capture, several years ago, of a band of New York "gangsters" which visited Lowell.

AERIAL DEMONSTRATION AT MERRIMACK PARK

With the greatest aerial ever used in this section, and a set of unusual power, the most interesting radio demonstration of the season will be given at Merrimack park tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

The instrument to be used has been set up previously in a different location, where it was in nightly communication with Pittsburgh and Chicago, the latter station being far too distant for the average set to listen in. As set up at the park tomorrow evening, the instrument will have the added advantage of enormous aerials, strung from the top of the roller coaster to the roof of the dance pavilion. The great hope of the trained operator in charge of the set is that weather conditions will permit the concert by Chicago's most famous orchestra, Frank Westphal's Rainbow Garden aggregation, to be heard.

This concert is to be sent out by the Chicago broadcasting station. The legion set is equipped with a half dozen loud sets for the education of the fans, as well as the largest tone amplifier or reproducing horn obtainable. This horn is 24 inches in diameter.

RADIO PRIMER

Plate—A wire or metal plate in a radio vacuum tube which receives the rectified current coming through the grid and passes it on to the telephone head receivers. A battery of about 22½ volts charges the plate with positive electricity so as to attract the negative electrons from the filament.

CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET

Meeting of Catholic Women's League—Mrs. Donehue Re-elected President

Chief among the matters of business accomplished at the meeting of the League of Catholic Women yesterday afternoon in Associate hall was the re-election of Mrs. J. T. Donehue as president. Many of her faithful co-officers for the past year were also chosen for another term in office. Great progress in the affairs of the League was manifested in the reports submitted.

Opening with the singing of May hymns and selections by the league orchestra, announcement was made of the deaths since the last meeting of three members, Mrs. Bridget Crane, Mrs. James Shea, and Miss Rose Cates. The customary observance of respect for the dead followed.

Proceeding to the balloting for officers, the ballots were passed around the hall by the nominating committee. Mrs. Elizabeth O'Connor, chairman. Mrs. Donehue called for reports of officers and committees while the balloting was under way.

Mrs. John J. Sullivan, chairman of the educational committee, gave an interesting report. She told in detail the progress of the classes under the committee's supervision; classes in millinery, dressmaking, music appreciation, arts and crafts, elementary English and others.

The recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders, read her report for the year, covering the season's activities in a most thorough manner.

Mrs. David Mahoney, chairman of the membership committee, gave an illuminating report on the increase made during the year. She stated that 761 new members had been admitted, 38 had left town, nine have taken religious vows and 19 have died, leaving a net increase to the local membership of 698, a good-sized organization in itself.

Miss Mary Lane of the civics committee submitted a very satisfactory and encouraging report, and Miss Mary Lang, treasurer, reported a very substantial increase in the league's funds.

The result of the balloting was then announced, with the following elected to office: President, Mrs. John T. Donehue; first vice-president, Dr. Emma Young Slaughter; second vice-president, Mrs. James McKenna; recording secretary, Mrs. John F. Saunders; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara J. Farrington; treasurer, Miss Mary D. Lang; directors for three years, Mrs. Martin Maher, Miss Janulo Cronin, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey, Miss Rose McVoy, Mrs. Andrew Barrett, Miss Julia Reardon, Miss Alice Reagan; nominating committee: Miss Corn McGaughan, Mrs. Joseph Crawford, Miss Louise McDosker, Miss Anna McHugh, Miss Carmen Rediker.

After the results had been announced, Mrs. Donehue accepted the presidency in most gracious vein, extending thanks to officers and committees for their share in the work which had made the league season so successful. She was followed by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director, who directed the bulk of his address at the meeting and guardians of young Catholic girls and women, reminding them of the mode of dress affected at the present time.

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of a Te Deum by the assembly.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER

Boy Slain and Mother Fatally Attacked—Murderer Found Asleep After Crime

BOSTON, May 22.—One of the most brutal and cold-blooded murders that has come to the attention of the police for some time was committed early yesterday morning. In Cambridge, when George Heston, 19, colored, a lodger at 133 Erie street, crushed in the skull of Albert Hembry, 16, also colored, with a hatchet while the boy was sleeping in bed, and then, with an axe, battered the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Hembry, 40, so badly that little hope is held for her recovery.

After his awful crime, Heston, who the police say has made a complete confession, went to bed. He was sleeping soundly when the police arrived at the house at 6:30 a.m. and placed him under arrest.

ACTING AS PEACEMAKER COST MAN HIS LIFE

REVERE, May 22.—Acting as a peacemaker cost Joseph Vito, 30, married, of 5 Thatcher court, North End, his life here yesterday afternoon when he was shot and fatally wounded by Antonio M. Gasta, 31, of 98 Havre st., East Boston, the Revere police charge.

The shooting took place about 5:45 yesterday afternoon near Rummey road, which is near Newman st., Revere. The wounded man was rushed to the Massachusetts General hospital, where he died at 6:55. According to the police, he had identified Gasta as his murderer before he died.

Report on Unemployment

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Reports from representative establishments in 12 manufacturing industries show a decrease in the number of employed in eight industries and an increase of four in April, as compared with the preceding month, according to figures announced today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. The four industries showing an increase were iron and steel, 6.8 per cent; automobiles 5.3 per cent; car building and repairing, 0.1 per cent; hosiery and underwear 0.1 per cent. Those showing the heaviest decreases were cotton finishing, 15 per cent, and men's clothing 10 per cent.

Picketing Heavier Today in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Picketing was heavier than usual today near the Acadia, Upper Pacific and Monomac mills but there were no disturbances, the crowds being orderly. The ninth week of the local textile strike opened this morning. With the exception of a special meeting of the employees of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills, called for today, no conferences which might tend to bring the mill men and employees together, have been arranged as far as known. The purpose of the Patchogue-Plymouth mill employees' meeting has not been made public.

Hall Leads Gov. Olcott by 208 Votes

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—On the basis of complete returns from 16 counties and incomplete returns from 20 counties, Charles Hall early today led Gov. Olcott by 208 votes for the republican nomination for governor. The official count probably will be necessary to determine the winner. The vote so far compiled stands: Hall 41,892; Olcott 41,681. Widespread interest was aroused in the result of this contest because of the Ku Klux Klan issue. Gov. Olcott vigorously assailed the clan.

THE TROUBLE WITH ADVERTISEMENTS

Is that the Exploiter, whether he is advertising worthless Oil or Mining Stocks, or worthless Furniture or good Furniture at exorbitant prices, or misrepresenting anything, can

Advertise Not Only as Well, But Far More Cleverly Than the Legitimate Dealer

Because whatever he advertises is all profit or such a large part of the sale price is profit that he can employ professional illustrators and ad writers at big salaries, takes large space in newspapers. He is not bound by any ethic of the trade, to deceive the public is his game, he knows Barnum was right and he cashes in on it.

The Legitimate Dealer Is Handicapped

In meeting such competition. He does business under his own name, he has a certain dignity to uphold. He can not come down to the ethics of the faker. He is proud of his city and his store, proud of his methods, proud of the fact that a child can come to his store and buy a whole outfit of a home as cheap, and be as well served as the parents, he would not do an unfair or inconsiderate thing under any condition.

He does not make anything and everything serve as an excuse for a "Sale" and advertise that he is selling at less than cost right along (and getting rich at it.) His system of credit is based on a desire to be of service, and not on an opportunity to exploit. He is in no hurry to get rich. He counts on the volume of his business to grow larger and larger till it becomes profitable. Knowing that the old maxim that "He profits most who serves best" is true. It has taken 33 years to build this business up to where it is. But it is built solid.

Once a customer, always a customer. We will give you no reason to change. No one else can give you better reason to change in the quality or in the price of goods, or in the service we give you.

PRESENTS BILL FOR AUDITORIUM WORK

William Drapau has presented his bill for work on the Memorial Auditorium, amounting to just $50,000. The bill carries the approval of Architect C. H. Blackall and the signatures of all members of the auditorium commission, including the mayor, as member ex-officio.

The statement of the bill shows that on the contract and not extras to date, $73,837.86 worth of obligations have been incurred, but $19,381.62 is being reserved for the completion of the building, leaving a total of $54,456.24. Previous payments to Contractor Drapau total $721,185.93, leaving $50,000, the amount of the bill now at hand.

The bill now goes to the budget and audit commission for approval.

GIRL SHOTS HERSELF

Father Had Ordered Her to Stop Receiving Attention of Young Man

MALDEN, May 22.—After her father had ordered her to stop receiving the attentions of a young man with whom she had been friendly, Miss Josephine Guarniera last night walked to the woods at Linden Highlands and shot herself.

She was taken to a hospital where she was said to be in a serious condition.

MAYOR TALKS ON PAVING WORK

Mayor George H. Brown this noon intimated that there would not be any check asphalt or concrete paving done this year, despite the elaborate plans laid out by City Engineer Stephen Kearney and approved by the board of public service.

When inquiry was made of the mayor as to whether or not anything definite had been decided relative to the award of a contract for street asphalt, he replied that he had asked the purchasing agent and the city solicitor for recommendations, but had not received any yet.

"I do not know what will be done," said the mayor, "but as things stand now I am not sure that the contract will go to any company. I may decide that we will not do any asphalt road work this summer, but instead concentrate upon other types of paving."

Last week the board of public service, after a number of conferences with representatives of the Plant Engineering Co., recommended to the mayor that the contract be awarded to the Thomas & Murphy Co., second lowest bidder both times proposals were opened.

The city engineer is all ready to begin the excavating of Westford street, between Loring and Wilder streets, but unless something definite is decided shortly, it will be too late to attempt to do asphaltic work this year.

SPAULDING PARK AS BURYING GROUND

Members of the board of health this afternoon took a view of Spaulding park, in preparation for action upon the petition now before the board for the use of the area as a burying ground for Polish people. Particular interest was shown in the drainage facilities of the park and wells in use by a number of families living in the neighborhood. A meeting of the board was scheduled for 4.30 p. m.

GENERAL ORDERS
Program for Memorial Day Observance Outlined by Commander of Post 135, G.A.R.

Members of Ladd and Whitney Post, 135, G.A.R. will attend the 10.30 o'clock service at the Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning. The afternoon they will meet at their headquarters at 1.30 o'clock, preparatory to attending the joint service at 2 o'clock at the First Congregational church.

General orders No. 1 issued by the post are as follows:
The post will assemble at its headquarters Tuesday morning, May 30, at 8 o'clock and proceed by auto to the Lowell cemetery and at the close of the exercises will go direct to Newbury, assisting that town in its memorial services. After the services at cemetery, post will march to town hall where appropriate services will be held, after which a dinner will be served by the ladies of the church. After dinner, post will return to headquarters by automobile. Officer of Guard A. J. Bixby will assist Capt. Derby in assigning comrades to their automobiles.

The post will assemble at 2.30 p. m. at headquarters and on arrival of Post 12 and 120 will join with them, reporting to the chief marshal on the South common. At the close of the parade and reviews when dismissed will return to the First Congregational church, Hurd street, where we are to be guests of the Sons of Veterans.

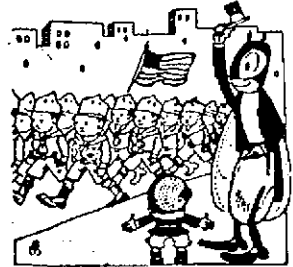

Comrades unable to march are urged to ride, if their health will permit, on Memorial Day afternoon. Notify the adjutant, if you will go on or before the 26th instant, so he may know how many carriages to order. We must know how many to order by that date. Carriages with veterans leave these headquarters at 12.30 to assist the Sons of Veterans at the Hildreth cemetery.

As far as possible wear full uniform upon all occasions—hat, belt and gloves the officers their side arms for parade only. Every veteran should consider it his duty to attend as many of these exercises as his health will permit, whether in uniform or not. We need you. The uniform is of secondary importance. A few uniforms can be furnished to comrades at headquarters.

All war veterans are invited to join with us in these services under the same conditions as members of the post.

Let the few of us that the day finds able turn out and make this day memorable.

The detail of comrades in as follows:
Captain, George L. Gaily, in command of company bugler, George E. Bryant; officer of the day, C. N. Bixby; officer of guard, A. J. Bixby; color sergeant, J. K. Knowlton; color guard, E. N. Moriarty; Chase, Houben Sells, L. van Steinberg.

Every scout who's going to march

On Decoration Day

Knows that he must have good shoes,

That are right in every way.

So when you get your "boy scout" shoes,

Be sure of perfect fit;

You can have tired feet, and keep right on,

But blisters will make you quit.

GUILBAULT PIANOFORTE

ACADEMY CONCERT

About 500 people attended the annual concert of the Guilbault Pianoforte Academy, which was held in Colonial hall, Middle street, last evening. The affair was given under the personal direction of Prof. L. N. Guilbault, who was assisted by Miss Alice Renaud, Miss Bertha Brodeur and Eugene Guilbault, assistant teachers at the academy.

Assisting the pupils of the academy were Mrs. Henri A. Archambault, who rendered several pleasing vocal selections and Mr. Bernard Knopf, whose violin numbers added materially to the enjoyment of the program. At the close of the concert there were brief addresses by Prof. Guilbault, Bishop Henri de Silva and Mayor Brown. Andre Savard was awarded the first prize for progress, a gold medal, while several other pupils also received valuable prizes, the distribution being made by Bishop de Silva.

Those who took part in the program were Emma Gilbert, Cecile Dion, Jeannette Brouin, Yvonne Dubois, Annette Millette, Alice Lefebvre, Jeannette Langlois, Beatrice St. Jean, Alice Nolet, Anna Cavanaugh, Victor Lambert, Arthur Beaumier, Corinne Desrochers, Alice Lamontagne, Mayor Boucher, Stephanie Urbanek, Pamela York, Joseph Gagne, Alce Lemire, Louis Mattie, Berthe Desmarais, Andre Savard, Eva Lefebvre, Victor Hamel, Blanche Massicotte, Laura Arvisais, Reat Bolduc, Laurier Senechal, Irene Guerin, Gilbert, Dalnira, Annette Lapointe, Gerard Pelletier, Marie Ange Trotter, Albert Vincent, Juliette Nadeau, Roland Blodet, Marion Mullen, Margaret Ashe, Flora Isabelle, Annette Chaput, Juliette Vandonbuleke, Juliette Guillet, Laura Brouin, Leone Thvet, Florida Marchand and Frank Redding.

HOME OF COLUMBUS, GA., MAYOR BOMBED

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 22.—Commissioners of Muscogee county today placed the entire resources of the county at the disposal of Columbus authorities in an effort to arrest those responsible for bombing the home of Mayor J. Homer Dimon.

The bomb wrecked a portion of the mayor's home yesterday, but without injury to any member of the family. The attempt on the life of the mayor was attributed by city officials to persons who recently have addressed threatening letters to him and to H. Gordon Hinkle, city manager. These letters contained strong objections to the commission form of government and declared that unless Mayor Dimon discharged the city manager, both would be killed. Hinkle was attacked on the street near his home, several weeks ago.

LESS DRINKING BY STUDENTS

Investigators Report Big Decrease Since Enactment of 18th Amendment

Dr. Cole Declares Character a Cure-All for the World's Troubles

BOSTON, May 22.—An investigation of drinking among college students conducted by President F. C. Southworth of the Meadville Theological school shows that there has been a material diminution since the 18th amendment was enacted and that in a majority of colleges canvassed drinking has practically disappeared. Prof. Clayton H. Bowen of the Meadville Theological school made this report today to a public meeting of the Unitarian temperance society.

To a questionnaire which President Southworth sent to the deans of 450 American colleges, he said he received replies from 395. "The accusation is frequent that prohibition has increased drinking among college students," President Southworth said. "His reply, but the tenor of the replies he said, was overwhelmingly to the effect that there had been a marked decrease during the past three years."

Character as a cure-all for the world's troubles—political, economic, social, educational, religious—was asserted by Rev. Dr. Samuel P. Cole, president of Wheaton college in an address today at the Massachusetts convention of Congregational Ministers, one of the several meetings held as part of the Unitarian anniversary week exercises. "Character is what the home, the church and the college are solemnly called to emphasize far more than they do today if we are to be saved from our troubles," he said.

"The time has arrived for the transference of emphasis from the tools to the workman, from the symbols of power to the sources of power from the wheels to the living creature."

"We have institutions that cause to function, customs that lose their meaning, laws that cannot be enforced. The world is its hindrance itself, signs that when it supplies itself with the right tools and enough of them the right result will follow. It looks for the salvation of society in more machinery, more organization, more rules and regulations, more of what is externally favorable."

"Give me more amendments to the constitution; more laws on the state books, more offices and red tape, and I will make good citizens of you in the twinkling of an eye. The college cries out: 'Give me more bricks and timber; more courses of study; more cartloads of books, more academic degrees and silk gowns, and I will make learned and wide people of you before you know it.' The church cries out: 'Give me more societies and committees; more conferences and councils and conventions; more ceremonies and sermons; more long papers on what ought to be done, and I will make Christians of you in spite of yourselves.'"

"But the voice of wisdom is forever crying: 'Give me the likeness of a man, and after that I can give you that you wish or withhold; the workman will find his tools and the work will be done.'"

"It is not the kind of tool but the kind of workman that counts; not the outward form but the animating spirit. Man was not made for institutions; man was made for man. The individual man comes first in both importance and time."

The man who deserts his family and the drug peddler are two types of persons who will be missed and missed by the world. District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien told the Unitarian temperance society. Justice will be tempered with mercy, he said, but men who fail to provide for their families in Massachusetts will feel the law.

MOSCOW - PROMULGATES NEW DECREES

MOSCOW, May 22. (By the Associated Press).—New decrees which government leaders are designed to encourage the independent capitalistic reconstruction of Russia on Russian terms, have been promulgated coincidentally with the close of the Genoa conference.

The council of commissars has announced removal of the state monopoly on trade in agricultural implements and seeds, permitting private persons to buy abroad through the commissariat of foreign trade. Meanwhile the central executive committee which is now in session, passing bills legalizing private property to a certain degree, has also decided to permit inheritance by husbands or wives and direct descendants of a maximum of 5000 gold rubles. The council also is debating a project permitting grain leases up to 25 years, instead of the 35-year maximum originally intended.

The municipality of Petrograd has decided to hand over to the owners for life possession all the smaller houses, the maximum being seven apartments. The Ukraine is turning back flour mills of small capacity to the owners.

DEDICATE BELL IN HONOR OF AMERICAN

LANDRICOTT, France, May 22. (By the Associated Press).—The dedication ceremony of the new church bell given to this war-torn village in honor of the American soldier poet Alan Seeger, by the Poetry Society of America, through the American committee for devastated France.

The ceremonies concluded with the town's 200 inhabitants passing by the bell, each tapping it with the clapper. The bell in one of 30 similar tokens given to assembly villages by the American committee to replace those taken by the Germans, all in memory of prominent soldiers who fell near the villages so honored.

ing, and all faced charges of drunkenness. The women, who gave the names of Alice Riley and Mary Daniels, pleaded not guilty to the charges, while the men, who gave Charles Forget and John Leblanc as their names, pleaded guilty. The four were committed to jail for three weeks, according to the justice, they were making a disturbance.

The women testified that Forget came into the house in a drunken condition shortly after 11 o'clock, and refused to leave. He explained, Forget admitted that he might have refused to leave as he claimed he did not know what he was doing. He also testified that the women each had taken two drinks. Forget was fined $10 and given three weeks to pay same. Leblanc was fined a like amount and given two weeks to pay the money. He was also told to stay in North Chelmsford, where he belonged.

Each of the women was under a house arrest suspended sentence to a house of correction and was on probation. They were found guilty by the court who ordered the probation sentences revoked and ordered them committed. The cases brought against them today were filed.

John J. Fogarty, who said he lived in Waterdown, pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was fined $15. He was allowed two weeks to pay the fine. He admitted being drunk in an auto here yesterday, although he said that he was only riding in the machine and not operating it.

Arman L. Menard pleaded guilty to a charge of being a common drunkard. His wife testified that she wanted a separation from Menard as he had been drunk almost continuously since the first of the year. He was held over until next Saturday in $300 for non-payment.

Andro Ogeba, charged with illegal keeping, had his case continued for a week. A similar charge against William P. Reardon was continued to June 7.

LYNN MAYOR APPEALS TO STATE BOARD

LYNN, May 22.—The state board of arbitration has been asked by Mayor Harlan A. McPherson to come to this city and investigate the failure of the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association and the Allied Shoe Workers' council to come to an agreement by which the local shoe shops could resume business pending final settlement of the wage controversy.

The manufacturers want a 5 1/2-day week with a 20 per cent reduction in wages.

The United Shoe Workers of America have agreed to place the matter before the arbitration board, and to accept a 13 per cent wage cut, pending today, pending the final agreement, but the allied shoe workers insist on a five-day week with double time for overtime, including Saturday.

Ten of the 136 shoe factories in the city are working at the present time.

HARDING FAVORS STATE PARK MOVEMENT

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Endorsement of the state park movement is given by President Harding in a letter to John Barton Payne, as chairman of the conference committee of the second national conference on state parks, to be held at the opening session of the conference today, at Bear Mountain Inn, Fallades Interstate park, New York.

"The desirability, from many points of view, of establishing state parks is so obvious that there hardly need be argument on the subject," the president wrote.

"Every year of delay in creating such parks is certain to increase the expense and the difficulty of securing the most desirable kind of property; therefore, it is particularly in the public interest to have the movement urged as widely and as persistently as possible."

TO RESURFACE CENTRAL BRIDGE

The Engineering Service and Construction Co., contractors for the reconstruction of the Central bridge, have agreed to resurface the bridge with concrete. The matter finally will be decided at a meeting of the board to be held tomorrow noon at 12:30 o'clock. As now planned the work will be done through the Traylor-Dewey Co. of Allentown, Pa.

THREE BODIES RECOVERED

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 22.—The bodies of three youths were recovered from Lake Bozrah today at Waterford after a search that had been in progress since Sunday afternoon when the boys went fishing in a boat. The bodies are those of Frank and Joseph Hezeman and John Green.

NO CHANGE IN R. I. STRIKE SITUATION

PAWTUCKET, R. I., May 22.—The 18th week of the textile workers' strike in the Blackstone Valley opened quietly today. Four alleged strikers who picketed near the Slater Yarn Co.'s mill were driven away by the police after their names had been taken. Chief Hill says they may be charged with violating the court's restraining order against picketing.

Organizer Thomas of the United Textile Workers says the situation is practically unchanged. He says that most of the strikers at the Ashton and Berkeley mills have obtained employment from a local contractor and says that about 600 women strikers have obtained work in mills in the city not affected by the strike.

Mill officials, while claiming gains, decline to give figures.

SELECT JURY FOR MURDER TRIAL

BOSTON, May 22.—A jury to try J. Thomas Gelligan of Revere for the murder of his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Cook, by poison, was selected in the superior court today. Testimony was begun immediately.

Gelligan also faces an indictment charging conspiracy to poison his uncle, Clinton M. Richardson of Revere. The alleged motive of both cases was the inheritance of $200,000.

The members of the jury had been advised by Judge Hugo Dubuque that they would be allowed to go home each night.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

BOSTON, May 22.—A superior court jury today found Edward C. Mullen guilty of manslaughter for the death of Joseph Riordan last December. Mullen, operating a switching engine on the Boston & Albany railroad, passed a passenger train which had just stopped at the Faneuil station, killing Riordan as he alighted from the rear car.

The jury recommended "maximum leniency" for Mullen.

SERIAL-COMEDY-NEWS

R. R. Executives in Conference

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Seven railroad executives, representing the group of 19 which participated in the White House dinner conference Saturday night at which President Harding asked voluntary action by the railroads in certain rate reductions, today held a two-hour session with the members of the interstate commerce commission. Although the formal announcement of the conference as made by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, one of the conferees, merely said the meeting was "for the purpose of discussing the rate situation" the session generally was regarded as the first step by the railroads toward possible compliance with the president's request and toward carrying out the agreement made at the White House conference.

Cripple Halts Runaway

BERKELEY, Cal., May 22.—Charles Arkinstall, 14 years old, a cripple from birth, limped into the path of a runaway horse, seized the bridle and clung to it until the frightened animal stopped, after running a block. The woman and two children in the buggy were uninjured. Arkinstall's ankle was broken.

Pickets Report Many Enter Arlington Mill

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Officials of the One, Big Union said today that pickets on duty at the Arlington mill gates this morning had reported that a number went into the gates, but whether they were going to work in the Arlington or the Acadia mill which adjoins, they could not say. The O. B. U. declared a strike against the Arlington mill on Saturday because, officials said, it was allowing Acadia mill workers to use its gates. The Arlington mill was shut down eight weeks ago, without announcing any wage cut. Officials of the mill say it is entirely shut down and that it will remain so indefinitely.

New Islands Discovered in South Pacific

HONOLULU, T. H., May 22.—Word of the discovery of islands in the South Pacific hitherto unknown and now claimed in the name of the United States, was received here today. The islands were reported claimed by Lorin A. Thurston, a Honolulu publisher, who was enroute in the power boat Palmyra. He said he found the islands on May 10 in the vicinity of Kingman's Reef. Their location was described as Latitude 6.23 north; Longitude 162.18 west. The publisher told of an excellent harbor, which in his opinion, provided a natural landing suitable for a fuel station.

MILLION SHARES CHANGE HANDS IN TWO HOURS

NEW YORK, May 22.—More than one million shares of stocks mainly at gains of 1 to 3 points, changed hands in the first three hours of today's lively session of the New York stock exchange.

The movement embraced a wide number of issues, but was made up largely of steels, equipments, motors, oils and the cheaper rails, together with a number of miscellaneous issues. These included several of the mail order companies, such as Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

Cheap money rates again prevailed, regardless of last week's drain upon local clearing house resources, which brought the loan account of that institution up to the highest total of the year.

RESCUED CAT AND EARNED $5

Youthful Thomas, Coulter of Race street, earned himself $5 and the highest praise of the local humane society as the result of his act yesterday, when he rescued a cat from one of the highest trees in Lowell.

Shortly before dark last night, the humane society received a call from a woman in Race street, that her cat had climbed to the top of a high tree and was unable to get down.

The local agent responded and upon examination of the tree, discovered it would be impossible to reach the cat without the aid of a long ladder. He got in touch with the superintendent of the north department, but that department did not furnish a ladder.

While the agent was scouring the neighborhood for a ladder, young Coulter chanced along and noted the predicament of the cat. Without a moment's hesitation he started up the tree. Reaching the top-most bough, it was necessary for him to climb out on it about 15 feet. The limb appeared to be less than six inches in diameter. Undaunted, the lad climbed out on the limb and rescued the animal. The woman was so pleased that she gave the boy a $5 bill.

State Board Agent in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, May 22.—Employees of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills who met this morning at the United Textile Workers headquarters declined to state the nature of the meeting, other than to say that the strike outlook is more optimistic. An official of the state board of conciliation and arbitration is in the city and is expected to hold several important conferences before night.

Adventures of the Twins

THE FAIRY QUEEN
Waiting for the Twins
Nancy and Nick are twins. One time the fairy queen gave them a pair of green shoes which were magical. These shoes could take the twins anywhere on the earth or off of it, indeed, for that matter, they could go anywhere in the sky or in fairyland by just wishing.

They had many wonderful adventures and proved a great help to the fairy folk who looked after the fairy queen's nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms from helping Mr. Rubadub to spring-lean the birds and animals, to assisting Mr. Sprinkle-How in making the weather in the sky.

Their last adventure was to settle a dispute between the Diddyevers and the Korknotts in fairyland, where a wicked sorcerer, called Twelve Toes, had caused trouble.

Now they have returned home over the Seven mountains and the Seven valleys and are greeted by the fairy queen in her palace where they relate their adventures.

Their next adventure is to be "A Trip to the Moon."

The fairy queen was waiting for the twins when they arrived at her palace after a quick trip over the Seven mountains. They just wished themselves back and whizz—they were there!

Everybody crowded around to hear the news, first of all their old friend, the magical mushroom, who had gone with the children on so many of their travels. Then there was Mr. Rubadub, and fat Mr. Tinsling, and thin Mr. Scrabble-Scratch, and funny Mr. Pumpy-Pop, and Mr. Sprinkle-How, and all the other fairy folk.

"What a trip!" cried the fairy queen. "You have another errand."

"I have just had word from Mr. Pearabot, the Man-in-the-Moon, that he's as busy this spring he can't get along without help. The four winds are very handy and do all the work, but when it comes to waiting a full moon, some waiting it dark, some waiting a wet moon, and some waiting it dry, even the winds aren't enough. He'd be ever so glad to have you for a while, I'm sure."

"Then we'll go," answered Nick. "won't we, Nancy?"

MEETING ON SO. COMMON FUNERAL YESTERDAY OF FRANK E. DUNBAR

Textile Strike Leaders Well
Pleased With Result of
Yesterday's Meeting

General dissatisfaction over the wages paid out at the mill was responsible for a great many of the operations of the Hamilton Mill, not reporting for work this morning, according to reports at strike headquarters this noon. It was also stated that yesterday afternoon's mass meeting on the South common, when employees of the mill were urged to keep away from the plant if they wanted to win their battle against a 20 per cent. reduction in wages, had the desired effect.

Yesterday's meeting, which was held mostly for the benefit of the Portuguese-speaking people of this city, a great number of whom are employed at the Hamilton, was addressed by John Campos of Fall River, a labor organizer, who urged the Portuguese to remain away from the mill. In the course of his address he argued the importance of a strong organization in winning a strike. He urged his listeners to be faithful to their principles and warned them not to let any attention to the overtures and second hands of the mill, who are reported to be calling at their homes in an endeavor to induce them to return to work. To those who have already gone back he made it plain that they were helping the mill officials to win the struggle which has been going on for over three months. He closed by saying there is nothing for them to gain but much to lose by going to work before the strike is settled. The other speakers were John Hanley, who presided, Charles E. Anderson, president of the Trades and Labor council, and Thomas J. Reagan, organizer for the U.T.W. of A.

In commenting upon the result of the meeting today Frank Sullivan, secretary of the strike committee, said that the pickets who were on duty at the mill this morning reported that a great many people gathered about the mill gates but refused to go in and among them were many who were employed in the plant all last week. He further stated that many queries were directed with the small pay envelope they received Saturday forenoon.

The weavers, particularly, are dissatisfied with the wages paid them, he said, for on top of the 20 per cent. reduction they are being asked to accept a half-day's pay for the week in poor shape owing to the fact that very few loomfixers are employed in the mill. He said he has received reports to the effect that when a loom breaks down it is several hours and sometimes a half-day before a loomfixer can get at it and inasmuch as the weavers are paid on a piece-work system, when their looms are stopped, they are not earning anything. Mr. Sullivan is of the opinion that within a short time the Hamilton will be forced to again close its doors.

Lowell delegates representing the various unions affiliated with the Lowell Textile council attended the meeting of the New England Textile Council, which was held in the Trades and Labor hall yesterday afternoon with President Frank Johnson of Maynard in the chair. In attendance also were representatives of labor organizations from Lawrence, Haverhill, Manchester, N. H., and Maynard.

The strikes in the various textile centres of New England were discussed at length and ways and means to raise funds to contribute to the strikers were taken up. After considerable discussion it was finally voted to set aside June 3 as "Dollar day" and on that day an appeal will be made to all classes of labor and friends of labor to contribute one dollar each to the strike relief fund. In conjunction with "Dollar day" it was voted to form a charity board among members of the organization, the mission of the committee is to develop ways and means of collecting funds every week for the strikers and to look after the worthy strikers as best after in a satisfactory manner. The Lowell people on the charity board are as follows: John Hanley, Mrs. Annie Rogers and Alfred Angier. Routine business was transacted and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Lawrence Sunday, June 15.

REQUIEM MASS

MCCARTHY—There will be an annual requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Mary Louise McCarthy, who died May 19, 1922, at St. John's church at 2 o'clock.

INFORM FOR POLICEMEN
Still intent upon fighting the proposition that new uniforms should be purchased for the men of the police department, particularly if they are to be contracted for without going through the city purchasing agency, Councilor Fred Sadler of Ward 4, arranged for a conference this afternoon with Mayor Brown.

Seen, while on the way to city hall, Councilor Sadler said that he is going to fight out the battle to the limit and will use every effort to block the idea.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Frances Allison, who died May 19, 1922, at St. John's church at 2 o'clock.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Delegations from the numerous business and social organizations with which he was connected, attended the funeral of Frank E. Dunbar, which took place yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted at the home of deceased, 285 Andover street, at 3 o'clock by Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, Jr., pastor of All Souls' church, and appropriate selections were sung by the church quartet composed of Albert Edmund Brown, Mrs. Harriet Spaulding, James B. Neel and Mrs. Nana M. Leahy. The organizations represented at the funeral were the Locks and Canals Co., Boott mills, Appleton Co., Shaw-Honley Co., New market Mfg. Co., Middlesex Co. Trades and Mechanics Insurance Co., Union National Bank, Five Cent Savings bank, Lowell Bar association, Middlesex Bar association, Veepor Country club, Yorkie club, Longmeadow Golf club and Lowell Lodge of Elks. The bearers were Harry A. Dunbar of Pittsfield, Philip and Ralph Dunbar of Boston, Frederick A. Flaherty, Hun John Jacob Rogers, Dr. Sidney H. Carney of New York, Edward H. Carney, John George Flaherty, Frederick Flaherty and Arthur P. Flaherty. There were numerous floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Austin K. Chudwick, while burial was under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

Resolutions Adopted

At a recent meeting of the trustees of the Lowell Five Cent Savings bank the following resolution was adopted on the death of Frank E. Dunbar, a trustee of the bank:

Died May 19, 1922, Frank E. Dunbar, since 1897 a trustee of this bank, since 1892 a member of its board of investment and its legal counsel.

Possessed of sound judgment and gifted with an unusually fine mind, any problem either financial or legal, that was presented for his consideration, was instantly grasped, quickly analyzed, and his conclusions clearly stated. He added to his constant tact, friendliness and unflinching regard, a deep interest in the every day contacts of business life.

For more than 25 years, by his qualities of head and heart, Mr. Dunbar has been a pillar of strength and support to this bank, and growing more and more in our friendly esteem, and his loss in our midst is a great and irreparable one. He was a true and valued associate and loyal friend.

TO HOLD EXAMINATION FOR ELECTRICIANS

State civil service authorities have announced that they will call all applicants for the position of electrician in the Lowell school department will be conducted in this city on June 8. The place where the examination will be held will be announced later. The salary for the position of electrician is $2000 a year. The duties of the incumbent will be the general care and repair of common bell systems, electric clocks, program clocks, bells and gongs connected therewith, and general wiring for light, etc. also special work in fire alarm systems in the school buildings as well as fire alarm boxes connected with the city system that are used by the school department.

All applicants must be licensed electricians under the state board of electricians. The examination will consist of the filing of a statement of training and experience, which will be marked and combined with the mark given to the applicant by the state board of electricians at the time he received his license. Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination. Service men will be given preference in usual manner. Information required may be secured at the office of the state civil service commission's representatives at the postoffice.
